POTATO EXPERTS WILL GIVE ADVICE

Potato Specialists Will Give Valuable Advice to Growers at Meeting to be Held in Lincoln

If the opinions of potato experts are given due consideration, thousands of dollars will be saved to the growers of Nebraska this year. Figures in possession of the state board of agriculture show that disease, poor methods of production and unskillful distribution are the enemies of the potato growers of Nebraska.

The crop for 1914 was estimated at 7,070,761 bushels and brought the growers fully $4,251,472. In the western and northwestern parts of the state large acreages of potatoes are planted each year.

The Nebraska state horticultural society, realizing the importance of the potato industry, to the economic welfare of the state, has arranged for a meeting of potato specialists to discuss the various phases of the industry in Nebraska. These speakers will appear at the meetings of the society January 19, 20, 21 and 22, during the meetings of organized agriculture.

No other horticultural crop has reached the importance from a financial standpoint that the potato crop now enjoys in the state. In Europe the potato crop is of great economic importance and the production per acre is several times what the best average in this country amounts to. The crop is used for food for both man and beast. Numerous by-products are utilized so that there is a steady and persistent demand for the product.

The elimination of waste in production, the remedies for disease and other topics will be discussed at a special potato session at the Lindell hotel January 22, at 2 p. m.

Potato growers from all parts of Nebraska are invited to be present at this meeting.—Lincoln Star.

PARDEY WRITES FROM CANADA

Former Alliance Business Man, Now Located in Canada, Tells of Interesting Doings There

The Herald received, on Friday of last week, a letter from F. H. Pardey, formerly an Alliance business man and now located at Salmon Arm, B. C., Canada. The letter was dated January 1 and reads as follows:

Salmon Arm, B. C., Canada, January 1, 1915.

Messrs. Thomas, Herald Publishing Co., and "Lord Chesterfield" Thomas:

Received subscription receipt O. K. Send you check to see whether Pardey's paper was still good. No complaints, so it must have been. Splendid snow and jolly sleighing here. Our snow here comes gently but sure and stays where it falls. I find the climate all the better for our health which is so good it often "hurts". Was sixty-eight years of age last September and am still able to do a man's work.

We came here just as the bottom of real estate values was getting weak—prices were beyond all reason, but are getting back to level and other things back to normal. We like it here as far as it goes but can with hearty good will take off our hats to Old Glory and the present administration of the United States.

War, ruinous WAR. This little district has no equal, as about two hundred have left to join the forces. Mothers, sisters, sweethearts and wives have all gone to the front to be near and help their dear ones where needed. This has its downward effect on the business of the community and leaves us to say in good cheer, "Trust to luck, trust to luck. Stare fate in the face. Sure your heart will be easy if it's in the right place."

This place is situated on the great Shuswap lake, or an arm of the lake in the Salmon river valley at the mouth of the Salmon river, which flows into the lake. We are living in our own comfortable bungalow, and can see three big mountains. We are at the foot of Mount Ida, about 5000 feet high. Across the lake lies Mount Granite, 7000 feet high. Then across the arm is Mount Bastion, 6500 feet high. I have contented myself with staying on the level, but from hearsay the view must be grand. White birch, giant firs and pine timber galore. Game is not very plentiful. While people talk fish and game, our fish comes from the ocean, Vancouver and coast cities.

"I wish you and all of you a Happy New Year."

Enclosed with the letter were two articles from the local newspaper, reading as follows:

"Perhaps it was a little early, but we were surprised to find so few places of business decorated. Mr. Fee was preparing to do so, and so far as we remember Messrs. Toombs and Pardey were the only two who had any decorations. We would appeal to all business houses to give some evidence of the Christmas spirit and make the town bright and cheerful at this great Christian festival."

"The City Bakery, Pardey & Son, remind one of Christmas pudding, pies and cakes. They are making a feature of Christmas cooking of all kinds, and have also a fine line of chocolates in boxes, comprising Ganton's and Rowntree's; Christmas stockings and tree decorations. This was the first store found appropriately decorated. Messrs. Pradey and that their customers appreciate high class confectionery, and that is the only kind to be found on their shelves."
