PENALTY LACKING IN LAW

Pool Hall Regulation in Towns is Found to Be Defective.

POINT RAISED AT HASTINGS

Operator of Hall in Unincorporated Town Advised He May Run Without License and No One May Prevent Him.

HASTINGS, Neb., July 22.—(Special.)—The application of Silas T. Davis to the Board of Supervisors here for a license to operate a billiard and pool hall at Pauline, Adams county, has called attention to an apparent oversight on the part of the last legislature, which may defeat the purpose of a new law regulating such business in unincorporated towns. Pauline is an unincorporated city. Davis read the new law and guessed that he would have to apply to the county board for a license. He presented his application, but a remonstrance was subsequently filed, and as the remonstrators outnumbered the petitioners the county board refused the request.

Davis read the law again and came to the conclusion that he does not have to secure a license. The law says that he must have a license and provides that such license may be revoked if he violates any of the statutory regulations, but it contains no provision for a penalty in case of operation without a license. He believes this leaves the condition the same as before the new law was passed. In the absence of a penalty he has been advised that he may operate his place without a license and be secure from interference by the authorities.

CARROLL, Neb., July 22.—(Special Telegram.)—The voting of bonds for the erection of a new $20,000 public school building took place yesterday. Only fifty forty-five for and five against. As the firty-five for and five against. As the law requires only two-thirds of the number of votes cast the victory is somewhat overwhelming and means that the little village of Carroll will soon be on the map with a new modern structure for educational purposes. The school now has only eleven grades, but will have one added at the beginning of the 1914 school year.

MUDDLE OVER INSURANCE ACT

tion in the injunction suit had been received and he was without power to turn over the securities of the insurance companies as long as Auditor Howard was responsible for their safe keeping on his bond. Also should the court's subsequently determine the law to be constitutional, Mr. Howard's liability for the safe keeping of securities would exist at all times, even while the securities were out of his control and he had no authority over them nor could protect himself in any way.

The attorney general and governor were asked by Clancy and iMnor to wait until they could get in communication with Auditor Howard so he could return and act for himself, but they refused to do so.

Decision by Court.

Application was made last week by the Royal Highlanders and other organizations for an injunction restraining the new board created by the code insurance bill from putting in operation the law.

The case was tried in the Lancaster county district court before Judge Cornish, two days being taken in the arguments, and he had the same under advisement for three days.

In rendering his decision Judge Cornish said that he believed there were some things in the law which were unconstitutional, but he did not feel that the act of the legislature as a whole should be held up on that account.

Auditor Howard is out of the city and could not be seen, but he has been heard to say that he should take no action in the matter.

"No matter which way the court decides," said he, "I will still be connected with the insurance department and for that reason I decided from the start that I would take no hand in the suit either way. If the court decides the law unconstitutional I will under the old law have charge of the insurance department, and if it decides in favor of the new law I will be a member of the board in charge of the insurance department so, therefore, I have stayed out of the fight in the courts."

Alexander Hamilton Heavily Fined for Derogatory Speech

Alexander Hamilton, who says he is a lineal descendant of the original Alexander Hamilton, mounted a cracker box near Jefferson square Saturday night and proceeded to dispense language, persiflage and oratory relating to the principals and plans of that peaceful organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World.

Alexander does not strictly adhere to the beliefs and practices of his distinguished ancestor, and had all but completed arrangements toward having the constitution of the United States annulled and President Wilson appointed to the street cleaning squad, when Sleutha Dunn and Kennelly, on the trail of some "horrible crime," chanced to be passing and interrupted him. After listening to a few words they haled Alexander to a dungeon.

Messrs. Dunn and Kennelly then sought counsel with one Stephen Maloney, who, after hearing of the day's work with much approbation, discovered that Alexander, besides his attempt to disunite the United States, was wanted for disuniting several depositories from their accumulations. In fact, Mr. Maloney goes so far as to say that he has perused a document in Hamilton's own handwriting in which he states to a pal that he is going to take up the safecracking business as a sideline to his business of booster for the I. W. W. interests.

Maloney emphatically denies that Alexander is going to do this and in substantiation of his assertion had Hamilton presented with a ninety-day jail sentence.

Hayden Declines to Accept Job of Special Prosecutor

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Thomas E. Hayden of San Francisco, associate counsel for the government in the Diggs-Caminetti white slave case, against whom strong protests recently were made on the ground that he was too inexperienced as a criminal lawyer to participate in the case, today tendered his resignation to Attorney General McReynolds.

Mr. Hayden asked to be relieved because he said he found he would be obliged to be absent from California a good part of the trial. The attorney general will not appoint a successor, but the case will be prosecuted by Attorneys Sullivan and Roche, the government's principal counsel.

Hayden had been considered for the San Francisco district attorneyship to succeed John McNabb, but Attorney General McReynolds today said the appointment was still wide open.

RARE TREAT FOR VISITORS TO WEST POINT RACES

WEST POINT, Neb., July 22.—(Special.)—The visitors to the forthcoming circuit race meet at West Point will be treated to an experience unique in its inception and full of pleasure in its execution and consummation. The race tracks of the speed association are located immediately north of the farm home of Anton Psota, known throughout the state as the corn king of the Elkhorn valley. The entrance to the race grounds is through the Psota homestead and what is known as Riverview park, surrounding the home and lying immediately adjoining the Elkhorn river, on its right bank.

Mr. Psota's specialties, outside of corn culture, in which he is the equal of anyone in this portion of the state, is horticulture and floriculture. In the latter he particularly excels. The most beautiful and rare flowers, in full bloom, are massed in large beds, profusely laid out on the slopes and terraces of the park, even the fence posts around the domain ar each ornamented with climbing flower plants.

His pet hobbies are what he calls the "Panama canal" and "Coney Island," which he has reproduced in miniature, each of which must be seen to be appreciated. But it is in the large vegetable garden adjoining the home that the real object lessons of what ebraska land can produce under intelligent cultivation is exemplified.

Here can be seen Nebraska at its best—the best land in the state, the most scientific cultivation, the finest results, and all accomplished under most trying and discouraging conditions by a Nebraska farmer.

Three days of unalloyed pleasure are promised to all who visit this unique spot during the races, which will take place July 29, 30 and 31. The field of horses already entered is larger than ever before and is of much highr class than in preceding years.

FILE FOR THE SCHOOL BOARD

Four Candidates Have Given Their Names to the City Clerk.

TAKE ELECTION FOR GRANTED

City Clerk Flynn Will Not Put Their Names on the Ballot Unless He is Specifically Ordered to Do So.

Acting upon the supposition that the special election to be held August 19 to vote on the extension of the gas company's franchise will also be a primary election, four candidates have filed for the Board of Education.

These candidates are A. C. Kennedy, Seventh ward, republican; August J. Burdin, Fifth ward, republican; E. F. Leavenworth, Eighth ward, republican; Frank H. Drake, Sixth ward, republican.

All except Drake file to succeed themselves. The first three candidates are now filling unexpired terms by appointment. Drake seeks to succeed Vice President J. L. Jacobson, who will move out of the Sixth ward.

City Clerk Thomas J. Flynn will not unless specifically ordered so to do, put the names of these candidates on a ballot at the August 19 election, believing there is no election this year. It is understood the Board of Education candidates filed simply to protect themselves in case it should be decided than an election shall be held before the next two years. If such election is not held Kennedy, Burdin and Leavenworth will continue in their offices and a successor to Jacobson will be appointed by the board.

MRS. HUNTLEY GETS BLACK EYE IN AN AUTOMOBILE RIDE

Mrs. R. L. Huntley, wife of the chief engineer of the Union Pacific, has returned from Lake Okoboji wearing a discolored eye, a bruised arm and many scratches. She blames the road between Omaha and the lake and Gould Dietz.

Mrs. Huntley accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Dietz on their trip to Minneapolis as far as Okoboji. Dietz was driving his car at about forty miles per, and because of the heavy dust, could not see some of the obstacles ahead. The machine struck a culvert and Mrs. Huntley, in the back seat, was thrown against the top of the car, sustaining the little hurts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dietz are now in Minneapolis.

DIETZES BUY TRACT WEST OF THE POOR FARM

C. N. and Gould Dietz have bought forty acres of ground west of the Douglas county poor farm from W. C. Stoepel, an eastern real estate dealer. They paid $19,000 for the land to hold as an investment. They bought it simply because it was cheap.

Last fall Gould Dietz bought the lot east of the old Jewish synagogue at Twenty-fourth and Harney streets for $6,500. He recently sold it for $9,000 cash.
