

Build With Wood To Suit Your Needs

Today and enlarge as your demands require. That's one of the big advantages offered in frame construction over all others. Future additions can be provided for right in your original plans and the money saved by building only for present needs can go on working for you until the enlargements are desired. There are a lot of other advantages too that wood construction offers and before you decide on your material is time to investigate as thoroughly as you can. Our experience covers nearly every phase of the building question and if you think our advice is worth having, it's yours for the asking.

Come in and get right on this lumber question. Let us show you wherein the mills we buy of save you dollars in labor and time in doing by machine work what the carpenters formerly did by hand. It's surely worth while to you and it will be pleasure to us.

WASHINGTON LETTER

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Events of Interest from the Seat of Government

BY CLYDE H. TAVENNER

Special Washington Correspondent to this Newspaper

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—United States Attorney General Wickersham has refused to allow warrants to be served on John D. Archbold and other officials of the Standard Oil Company, in the case in which the Magnolia Oil Company of Texas was indicted by a federal grand jury in Texas for criminal violation of the Sherman law.

Once again, Mr. Wickersham is using the machinery of the great office of the department of justice to protect, instead of prosecute, the millionaire heads of illegal trusts.

A hundred instances could be cited where Wickersham has, by means of especially prepared opinions, orders and rules, given comfort to great industrial trusts, private monopolies and special privilege. It was Wickersham, the attorney general, who stopped important suits against the beef trust immediately upon taking office. It was Wickersham, the attorney general, who rendered an opinion upholding Ballinger and viciously attacking Louis R. Glavis, who said it was legal for sugar trust interests to acquire by the exploitation process 55,000 acres of rich sugar lands of the Philippines when the organic law of the islands expressly declares that no corporation shall be allowed to acquire more than 2,500 acres. It was Wickersham, the attorney general, who sanctioned the Taft administration railroad regulation bill, later exposed and altered, containing a joker legalizing the Southern Pacific-Union Pacific merger, recently held unlawful by the Supreme court. It was Wickersham, the attorney general, whose suit against the steel trust is one in equity instead of a criminal prosecution.

At the time of the appointment of Wickersham, it was said his selection by Mr. Taft was in recognition of the desires of the great industrial trusts of the country, who had contributed large sums to Mr. Taft's campaign fund, and who as a return favor desired that a "safe" man be placed in charge of the government prosecuting machinery.

Before his appointment as attorney general, Mr. Wickersham was a trust lawyer. For years and years he had been receiving huge fees from corporations for interpreting the laws, not from the viewpoint of the welfare of the people, but from the viewpoint of the welfare of the trusts. Mr. Wickersham was a member of the law firm of Strong & Cadwalader. Congressman Henry T. Rainey described this firm on the floor of the house of representatives as follows:

"The firm of Strong & Cadwalader is one of these important New York City legal firms to which great corporations appeal for aid when they propose to violate the laws of the land or when they have violated the laws of the land."

The firm of Strong & Cadwalader, at the time of Mr. Wickersham's appointment as attorney general, represented, among other great corporations, the sugar trust, and one of the last things Mr. Wickersham did as a member of the firm of Strong & Cadwalader was to draw down his portion of a sugar trust fee of something like $25,000. And one of the first things Mr. Wickersham did as attorney general was to write, on June 27, 1909, to John S. Wise, U. S. district attorney for the southern district of New York, a letter revealing his strong interest in three sugar trust officials then in danger of the penitentiary. This remarkable letter, the authenticity of which has never been denied by the attorney general, reads in part as follows:

My dear Wise:
Senator Root has sent me the proof of a petition signed by Bowers, Milburn and Guthrie, in support of their contention that the statute of limitations has run in favor of Messrs. Parsons, Kissel and Harned. If the only overt acts done to carry out the objects of the unlawful conspiracy were those referred to in the brief, I should think they were insufficient to save the bar of the statute. A strong effort will be made tomorrow to persuade the president to interfere in some way to prevent the indictments.—Faithfully yours,
GEO. W. WICKERSHAM.

And now Mr. Wickersham is using his office as attorney general to save from arrest John D. Archbold, H. C. Folger, Jr., and W. C. Teague, officers of the Standard Oil Company.

Under the Taft administration it has been impossible for the government to control the trusts, because the trusts controlled the government. At last it has been possible to elect a president without the financial support of the heads of illegal tariff trusts, and it is hoped that President Wilson will be able to find a man for attorney general who will be so constructed temperamentally as to feel that millionaire sugar trust barons who rob the government and violate the law ought to be sent to the penitentiary just like a poor man is sent to the penitentiary when he violates the law.

"I Wish You A Merry Christmas!"

What cheer, what warmth those words convey as they flash over the wires between friends near and far.

All through the holidays the telephone will be flashing millions of greetings and good wishes over its network of wires.

Kindness and forgiveness and laughter will be on the wires. Old time friends will be reminded that they are not forgotten, and where in the old days one Christmas visit was made in person, ten will now be made by telephone.

The Bell Telephone is the great and almost limitless roadway over which Christmas spirit can travel.

Telephone and send good cheer, for Christmas comes but once a year.
