Home Course In Tree Preservation

Father of Tree Surgery.

VI.—The Trees and the Song Birds.

[Copyright, 1910 by American Press Association.]

As I speed over the country in my lecture work on "The Salvation of Our Trees" there are many things to inspire and cheer the heart especially that of seeing what attempts people make to grow trees, shrubs and flowers. I sometimes feel that I should like to get off the train and show people just how. To me everything seems so simple. There is no luck, no chance; it is all cause and effect. Learn just what to do and do it, and old Mother Nature is there ready to do all the rest, and, say, does she not do finely?

The one discouraging thing is, as is often the case, to meet some stupid, bigoted, conceited old ass who thinks he knows all and can't even raise a good crop of weeds. In the decade that is about to close there is truly something inspiring. In that short time, since my old "Tree Doctor" raised the cry for "our wounded friends the trees" and the Cleveland newspapers re-echoed the call to the nation, practically all the newspapers have lent their aid, and the great magazines have done noble work, and the education is thorough, but so slow. As yet there is not 5 per cent of the adults that are awake to the real, deplorable condition of the trees. The deterioration of the trees is faster than the education as to how to take care of them; hence my only hope now lies with the child.

Illustration No. 11 shows Mr. and Mrs. William Lodge of Silver Lake, O.

NO. 11.—CHILDREN ARE HOLDING SEEDLING WALNUT TREES.

It is not only interesting and pretty, but there are the profoundest of thoughts clustering around it. The little boys are holding a couple of seedling walnut trees, the seed (nuts) of which I brought from the old Charles Dana place, Desoris Island, Glen Cove, N. Y. The plants are a year old, and they, it is hoped, will grow up with the children. To give an idea of what one generation could do we call attention to illustration No. 12. These trees (the largest ones) were planted thirty-three years ago by the grandfather of the children here seen. They were planted right and then taken care of, and here they stand, honoring the memory of the patriotic citizen who believed that one of the best ways to serve one's country is to plant trees. This new movement, the saving of our song birds, exhibits an unaccountable slowness on the part of the average adult to be aroused to one of the greatest menaces that have ever been known in the history of nations, the total extinction of our song birds by the English sparrow and the crow. Unless the increase and depredations of these two fiends are checked our native small birds cannot last for another decade. Already we learn that an average of one-fourth of all the crops of the United States is destroyed by insects. "Destroy all the insectivorous birds," says Michelet, "and in nine years the human race will perish from the face of the earth."

I want my readers to help restore and preserve our song birds. The only way to do this is to destroy the English sparrow, which destroys the song birds. There is an "uprising" nearly all over the country against this imported pest.

The English sparrow must be destroyed if we are to save our trees. All our trees will be ruined by insects if the sparrows keep up their fight against the insect killing birds.

If you would save your trees destroy the English sparrows.

Several farms to rent. Inquire J. C. McCorkle. 13-4f-613

"LET THE PEOPLE RULE"

2. Why has the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors been permitted without even the hint of a protest from the mayor or an effort at law enforcement by him?
 3. Why have street walkers, otherwise known as prostitutes, been permitted to solicit "business" on the streets of Alliance, a thing they are not permitted to do even in the large cities, where some objectionable things are permitted as "necessary evils"?
 4. Why are a lot of tin horn gamblers permitted to ply their trade unmolested in about a half dozen dives, practically robbing persons who are so unfortunate as to become their victims, and thus creating a feeling of enmity towards the town among the people of the surrounding country and neighboring towns?
 5. Why have houses of prostitution been permitted to scatter over the city, locating even in the respectable business district?
 6. Is there any good reason why houses of prostitution should be permitted to sell liquor without a city license when the six men who have a legal right to engage in that business are required to pay $1,400 each annually for the privilege?
 7. Is there any reason why he should be a candidate for the fourth time in four years, except for financial considerations and for the "honor" that might come by hanging onto the office for another year, after promising last year to not be a candidate again if the people would elect him then?
- If the mayor will satisfactorily answer the above questions, it will be a good start towards answering a good many more that the people are asking among themselves, an will make his candidacy less objectionable to decent people, both "wets" and "drys".
