Best Says County Will Clean Up the Hospital at Once

Cleaning up the county hospital will cost from $7,000 to $10,000 if it is cleaned up as the Board of County Commissioners wishes to do it.

"Repainting and thorough renovation will be necessary," said County Commissioner Frank C. Best, chairman of the county hospital committee. "We should like to do lots that cannot be done because we have not the money. Some must be spent, and I am not afraid to spend it. Separation of the county farm and the county hospital and construction of new buildings are out of the question at this time. They will come ultimately, but not this year, nor next. All we can do is clean up and repair.

"The report of George Anthes and the report of the commissioners indicate what is needed. Dr. Schiller, the new county physician, and I will visit the hospital and devise plans for getting it into shape. There must be new bedding and new cots; plumbing must be repaired and put in order; it is in awful shape. New window shades are needed. The reports indicate what the situation is. Heavy expenditures are out of the question at this time. We simply must clean things up and get them into the best shape possible with the present buildings and then keep them that way until permanent improvements can be made."

State Telephone Pays Up Its Taxes

The new State Telephone company has paid the city a part of its occupation taxes for the period from September, 1909, to December 31, 1909. The amount paid today was $17,000 which will be applied on the amount due the city. Interest and penalties will increase the taxes considerably, but the exact amount has not been figured out yet.

With the exception of the Omaha Water company and the Independent Telephone company all corporations in the city have now paid their occupation taxes. No move has been made by the water company to pay. The Independent Telephone company is in the hands of a receiver.

Visitors at Parks Want Signs Placed

Dissatisfaction with the park commissioners' management of Riverview park is being expressed since the accident in which Nels P. Anderson lost his life. Censured by a coroner's jury for keeping the buildings and fences in bad repair, a stranger has completed the condemnation by inquiring "why signs directing the visitor to the various places, have not been put up?"

"When you go to the park you find there are no directions and you must wander about and find the various attractions by yourself," said a man. "I think there ought to be a better arrangement at this park, which is one of the largest and could be made one of the most beautiful in the country."

Park board members at a meeting this week acknowledged unintentional negligence in maintaining Riverview park. Some disposition may be made to place all improvements at the park in a less dilapidated condition.
