and MULES

HARDIN, MONTANA

Tuesday and Wednesday OCT. 6-7, 1914

THE ONLY SALE OF ITS KIND

On the banks of the Little Horn River on the northern border of the Crow Reservation on above dates I will sell all the surplus horses and mules belonging to all the Indian Tribes on this great reservation. The Indians will gather their horses and mules and deliver them to the large stock yards that have been erected for the purpose at the Big Horn Y, two miles east of Hardin. I will then classify their horses regardless of ownership and they will be sold under government supervision to the highest bidder. Do not think because these are Indian horses that they are worthless ponies. They are good class of small and medium horses and are as fat as horses can get on that nutritious bunch grass that has made Montana famous for the best grass fattened beef and horses in the world. There will be several hundred head of fancy ponies, some half breed Shetlands and small mules, of all ages, sexes and colors. The Indians will be there by the hundreds. This will be a novel horse sale, and will be well worth your while to come if in need of any kind of horses or mules. Besides the above I will sell 1200 head of good native horses and mules as follows:

400 head will be broke horses, mares and mules of all ages and weights from 1000 to 1500 pounds;
400 head of unbroke mares and geldings weighing 900 to 1400 lbs.;
100 head of saddle horses, a great many of which would do for cavalry;
200 head of yearling and two year old colts, both horses and mules;
100 head of mares with unbranded colts at side.

The above horses are consigned by the ranchers of the Big Horn Valley and the country tributary to the prosperous town of Hardin, Montana. The Bankers and Business Men of Hardin are giving me every assistance to get these horses all in, and now, Mr. Buyer, I can candidly say that I can show you more horses and mules for the money by attending this sale than you can possibly see any other way. I need but little introduction to the horse buying or horse selling public in the West, having held a series of successful sales covering a period of ten years at Gillette, Wyoming, and other points in Wyoming. Common fairness between buyer and seller is my policy. Freight rates from Hardin to Missouri River points, $96.80. Buyers unknown to me will please bring drafts or letter of credit.
