MRS. ZEHNER, AS A GIRL, DIDN'T LIKE YANKEES

Then, as a Young Woman, She Came into the North and Married One. Says Now They're All Right.

Mrs. A. C. Zehner was born and reared in an aristocratic southern home. As a child, she was cared for by an old colored "mammy." This old darkey woman, as was characteristic of the southern darkeys at that time, believed that a Yankee was the worst sort of a person that lived. And

MRS. A. C. ZEHNER.

Mrs. Zehner, as a little girl, was brought up in fear of the Yankee just as boys and girls now-a-days fear the dreadful hob-goblin. She used to cry when she was told that a Yankee would some day get her. But, as a young woman, she married a Yankee. Now she is the great exponent of the one country idea, a cementing of interests, all working for a common good. She is one of the most gifted women on the Chautauqua platform.

FISHER SHIPP HEADS COMPANY.

LACERENZA'S BAND FROM SUNNY ITALY AND THEY CERTAINLY CAN PLAY

Have Toured the West Three Summers Filling Scores of Chautauqua Engagements—Coming Here.

The Royal Italian Guards Band, an organization similar to the one that toured the Redpath-Horner five-day Chautauqua last summer, comes from the same great band organizer, Victor, of New York, with Signor Lacerenza as director.

The Royal Italian Guards and Signor Lacerenza have been over the entire seven-day circuit of the Redpath-Horner Chautauqs two consecutive years. They have filled many important engagements in Italy and have been accorded high honors. They have played at royal command on several state occasions. They have since that time filled such notable engagements as those at Lakewood Inn, Lakewood, N. J., and Brighton Beach, New York. Signor Lacerenza has been a bandmaster since he was ten years old, when he was placed at the head of the Boys' Musical College band in his native town near Naples.

The band was organized by Victor in Venice, four years ago, and this is the fourth trip to America. Their winter engagements have been almost entirely in Europe. Three years ago they made their first Chautauqua tour and they have been in Chautauqua work during the summers since that time. They will come on the last night of the Chautauqua and will be made a big climax in this great musical festival.

The band has been brought all the way from Venice, in Italy, for this ten weeks' Chautauqua engagement. It is filling a series of seventy-six engagements in towns like ours—good, prosperous towns in Kansas and Oklahoma.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE PETITION DAY

Lincoln, Nebr., June 27. — It is planned to start the circulation of the petitions for the submission of the Equal Suffrage amendment in all parts of the state in a concerted movement, beginning July 16th. That date will be made "Suffrage Petition day" in all the counties, and it is hoped that the local workers and friends of the movement will at once make arrangements for a general meeting in your county.

Wherever desired outside speakers will be sent to these county meetings to assist in the organization and to help start off the petition work.

We would like to hear at once from the suffragists of your county, in order that we may know what plans they can make for the "Petition Day" meeting, and how headquarters can help them. The time is short, but this general rally day can be made a great success if all will get busy now.

A Good Investment.

W. D. Magli, a well known merchant of Whitewater, Wis., bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicines so as to be able to supply them to his customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of these medicines. F. J. Weis, the Underwood man, is expecting a visit from his sister, who lives in the east. She will probably arrive about July 6th and will accompany him on a month's trip through the Black Hills.

President Ewel advised us at the regular meeting that the state executive board will make Post M a visit this fall, the exact date to be announced later.

The state division now has 1987 members.

The next regular meeting of Post M will be July 10th.

Post M was honored at the fair grounds by the appointment of two of its members as officials, Jack Hawes and Burt Manning.

Joe Leen, the lumber man, was finally prevailed upon to stay over today, although his schedule had him hundreds of miles east.

CHAUTAUQUA

A TICKET is what you want, if you are going to the Chautauqua. You will want one that will admit you to everything up to the last night.

Suppose you were going off on a long journey on the train. Would you get off at every station and buy a ticket to the next stop?

No. You would get one that would take you straight through.

And it is the thing to do in going to the Chautauqua. It makes the cost less and it is less bother.

Get your season ticket right today of one of the business men and then you will KNOW that you are going.

A few years ago we thought it was wonderful that a newspaper could be sold for a penny; and a big, thick magazine for a paltry dime.

But—that is nothing. At this CHAUTAUQUA, you can hear some of the finest musical companies and some of the greatest men of this age for less than twenty cents a number. That is all it costs—with a season ticket.

BIG DOINGS AT LONDON

President of France and King of England Honnob Together

(By the United Press)

LONDON, June 27.—There were further rounds of visits and receptions of deputations for President Poincaré of France this morning, and then after lunch he was compelled to climb into evening dress in order to accompany King George and Queen Mary to the gala performance of the International Horse Show. It has not been found possible to include a gala night at the opera in the program of his short stay, so a special performance was arranged at the big Olympia enclosure. The route from Buckingham Palace was lined with troops and cavalry escorts accompanied the royal carriages. Guards of honor were posted at the entrance to the Olympia, and the "Marseillaise" and "God Save the King" were played alternately. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, Prince Arthur, with all the other princes and princesses were present and the great enclosure was packed hours, before the time set for the opening event. A mounted parade of 200 officers of all nations, wearing the uniforms of their respective countries, was followed by the international equestrian for the King Edward VII Gold Cup for teams of officers. A strong French team made a strenuous effort to win the cup outright, France having already won it twice. A riding display by 12 French officers from the Saumur cavalry depot was a popular number.

Tonight, President Poincaré returns the King's hospitality by giving through Ambassador Cambon, a banquet at the French embassy. The King and Queen and other royalties are among the guests invited, as well as Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey and prominent statesmen and army officials. The President's visit ends tomorrow when he will be escorted to the railway station by the King and other royalties, with full military honors.

MAX BLOOM COMING HERE

Max Bloom, known to theatre goers over the entire country as a star of the first magnitude will be seen at the Opera House next Tuesday night for one performance. Mr. Bloom will appear in the Sunny Side of Broadway, the musical comedy he made his reputation in and has been appearing in now for the past five seasons. Mr. Bloom is supported by the same cast he opened the season with and it is considered the best support he ever had. The attraction this season has been playing since last August, having toured the entire United States from coast to coast. Besides the cast there are the Original Dancing Poppets, first seen with this show and been with them for three seasons.

The Sunny Side of Broadway and Max Bloom are synonyms of fun and the Management was indeed lucky to secure such a great attraction.

Summer prices will be in vogue and it will take a capacity house to meet expenses. Crowded houses are nightly occurrences with the above show and there is no reason to think Alliance won't respond the same as other cities.
