BOY LOST HIS FOOT

Safety Bulletin No. 14, issued by Burlington Railroad, Warns Against Children Playing

Safety Bulletin No. 14, of the Burlington railroad, has been sent to all agents. It contains some good advice and a warning against allowing children to play on the tracks.

The bulletin which is signed by Supt. W. M. Weidenhamr, reads as follows:

For your information, I quote below letter from Mr. Switzer, Superintendent of Safety:

"On January 14 at Langly, Ill., a little boy eight years old tried to hop on a freight train as it was pulling thru town over a main street crossing. He fell and his foot was caught under the wheels.

"There has been a falling off in the number of accidents to children due to the interest agents have taken in influencing children (often thru parents) not to jump on trains. These deplorable accidents are, however, still happening here and there and every time is once too often.

"This is to let you know that the accident happened and to suggest the need of continuing to do all possible, in ways already suggested, to keep children away from our tracks and trains."
