PEARSE OPENS SESSION

SHEPARD STARTS SOMETHING

Secretary Says He is Trying to Weed Out Fake Members.

MRS. YOUNG ATTACKS REPORT

She Says Charge that Enrollment at Boston Two Years Ago Was Stuffed is Slander on All Chicago Teachers.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Supporters of the "progressive" movement in the National Education association, won the first fight at the opening of the association's fiftieth annual convention today.

The board of directors, representing schools in every state in the country, voted to change from summer to winter the time for the annual meetings of the National Council of Education. A movement also was started to change to a date in winter the time for holding the full sessions of the association.

More than 10,000 educators had been enrolled when Carroll G. Pearse of Milwaukee called the convention to order and in his annual address pointed out the questions which are expected to evoke spirited debates between the "progressives" and their opponents before the sessions are ended next Friday.

Before the directors, John F. Kirk, president of the state normal school at Kirksville, Mo., declared teachers were devoting their summers to special study and to travel to such an extent that the very existence of the National Education association was threatened. G. W. A. Tuckey of the University of Nebraska seconded the statement.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of the Chicago schools, suggested the plan of holding the conventions in the winter.

Shepard Starts Something.

Charges that Irwin Shepard of Winona, Minn., secretary of the National Education association, was not conducting his proceedings in accordance with the by-laws brought forth sensational incidents before the board of directors just before the convention opened.

Mrs. Young of Chicago declared that if Mr. Shepard's annual report was adopted "every teacher in Chicago would be justified in bringing suit for slander against the association."

The portion of the report she referred to charged "stuffing of the enrollment at the convention in Boston two years ago," when Mrs. Young was chosen president.

Mr. Shepard replied to criticisms from President Carroll G. Pearse that he had been attempting merely to weed out "fake" members. No sooner had he made the remark than James Ferguson of San Francisco secured the floor.

"I want to know by what right an officer of this association judges who are and who are not fake members," demanded Mr. Ferguson.

Mr. Shepard then explained he had been trying to administer the by-laws so as to eliminate all but bonafide members. He charged that heretofore by paying $2 members had been enrolled to vote at a single meeting.

After motions to appoint committees to investigate the subject had been lost the directors postponed discussion until tomorrow, when Mr. Shepard is to submit a written reply.

Daugherty May Direct Campaign of Republicans

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The actual organization of President Taft's campaign for re-election began today when nine members of the republican national committee acting as a subcommittee met the president at the White House at luncheon and discussed the appointment of a national chairman. The name of Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio figured most prominently among the possible selections when the committee went to meet the president.

William Barnes, jr., of New York went to the executive offices shortly after noon and was taken to the mansion, where Presiuent Taft was conferring with his secretary, Charles D. Hilles.

AUTHOR AND ACTRESS MARRIED IN CONNECTICUT

GREENWICH, Conn., July 8.—Richard Harding Davis, the author, and Miss Elizabeth Genevieve McAwoy, known on the stage as Bessie McCoy, were married here today by Justice of the Peace William C. Rungee. The matron of honor was Mrs. Russell Colt, formerly Miss Ethel Barrymore, and Mr. Davis was attended by Gouvernor Morris, the story writer. The wedding party and friends came here in three automobiles, and after the ceremony left for Mount Kiscko, the home of Mr. Davis.

FLETCHER SCORES COLONEL

Roosevelt Arraigned in the Lorimer Election Case.

FOLLOWS DILLINGHAM'S SPEECH

Former President is Designated by the Florida Senator as the Headquarters of Morality.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—An attack upon Theodore Roosevelt for condemning Senator Lorimer of Illinois, featured the defense in the Lorimer election case in the senate today. Senator Fletcher of Florida, following up the conclusion of Senator Dillingham's speech for Lorimer, arraigned Roosevelt.

"Theodore Roosevelt could enjoy a luncheon with Booker Washington at the White House," declared Mr. Fletcher, "but could not afford to dine in the same room with Mr. Lorimer, a member of the club of which he was a guest."

The Florida senator referred to the former president as the "headquarters of morality," who condemned Lorimer on the false allegation repeated to him by Editor H. H. Kohlsaat that $100,000 had been raised and used to elect Lorimer.

Senator Fletcher said that Colonel Roosevelt does not know the facts.

"The damning of a respectable citizen, the head of a beautiful family, the representative of a state in high office," said Senator Fletcher, "was a welcome thing if it gave opportunity to attitudinize as the standard of honor and righteousness and the acme of civic virtue."

Had Faith in Funk.

Senator Fletcher said that Editor Kohlsaat placed explicit faith in what Clarence H. Funk told him about Edward Hines asking for a contribution to a $100,000 Lorimer fund. He contended that Mr. Funk's memory was unreliable and that Mr. Funk had given seven different dates as the time at which his conversation with Mr. Hines regarding the "slush fund" had occurred. He said the Funk story had been known to Keeley of the Tribune, Kohlsaat, of the Record-Herald and Lawson of the News during the first Lorimer congressional investigation.

"That fact shows," he declared," how little importance was then attached to a matter which afterward became the entire basis of the second inquiry.

Senator Fletcher characterized the anti-Lorimer speakers as the "honey thunder press," which had poisoned the public mind to "drive Lorimer out of politics in Illinois." He expressed the opinion that Senator Lorimer would not stoop to the purchase of votes or the debauching of a legislature and that the Illinois senator would surrender his office if he felt his election had been the result of fraudd.

Reed Wants to Know.

Senator Reed of Missouri asked if it were not true that Senator Lorimer had loaned $10,000 to Lee O'Neil Browne for his defense of the legal proceedings against him growing out of the legislative charges.

"Yes," almost snapped the generally complacent senator from Vermont in reply, "and if I had been in his place I should have done the same thing. If I had been convinced that there had been a conspiracy to switch charges from their original purpose I would have contributed to prevent the success of such a purpose. I should have done all in my power to smash such a combination."

Senator Borah expects to speak at some length, taking the other side of the argument. Senator Lea of Tennessee, another of Mr. Lorimer's opponents, is yet to speak. It is expected the vote may not be taken before Wednesday or Thursday. Some of Mr. Lorimer's friends in the senate believe the vote will be against him.

Portuguese Royalists Prepare for Uprising

LISBON, July 8.—Sporadic royalist attempts with a view to the restoration of the Portuguese monarch continue to be made in various parts of northern Portugal.

A number of royalists tried today to dynamite a bridge over the river Minho, near the town of Caminha, but caused only slight damage.

Although many of the royalists have been subdued or arrested, two important detachments still maintain activity. One of them is commanded by Captain Couceipo, with headquarters near the town of Montelegre. The men are well armed with rifles, revolvers and knives.

A second force of monarchists, according to the last report received, was marching from Verin to Caves, in the province of Traz-Osh-Montes.

The government, which remains in session night and day, is rushing troops and war vessels to the north.

An attack on Valencia De Minho by a force of royalists led by Captain Sepulveda, formerly aide to Queen Maria Pia, was repulsed. The captain, thirteen other officers and forty of the royalist troops retreated across the International bridge over the Minho, where they fell into the arms of the Spanish troops and were arrested.

Others escaped by swimming the river. It is alleged here the Carlist leaders in Spain are secretly helping the Portuguese royalists and many of them are now in Portugal endeavoring to spread the monarchist revolt.

No royalist movements have broken out yet either in Lisbon or Oporto, but the government, fearing an outbreak at Oporto, is concentrating a large force there and is distributing other troops along the frontier.

The battleship, Vasco De Gama, carrying troops and machine guns, and the cruisers Republica and Almirante Reis, have arrived at Oporto.

The telegraph wires have been cut between Braga and Vianna Do Castello and the Esponzende railroad has been cut and blocked with timber at Barrellos, where martial law has been proclaimed.

At Moreira De Rey the population has raised royal standards on the houses and joined the rebels in a fight with the republican guard, during which many of each faction were killed or wounded.

Girl Shot by Brother.

HOT SPRINGS, July 8.—(Special.)—Lucile Bailey, aged 8, is in the hospital here with a bullet in her neck. Her right side is paralyzed and it is feared the ball struck the spine. Her father is a colored rancher living five miles east of Edgemont and she was shot accidentally by her brother.

VITERBO, Italy, July 8.—The verdict in the Camorra trial was handed down today. Nine of the accused were unanimously declared guilty of the murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife. The remainder of the band were found guilty of belonging to a criminal association.

Reinforcements of troops and mounted police arrived early today to assist in maintaining order. A body of 300 police has been especially entrusted with the surveillance of the court and its precincts.

A number of relations of the various prisoners, comprising wives and sisters and mothers, arrived here this morning, bringing votive offerings of wax candles to the Madonna, while others brought gifts for St. Rosa, the patron of Viterbo. Many of them took up their positions early today in the church facing the court house, where they remained kneeling, beating their breasts and imploring mercy for their beloved ones.

Sums Up Evidence.

The presiding judge resumed his summing up of the evidence with fresh vigor, taking the greatest pains to explain to the jury the exact position of each of the accused and the significance of each of the 144 questions which the jury must answer.

All of the accused maintain an absolutely calm demeanor. Only Ciro Vitozzi, the priest known as the "guardian angel of the Camorra," displays any kind of shame at being forced to enter the iron cage with the other prisoners. He mutters prayers all the time, saying: "I am in the hands of God and of the jurors, whom I pray the Almighty to illuminate."

Two of Cashier King's Bullets Hit King and Two More Laywers

KANSAS CITY, July 8.—While in the county prosecutor's office here today seeking a warrant for the arrest of J. W. Beck, Volney W. King, cashier for a local traction company, whipped out a pistol and shot four times, two bullets taking effec tin Beck's body, the other two slightly wounding two deputy prosecutors and narrowly missing Judge Latshaw of the criminal court.

King and his wife had been separated, but recently a reconciliation took place. Beck, who had played the role of peacemaker, had been disturbing their pace of late, King and his wife charged, and they took his to the prosecutor's office to secure a warrant. The warrant was being prepared when King began to shoot.

Prohibitionists May Change Name to Progressives

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 8.—Maintaining that the prohibition party is the original progressive party, a determined effort will be made by its leaders to change the party name at the national convention, which opens here Wednesday. Though the party to be formed next month in Chicago is being referred to as the "progressive party," the prohibitionists point to the fact that the oraganization, as yet unborn, has not been christened and that they are entitled to the new name if they choose to take it.

The New York, Pennsylvania and Nebraska delegations are reported to be practically solid in favor of a change of name.

"The name, 'prohibition party,' is an unfortunate one for us,' said Charles R. Jones, chairman of the national committee. "It is not a progressive name and does not truly reflect the party's character. We are progressive in all things. Of course our basic principle is the suppression of the liquor traffic, but even 'prohibition' does not fully express that.

"Our party is the original progressive party and at this convention we expect to deal carefully and progressively with all the big political issues of the time.

"The name 'progressive' was suggested several years ago and our official newspaper now contains the word 'progressive' in its title. Other names that have been suggested are the 'American' and 'liberty' party."

The executive committee today will complete plans for the temporary organization. Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., known as the Little Giant, probably will be chosen temporary chairman of the convention.

BABY DROWNS IN A WATERING TROUGH

ABERDEEN, S. D., July 8.—(Special.)—Harold, 22-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Linder of Langford, S. D., was drowned in a watering trough while at play. The little boy and his sister, a few years older, had gone to the barn to hunt eggs. The little girl took the eggs to the house, while Harold remained outside. When she came out again the baby could not be found. After a few minutes' search she saw something floating in the watering trough and found it was her little brother. The body was taken from the trough and a physician rushed to the scene, but life was extinct.

In two special street cars a band of eighty Nebraska editors and their Omaha hosts left Hotel Rome at noon yesterday for the stock exchange to be the guests of the stock yards officials at luncheon in the exchange building.

The luncheon began the afternoon and evening of entertainment for the visitors. As the ride continued the representatives of the Nebraska press increased until the whole representation numbered nearly 150.

Ten minute stops were made at Bellevue, Fort Crook, the Field club, the Happy Hollow club, Fort Omaha and Florence. At each place refreshments were served and the visitors were shown about.

They were the guests of the Commercial club at a dinner given at 6:30 o'clock at the Country club, and were taken from there to the den, where Samson's big circus with special acts for their benefit closed the day of frolic.

Those who stayed over night were the guests of the Commercial club publicity bureau at the Rome, the bureau having arranged the program of the day for them.

Missing Aberdeen Man is Found After Seven Years' Search

ABERDEEN, S. D., July 8.—(Special.)—Grand Recorder Henry Neill of the South Dakota Ancient Order of United Workmen has received notification that William L. Lansing, formerly of Aberdeen, has been found alive and well at Portland, Ore., after an absence of seven years, during which he was supposed to be dead and an effort was made to collect on the $2,000 policy carried by Lansing in the fraternity. Lansing lived in Aberdeen in 1894 and married Miss Alice Yost of this place. Later the family moved to Marshall, Tex., and in 1905 Lansing disappeared from Winslow, Ariz., and it was rumored he had been killed in the mountains.

Mrs. Lansing searched diligently for her husband and in the meantime kept up his assessments in the Workmen. Recently she prepared to make application for the money due on the policy under the clause which holds that a man missing seven years is presumed to be dead. This caused the lodge to become active. A clue to Lansing's possible whereabouts was uncovered and last week C. A. Kimball of this city went to Portland, Ore., on an investigating trip, which resulted in the receipt by Grand Recorder Neill ofthe following telegram from Mr. Kimball: "Have found Lansing; identification complete; was on the point of skipping out again for parts unknown, fearing the wrath of his Texas wife."

It is assumed by this that there was another woman in the case, of whom Mrs. Lansing knew nothing, and who was the cause of her husband's disappearance.

Three Die in the Electric Chair

OSSINING, N. Y., July 8.—Three men, Guiseppe Cirolli, George Williams, a negro, and Santa Zanza, were put to death in the electric chair in quick succession at Sing Sing prison this morning. All were convicted murderers.

Zanza was one of a band of six Italians convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mary Hall, wife of Henry Hall, a superintendent of construction on the Croton aqueduct in a lonely farm house at Griffith's Corners, West Chester county, on November 9, 1911. His five companions in crime are to be executed during the week of August 12. In a letter to Governor Dix, Zanza confessed the acutal murder of Mrs. Hall, but claimed he was forced to kill her by Angelo Guisto, who had accompanied him to Mrs. Hall's room and who threatened to shoot him unless he obeyed.

George Williams, the negro, was convicted on circumstantial evidence of the murder of Charles Conklin, station agent on the New York Central railroad, at Croton Lake, on the night of April 8, 1911.

Cirolli stabbed Nicola Paulo on February 4, 1911, in a shack on the Hillview reservoir at Yonkers. Five Italians were in the shanty and trouble arose over cooking maccaroni.

LEADERS SEEK CHAIRMAN

Subcommittee of National Republican Body Meets.

HILLES IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Additional Advisory Committee of Five to Be Selected Independent of Usual Executive Committee of Organization.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The real work of organizing the republican campaign for 1912 will be taken up tomorrow when the subcommittee of the republican national committee will meet and select a chairman. All the members of the subcommittee are in Washington and they will be the guests of President Taft at a luncheon at the White House at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when the name of the chairman probably will be announced. President Taft will arrive early tomorrow from his summer home at Beverly, Mass., to meet the committee.

The subcommittee understood today that the president's secretary, Charles D. Hilles, who had been considered all along for the position, would not accept the chairmanship and a general canvass of men available was made during the day. The subcommittee will meeet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and will then consider the names suggested and probably recommended someone to the president for chairman.

Names considered include Harry A. Daugherty and Carmi Thompson of Ohio, Harry S. New and James A. Hemenway of Indiana, Senator Newell Sanders of Tennessee and William Barnes, jr., of New York.

Nothing definite will be done, however, until the committee consults with President Taft and ascertains his wishes. There seems to be a unanimous sentiment in the committee that an experienced political leader should manage the campaign and an effort will be made "to name a man who is known by every precinct committeeman and county chairman in the United States" as one member of the committee expressed it.

Besides naming a chairman, the committee will recommend that a campaign committee of five, representing five subdivisions of the country be appointed to constitute the chief advisory board of the national chairman and to be independent of the usual executive and advisory committees.

The members of the subcommittee are General Powell Clayton, Roy West, Illinois; John J. Adams, Iowa; Charles B. Warren, Michigan; Thomas K. Niedringhaus, Missouri; E. W. Estabrook, New Hampshire; Senator Newell Sanders, Tennessee; Alva H. Martin, Virginia, and Sam A. Perkins, Washington.

Tomorrow night there will be a large reception at the White House to which President Taft has invited the members of the national committee, the republican members in both houses of congress, chairmen of all the state central committees and other political leaders.

William Hayward of New York, secretary of the national committee, who arrived here today, probably will be re-elected. He said he was not a candidate for re-election and if the committee desired to select someone else it will be satisfactory to him. William Barnes, jr., of New York, John B. Kealy and Former Senator James A. Hemenway of Indiana were among other leaders here for the meeting.

Bandits Terrorize Illinois Village

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 8.—Three masked bandits armed with revolvers and shotguns terrorized the village of Tolono, Ill. this morning.

Two farmers driving home were first held up and robbed, and then the trio forced the Illinois Central agent at the point of guns to surrender all the cash on hand in the station. At the same time two men waiting for a train were robbed.

The raid was interrupted at this time by a towerman who opened fire and drove the robbers off. As they left the railroad track they returned his fire, but no shots took effect.

Saturday three prisoners in the county jail at Clinton awaiting trial made a daring escape and they are thought to be the robbers.

IMPEACHMENT OF ARCHIBALD IS ON

Chairman Clayton Files Charges Against Judge of the Federal Commerce Court.

THIRTEEN COUNTS IN ARTICLES

Official Accused of Carrying on Traffic in Judicial Matters.

DELAY ON HEARING MAY BE HAD

Some Senators Think Case Should Go Over Until After the Election.

OTHERS URGE SPEEDY ACTION

Congressman Norris of Nebraska One of the House Members Who is Pushing Prosecution of the Accused.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A sharp difference along political lines has developed in the senate over the proposed impeachment of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court. Many senators, including influential republicans, favor deferring the trial until after the November elections, contending that ample time should be given to prepare for the hearing of the impeachment charges and that many senators are needed at home to look after their political fences.

Among others are Senators Bailey and Reed, democrats, who urge that impeachment proceedings are of such high privilege that they should be taken up as soon as the house shall prefer charges, irrespective of the personal comfort and convenience of senators.

The thirteen articles of impeachment, each an accusation, were presented to the house today with the announcement that their consideration tomorrow would be demanded. Speaker Clark emphasized the solemnity of the proceedings by securing the undivided attention of the house while the article was being read by Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the judiciary committee, which unanimously reported them. Mr. Clayton dwelt on the gravity of the charges.

The committee's report and the resolution calling for the impeachment were ordered printed and distributed to members without the voicing of a single objection.

Clayton Presents Charges.

Chairman Henry D. Clayton of the committee on judiciary of the house of representatives presented the articles of impeachment against Judge Robert W. Archbold. Mr. Clayton's report was unanimous from his committee.

It constitutes the ninth impeachment of a judicial or civil official of the United States, since the foundation of the government and is the first since the impeachment trial of Judge Charles Swayne of the northern district of Florida, who was acquitted on February 27, 1905.

"The conduct of this judge has been exceedingly reprehensible and is in marked contrast with the high sense of judicial ethics and probity that generally characterize the federal judiciary" the committee said in summing up its findings of misbehavior in office of Judge Archbald.

His business transactions while a judge on the bench were held to unfit him for further service on the bench and a resolution was presented impeaching him and haling him for trial before the United States senate.

Traffics with Litigants.

"Your committee is of the opinion that Judge Archbald's sense of moral responsibility has become deadened" said the report. "He has prostituted his high office for personal profit. He has attempted by various transactions to commercialize his potentiality as judge. He has shown an overweening desire to make gainful bargains with parties having cases before him or likely to have cases before him. To accomplish this purpose he has not hesitated to use his official power and influence. He has degraded his high office and has destroyed the confidence of the public in his judicial integrity. He has forfeited the condition upon which he holds his commission and should be removed from office by impeachment.

"A judge should be the personification of integrity, of honor and of uprightness in his daily walk and conversation. He should hold his exalted office and the administration of justice above the sordid desire to accumulate wealth by trading or trafficking with actual or probable litigants in his court. He should be free and unaffected by any bias born of avarice and unhampered by pecuniary or other obligations."

Prosecutors Are Named.

"Tomorrow Chairman Clayton will present a resolution providing for the management of the trial before the senate. The full committee designated
