

Useful Presents for the Little People

A WARM robe of elderdown flannel is among the many delightful gifts that are to be made for the baby or for the little ones who have outgrown babyhood. Elderdown flannel is woven in light colors and figured in white with Teddy bears, rabbits, birds and other figures that delight the youngsters. It is the softest and most comforting of materials for cold weather.

Bath robes like that pictured are bound with narrow ribbon on all the raw edges, provided with collars and pockets (except when made for infants) and have ties of silk cord, finished with tassels at the neck and about the waist, like the elderdown in color. For the little infant the pocket and waist cord are not needed.

Bed slippers of elderdown finished and tied with ribbons are very comfortable for little ones who are apt to kick off bedclothes in cold weather. They are among the most easily made of gifts. Shoes and booties, for little infants' daily wear, are also made of this material which is so well suited for a baby's garments. Other articles are short sacks, hoods and blankets for the baby's carriage. The last are decorated with big bows of wide, handsome satin ribbon.

Dainty Slippers of Ribbon for Christmas

ANOTHER pretty gift made of plain ribbon is pictured in the pair of boudoir slippers. These are made in all sizes and colors and are appropriate for all the feminine members of the family from grandma down to the baby. Ribbon about two and one-half inches wide is needed to make them. It is sewed to insoles of leather with elderdown on one side (or quilted satin). These soles are bought ready made and cost very little.

In sewing the ribbon to the soles it is pulled slightly across the toe and joined in a felled seam in the back. Above the heel it is gathered on an elastic cord to hold the slipper in place. A little fullness is gathered in at the toe where three small rosettes provide a finishing touch.

Sashes and Girdles Among Best of Gifts

NO ONE need remain long in doubt as to what to get for a maid or matron in this day of the vogue of girdles and sashes. A girdleless gown is hardly to be found and whether for the street, the home, or evening wear, ribbons are used to form the circle that enfolds the waist or terminates the bodice. There are any number of styles in girdles and sashes to choose among made of every variety of weave known to the loom and every color and combination of colors that has been thought out.

A girdle of wide plaid ribbon, finished with a sprightly bow of two loops and two ends, is shown in the picture. It makes a Christmas gift that will delight every woman who likes to keep abreast with the mode. The girdle portion is boned to spread the ribbon and hold it in place without pins. The bow is simply tied and may be untied and the length wrapped about the figure if preferred.

A sash of dotted satin ribbon, designed for a party gown, may be used as a model for making up any of the soft fancy ribbons, suited to dressy wear. It requires ribbon about four or five inches wide, of which three lengths are sewed together to form the girdle. This is boned at the sides and back to hold it in place and fastened in the back with hooks and eyes. Over the fastening a flat bow of three loops and one end is placed with the loops lying lengthwise on the figure.

Narrow ribbons are sewed together to form wide girdles and ribbons of moderate width are bordered with black velvet ribbon, from an inch to two inches wide. The flowered Dresden and rich, brightly colored brocades are very effectively bordered in this way. Sometimes narrow shaded or flowered ribbons are joined by means of narrow velvet ribbons, a half inch in width. The edges of the velvet ribbon overlap those of the satin ribbon and are machine stitched down. Girdles made in this way are fastened with hooks and eyes and the fastening concealed by flat bows of two loops without ends.

Indicted by Government Jury
Lincoln, Nebr., Dec. 5—E. E. Bevard, a real estate dealer of this city, socially prominent, has been indicted by the Kansas City grand jury, charged with using the mails to defraud. The indictment comes in connection with the arrest of three other officials connected with the Florida Fruit Lands company.

The Bevard mentioned above is believed to be a former Alliance real estate dealer, who afterwards moved to Lincoln and engaged in business there. He left Alliance about six years ago.

Who's Got a Gun?

The editor of a paper in another county states that one day he picked up a Winchester and started down the street to deliver it to its owner. The department subscribers got it into their hands that he was on the war-path and everyone he met insisted on paying what he owed the editor. One man wiped out a debt of ten years standing. On his return to the office the editor found a load of hay, fifteen bushels of potatoes, a load of wood and a barrel of turnips.

One correspondent writes to the St. Louis Mirror, indignantly denying that Senator Sherman of Illinois looks like Lincoln. Too late! They have elected him senator now.

Prosperity is returning in good time to promote the early Christmas shopping.
