"Was your husband cool when you told him there was a burglar in the house?" asked Mrs. Hammer.

"Cool," replied Mrs. Gabb. "I should say he was cool. Why, his teeth chattered."

Cablegram

Limburg, via Berlin, September Morn., 1914.—Fruit and Produce Distributor, Portland, Oregon: The Germans have taken Pilsener and are surrounding Delleatessen, where the Wurst is expected. The Belgian Hares have had a falling out with the Welsh Rabbits and the Swiss Cheese is shot full of holes. This will make the Irish stew and the English Mustard hot, and when the Russian Caviar sees the French Pastry it will cause a Swiss Movement—Watch! The Spanish Onions are strong for a mixup, and if the Home Preserves are called out and spread over the German Noodles they may Ketchup with the Navy Beans, thereby causing an uprising of the Brus-seis sprouts. We will soon be very much in need of Northwestern Fruits and Produce.

Mrs. Bradley was an ardent worker in the temperance society which was to meet that afternoon. She dressed hurriedly and came downstairs panting.

"Lizzie," she called to her maid, "run upstairs and get my temperance badge. I have forgotten it. It has a wide ribbon with gold lettering."

"Sure, ma'am, I know it well," said Lizzie.

Lizzie could not read, but she knew a ribbon with gold letters when she saw it, and had no trouble in locating it and fastening it on the dress of her mistress. Mrs. Bradley was too busy at the meeting greeting her friends to note that they smiled broadly when they looked at her.

When the family was assembled at dinner that night, Mrs. Bradley entered and was received with this exclamation: "Goodness, Mother, that ribbon! Have you been wearing that at the temperance meeting?"

Mrs. Bradley looked at her badge for the first time. The gold lettering on the ribbon read:

—Ladies' Home Journal.

Johnny had been very excited at school all morning, and burst out with—

"We have a baby girl at our house, teacher; Dr. Moore brought her."

Immediately another small hand was frantically waved in the air, and a little voice piped: "We take off of him, too, Miss Brown!"—Everybody's.

"Whilst walking down a crowded city street the other day,

I heard a little urchin to a comrade turn and say:

'Say, Chimney, lemme tell youse, I'd be happy as a clam

If I only was de feller dat me mudder t'inks I am.

She t'inks I am a wonder, an' she knows her little lad

Could never mix with nuttin' dat was ugly, mean, or bad.

Oh, lots o' times I sit and t'ink how nice 't would be—gee whiz!

If a feller wus de feller dat his mudder t'inks he is.

"My friend, be yours a life of toil or undiluted joy,

You still can learn a lesson from this small unlettered boy.

Don't aim to be an earthly saint with eyes fixed on the star;

Just try to be the fellow that your mother thinks you are."

The New Line Through Central Wyo.

The Burlington-Colorado & Southern joint main line between Denver, Cheyenne and Billings was opened October 18th. The new line directly connects Denver and Cheyenne with the fast developing localities about Douglas and Casper, with the famous hot springs resort, Thermopolis, and with the rich agricultural section of North Wyoming—the Big Horn Basin. It is unusually fortunate in its geographical location, as it traverses Wyoming's new agricultural and industrial localities, and connects the whole with the Burlington transportation system so closely as to lead to a rapid development of the state of Wyoming.

Ask for the Burlington's Red Folder; note the relation of the new railroad to the Burlington System east thereof. This new road illustrates the steady pioneer work of the Burlington in its effort to open up the best agricultural, live stock, and mineral regions of the West.

Tell your friends back east about the new line and the possibilities of increased land values in Wyoming and the North Platte Valley.
