WHAT IS FARM 1st $1 mdse., W. M. Wilson. 2nd 50c mdse., I. L. Acheson.

C. W. Pugsley Tells About These Much Needed "Hired Men" for the Farmers of the County

If I should attempt to put into one sentence what a farm demonstrator is, or should be, it would be this: He is a man of practical farm experience with an agricultural education working under the joint direction of the farmers, the state agricultural college and the United States Department of Agriculture, to assist in determining the best agricultural practices for the community in which he is located. In the term agricultural practices I would include the prob-1st $1 mdse., E. I. Gregg. 2nd $1 mdse., F. J. Brennan. lems both of production and distribution. A little later in this article I shall have more to say about the specific duties of farm demonstrators, and what I shall say will be based upon what has actually been done in this and other states, rather than upon what might be done. Perhaps a clearer understanding of what a farm demonstrator is may be obtained by first gaining an idea of what he is not. The things he is not probably make a longer list than the things he is. That is why he is of value to a community. Those who profess to be everything are usually not very capable at anything.

Some Nots

In the first place, a farm demonstrator is not an "adviser." farmers seem to think that a demonstrator is a person who has a lot of notions and theories about farming the county in which he is employed. If that were true I would have no use for a farm demonstrator. No person, no matter how much experience of a successful nature he may have accumulated in one section of the state, or how much agricultural education he may have secured is capa-mount of advice to the resident their respective farms. ATSOUTH OMAHA their respective farms. The farm demonstrator is distinctly not an adviser in the sense in which we ordinarily use that word.

Neither is the farm demonstrator an "expert." No man should be employed by a county association as an Tea and Sulphur. ployed by a county association as an agricultural expert. No man knows it all. Few men are capable of posing as experts in special lines of agriculture, to say nothing of being experts in all lines. The farm demonstrator should be able to secure expert advice from specialists and auhorities in different lines, and he should himself have a good agricultural education to assist him in diagnosing farm problems and to enable Yearlings and Lwes Active and should never pose or be hired as an "agricultural expert."

Not Agent of Business

The farm demonstrator, in Nebraska at east, is not an agent of any trust or industrial combination, any business interest or interests, or any group of middlemen local or otherwise. He is simply the agent of the farmers themselves. True, the demonstrator works under the direction of the agricultural college and the department of agriculture, but these are creations of the people in the interest of agricultural advancement. Neither of these institutions receives support other than revenues from public domain and the taxes of the people. Funds to and in promoting county demonstration work may be paid to county associations by business men or groups of business men. but the agricultural college and the department of agriculture will not co-operate in any work if contributions for its support have any strings whatever tied to them.

Everybody who is interested in the growth and development of Nebraska must be interested in agriculture, because the wealth of the state is founded on agriculture. For that reason business interests offer subscriptions to farm management associations in the counties where demonstrators are employed. If the farmers desire to accept these subscriptions as a county association of farmers that is their privilege and their affair. The agricultural college and the department of agriculture simply insist that such subscriptions shall be free from olbigations.

Business interests in Nebraska have formed what is called The Agricultural Development Commission of Nebraska. Their purpose, as set forth by the president of the Commission, is to raise funds to assist in the development of agricultural resources in the state. The Commission will pay its contributions to the treasurers of count yassociations making application for assistance. The only condition upon which the Commission will grant funds in this way is that the county association shall be organized in accordance with the state plan for demonstration work, and that the funds given shall be used for such work. business interests of Nebraska neither hire nor direct the work of any demonstrator. They contribute to the work if the farmers of the community desire to accept their contributions; otherwise, they do not con-

HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage, Nowadays, though, we don't have the croublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply isten your comb or a soft brush with it ad draw this through your hair, taking ersell strand at a time; by morning stay hair disappears, but what de a ladies with Wyeth's Sage and that, besides beautifully the hair after a few applicaproduces that soft histre spearance of abundance which is so relies besides, prevents dandruff,

Those who have suffered from neuralgic pains need not be told how necessary it is to secure relief. The easiest way out of neuralgia is to use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They have re lieved sufferers for so many years that they have become a household necessity.

for a generation

"I have taken Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for five years and they are the only thing that does me any good. They have relieved neuralgia in my head in fifteen minutes. I have also taken them for rheumatism, headearache and pains in the bowels and limbs. I have found nothing to equal them and they are all that is claimed for them."

"I Saw a Funny Thing

last night," writes a Philadelphia man.

"I was in the men's cafe of the ... Hotel. A few tables away, and close to a window, was a rather rough-looking man of about fifty.

He took a cigar out of his pocket, bit off the end, put the cigar in his mouth, took a match out of the match box, and tried to light his cigar.

The match broke in two. He took another. The wind blew it out. With the third, fourthon up to the sixth-he had similar mishaps.

By that time, I had become tired of the spectacle, so I walked over to him, handed him a Safe Home Match and said: 'Here! Try this! It's a REAL match!'

He lit it and, in spite of the fact that the wind was coming in the window as hard as ever, lit his cigar."

Now the question is this: If one Safe Home Match will do what six ordinary matches failed to do, what is the relative value of Safe Home Matches and ordinary namhes? The price is the same. But what is the relative value?
