ANDERSON VERY ILL

Prominent Alliance Man Stricken Sunday Morning With Attack of Paralysis at Long Beach---Condition Serious

From Tuesday's Daily:

A telegram was received this morning from Ben Anderson stating that his father, C. A. Anderson, was stricken with paralysis and that his condition was serious. Mr. Anderson, accompanied by his wife and son, Ben, left Alliance a few days ago to spend the winter at Long Beach, California.

A card was received by The Herald from Ben, dated at Long Beach, October 8, stating that they had just arrived there and were staying at The Tahoma, 33 Chestnut street. Ben stated that they were located only one block from the Pacific ocean and all felt well. Mr. Anderson's stroke of paralysis was unexpected.

Mr. Anderson is an Alliance pioneer and has had much to do with the progress and advancement of Alliance. He is the father of Mrs. F. E. Holsten. He retired from active work about two years ago on account of poor health. His many acquaintances and friends hope that he may have a speedy recovery from his illness.

The telegram addressed to F. E. Holsten and sent from Long Beach Sunday night reads: "Father had stroke of paralysis this morning. Has had no use of limbs and left side all day. Congestion in lungs bad. Little improvement tonight. Doctor doesn't give much encouragement. Hope for change by morning. Are doing everything for him. Tell Nellie. B. C. ANDERSON."

DEATH OF SAINTLY WOMAN

Mary Milner was born July 18, 1829, in Randolph county, Ind., and died in Alliance, Nebr., Oct. 6, 1913, at the advanced age of 85 years, 2 months and 18 days.

During her long life she was thrice married and as often left a lonely widow. Her first marriage was with James C. Thomas in Indiana, Nov. 10, 1853. To this union one child was born, James A. O. Thomas, now of Broken Bow, Nebr. Mr. Thomas died in 1854 and nine years later his widow was united in marriage to Francis T. Harvey. Three children were born, one only now living, Francis T. Harvey, Jr. Eleven years of married life and she was left alone again. In 1874 she was married to J. S. Ward, and in the spring of 1880 they left Indiana and came overland to Nebraska, locating in Nance county where they were residing at the time of Mr. Ward's death in 1891. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Ward came with her son James to Alliance, and has since made her home with him and her son Francis. The last 22 years of her life was spent in lonely widowhood and the most of that time she was in poor health, chronic rheumatism so crippling her that she became a helpless invalid, unable to take a step for the last three years. She was a cheerful, patient sufferer all through these long years.

Her Christian life commenced in days of youth, having united with the Methodist church in Indiana at the age of sixteen, and for seventy years in prosperity or adversity, in joy or sorrow, in health or suffering, in youth or old age, she lived a devoted Christian life and proved the sustaining grace of God under all circumstances. She loved her Bible and her Lord and lived to glorify Him. In her advanced years, in her helplessness, with returning vision she employed her time in making fancy work, and took delight in giving to others the articles she had made with her own hands. One of her last completed pieces she gave to a young girl who called upon her a few days ago. The last article upon which she was employed almost to the very last was not quite finished. She heard a voice she long had followed calling her. She was heard to say again and again that last day, "I am coming, Jesus, coming home." The unfinished work fell from her tired hands, the weary wheels of life stood still, and she was at home.

She was a gentle spirit, a good wife and mother, a sincere Christian. Death was to her a happy release and a welcome guest and as quietly as fades away a summer's day, so closed the earthly life of one of God's children, to be continued in the larger and perfect life "Where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints" and beautiful is that life long spent in His service.

Mrs. Ward died at the home of Mrs. Grace Bruckner, an old time friend with whom she had been visiting for only one week, and the funeral was held at the residence of Mrs. Bruckner Wednesday morning, conducted by Rev. O. S. Baker, pastor of the Alliance M. E. church. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Beautiful faces are those that wear, it matters not whether dark or fair, Whole souled honesty printed there.

Beautiful eyes are those that show,
Like crystal frames where hearth
fires glow,
Beautiful thoughts that burn below.
Beautiful lips are those whose words
Leap from the heart like songs of birds,
Yet whose utterance wisdom girds.
Beautiful hands are those that do Work that is earnest, brave and true,
Moment by moment the long day
through.
Beautiful feet are they that go
On kindly ministry to and fro'
Down lowliest ways if God will so.
Beautiful shoulders are those that bear
Ceaseless burdens of homely care,
With patient grace and daily prayer.
Beautiful lives are those that bless
Silent rivers of helpfulness
Whose hidden fountains few may guess.
Beautiful twilight at set of sun,
Beautiful goal with race well run,
Beautiful rest with work well done.
Beautiful graves where grasses
creep,
Where brown leaves fall and drifts lie deep
Over worn out hands, Oh! beautiful sleep.

DAUGHTER OF MRS. WILSON AT CALLAWAY

Mrs. W. M. Wilson has a daughter at Callaway, where the storm first struck. It has been impossible to get wire connection with Callaway to learn whether or not she is safe.

It is believed that the tornado which struck Broken Bow and other Nebraska towns may have been the same one which struck near Lebanon, Kansas, Thursday afternoon. The storm destroyed five farmhouses and other buildings near Lebanon and traveled northward into southern Nebraska. It was going in the direction of central Nebraska and was probably the same storm. Its path can be traced for a distance of over six hundred miles. When the full extent of the damage is learned it may be many lives and millions of dollars worth of property.

Mr. Thaw didn't have much time to admire the scenery either way.
