BIRDS

DO you know what the birds of this country are worth? These little feathered creatures have a greater purpose than just to flutter. They feed on insects. Insects feed on the crops the farmer raises.

What is the result?

The result is that birds get the insects that get the crops. Without birds, the United States Secretary of Agriculture says, the farmer would have a slim chance.

So what?

Let's, everybody, encourage the birds. We ought to have thousands more than we do have. A cool drink on a hot day would please a bird and make him want to stay around all summer.

The Children's Chautauqua teaches boys and girls the value of birds; teaches them how to feed and shelter them, and with care of this sort birds will be more numerous in every locality.

That is ONE of the purposes of the

Young Men Have Social Gathering

On Thursday, June 4, the Y. M. B. C. held a special meeting, at which time a new constitution was adopted and officers elected. Following are the names of the officers elected to hold office for the coming six months, Charles Walters, president; Charles Spacht, vice president; Jay Vance, secretary; Charles LaMon, treasurer; Carl Thomas, cor. sec.

After the business meeting, the refreshments committee served ice cream, strawberries and cake. A comparatively large number of young men were present.

Delegates to T. P. A. Convention

Omaha, Nebr., June 11—Eight of the Nebraska cities were represented in the delegation of members of

T. P. A., who left Friday night for the annual convention in Houston, Tex.

The Nebraska bunch will boost for Omaha for the next convention and though there are five cities in the field for the honor. Omaha stands an excellent chance of landing the convention.

Omaha sent a delegation of eight, Lincoln, three, and Hastings, Grand Island, Kearney, Beatrice, Alliance, Nebraska City and College View, one each.
