HORRIBLE MURDER

She said, 'My husband is going to work in the morning for the railroad.' He did not go to work however.

"Tonight I saw her at the corner of Niobrara and First streets. She went from there to the depot. I then saw her next talking to a man, a white man, in the depot. He came out and went along the walk to the hotel corner and started to walk east. She came out and cut across the street, meeting him near the rear of the hotel. I went east from the depot to the viaduct and turned north. I saw them meet at the Barry House corner. She saw me coming and spoke to him. I did not get to see him distinctly but think he was a white man. He went east and she stood still until I came up. I took her by the right arm with my left arm and started up Niobrara towards the police station. We had to go past her house. She said, 'Where are you taking me?' I told her to the police station. She said, 'I want to give my keys to my husband.' I told her that there would be plenty of time in the morning for that.

"When we came to within forty feet of the house in which they were living she called, 'Arthur, Arthur, Arthur' at the top of her voice. We walked on up the street to the house when he came out the west door of the house in the front, ran out through the gate and past us, where he stopped in front of us. I had my billy in my right hand and was holding to her with my left. We stopped and he said to me, 'What are you going to do?' I told him that I was going to take her to the police station. He said, 'No, you won't, you _____' and fired two

TRUANTS CAUGHT

Father of Boy, Chief of Police and Herald Reporter Chase Truants into Country before Arrest

William Dunbar, 15, and Orville Lewis, 13, the two truants and general bad boys on whose trail the police officers have been for several days, were caught after a long chase this morning in which Mr. Dunbar, father of the first boy, the chief of police and The Herald reporter participated.

The boys have been hiding out for several days, sleeping in box cars and empty buildings, eating sometimes and more often going without their meals. Tuesday they wandered several miles into the country and were given a meal at a farmhouse.

This morning the boys were near the viaduct under the railroad tracks in the east part of town. When an auto passed they ran and crawled into a large tile under the tracks. They were seen by the father of the Dunbar boy, who took after them. The chief of police was notified and with The Herald reporter, followed on the trail. The boys were finally captured at the slaughter house southeast of town. They were placed in confinement until this afternoon, when they were to be taken before the school authorities and decision made as to what is to be done with them.

BODY IS FOUND

Aged Lakeside Woman's Body Lies in Field Two Days and Nights Before Found—Not Murdered

The body of Barbara Adams, a woman eighty-three years of age, lay for two days and nights on the prairie before being found. The woman had a homestead southeast of Lakeside. She lived three miles from her son, Elias Adams, who also has a homestead.

Dr. Z. T. Daniels, a colonel on the staff of Governor Morehead, whose office is at Rushville and who is coroner of Sheridan county, came down Friday to Lakeside via Alliance and held an inquest. It was rumored that the old lady had been murdered but Dr. Daniels stated to The Herald reporter that there was nothing to substantiate the rumor and that from all appearances she had become lost.

The woman was deaf and partially blind and has been accustomed to wandering about the prairies. Her body was found three miles from home Thursday in the field at a neighbor's farm. She was slightly demented at times.

PREACHING AT LAKESIDE

Preaching services at Lakeside next Sunday evening. Official members please be present. A cordial invitation to all.

shots at me while I was still holding to the woman. I do not know if he hit her then or not but she did not fall. At least I did not see her fall. I got ten or twelve feet away and then felt his shots strike me. He shot four times in all. I couldn't stand up and fell in the street.

"I got the cord which held the billy to my right hand off and got my gun out of my hip pocket. I got up to a sitting position and shot at him six times. The smoke was so thick that I could not see plainly. My hand and leg did not hurt then. Just felt numb. Because of the heavy smoke I could not see him run and did not know when she had fallen. He crouched to the ground while I was shooting and I thought that was him lying there until they told me that it was her.

"I laid in the street until Dr. Curtis, the night marshal, accompanied by some other men, ran up. One of the men started to take my gun away from me but Curtis said, 'No let him keep that gun. He is a regularly appointed officer.' They then took me in the auto and brot me to the hospital."

MURDERER IN SHIRT SLEEVES

On being further questioned, Jordan stated that Edwards when he ran from the house, had no hat and was in a white shirt without a coat and that he had on blue trousers. He had observed Edwards several times before dressed in the same trousers which he stated had two holes in their seat and were badly worn.

JORDAN'S INJURIES PAINFUL

BUT NOT SERIOUS

Jordan's wounds were dressed at the hospital. He was shot in the left thumb and through the fleshy part of the left leg, just below the knee. Although he suffered intensely it is believed that unless blood poisoning results he will soon recover.

DESCRIPTION BEING WIRED

Joe Westover, city attorney, spent a large part of the night wiring and phoning descriptions of the murderer to adjacent towns. Every farmhouse surrounding Alliance was notified by phone from the Herald office before midnight and were asked
