"TIZ" is wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight. Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" now from any druggist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

Hon. F. M. Broome, State Representative from This District, Gives Interesting Interview

While in Lincoln last week The Herald representative had the privilege of spending some time with Hon. F. M. Broome of Alliance, state representative from the district composed of Box Butte and Sheridan counties. On request Mr. Broome gave a description of the work done by the present legislature.

The following statements were given in the interview:

Immediately prior to assembling of the present legislative session, it was a matter of common occurrence to hear various individuals informing members that there had never been assembled in the state legislature a body of men far above the average in general appearance than during the present session. Knowing full well the general sentiment of contempt existing in the public mind of all large cities for state legislatures, it simply occurred to me that it was not all thrown out only to flatter the members that they might be the more easily worked to fall for the many schemes to be presented for separating the state treasury from its funds. However, time sufficiently having elapsed since the beginning of the session to form an intimate acquaintance with all of the members individually, I am qualified to say that the statements above referred to were in no way exaggerated. Members of the present session are all men possessing a sense of high regard for proprieties both as to personal conduct and personal appearance, and also in the manner of speech. There is not a roughneck, rouser or ignoramus in the entire assembly, and every member is imbued with a sense of justice to view each and every measure proposed entirely upon its merits rather than upon prejudice or sordid motives.

The general sentiment among members is against the creation of new legislation, so far as possible, preferring to confine their efforts toward repealing and amending defective or ill advised laws now on the statutes, recognizing that public opinion existing among the people at large is that we now have too many laws. As a result of this sentiment only 178 bills thus far have been introduced as against nearly 500 for the same length of time last session.

One must learn only from actual experience the fallacy of the importance placed upon committees appointed to consider bills introduced before being considered by the body as a whole. People living out thru the state are led to believe that the influence or importance of those representing them is based largely upon the name of some committee when as a matter of truth, committees are provided only for the purpose of fostering this belief among the people. So far as actual legislation is concerned, it is affected upon consideration by the entire assembly, the committees having the power only to submit their opinions or recommendations for definite action by the whole house, and if in accord with the ideas of a majority in the house, such recommendations go, otherwise they are turned down. As yet, no bill has been introduced calculated to greatly interest or arouse people thruout the state. Several measures to be considered will no doubt furnish interest sufficient to arouse interest among the members, but as to the people themselves, nothing that would warrant the sending in of petitions for or against, or the bringing of any undue pressure upon members in the matter of voting for or against any particular proposition has come up. Of course there is time enough, there being yet seven days in which bills may be introduced, but there is nothing on the surface to indicate that there will be. A matter of general interest to be considered is that of providing for properly legalizing the practice of chiropractic. Members of this profession from all parts of the state are in Lincoln in large force working hard for the enactment of law giving them equal standing with medical or osteopathy. Just what the outcome may be is hard to foretell.

The warehouse bill at the present time is every man's guess. Farmers are about equally divided for and against the proposition, which gives the elevator men a great field for active work and incidentally the printers grind out tons of more or less invaluable literature, much of which finds a temporary resting place in waste baskets. While it is a fact that the proposition formed a part of the democratic platform, yet the action by various agricultural associations and organizations is more than likely to wield an influence greater than political platforms with a majority of the members in the legislature.

Several bills intended for the general welfare of the volunteer firemen and also paid fire departments, are being considered, the sentiment in the house generally being in favor of giving the boys everything they ask for within reason.

It is generally conceded that some legislation relative to state ownership of water power sites will be enacted but just in what form will have to be threshed out from the various measures proposed.

There are two bills relative to establishing state printing plants to be considered. They are aimed at the alleged printing combine which it is claimed holds the state up for printing at extortionate rates. Should the bills result in the state effecting printing contracts at prices no higher than the cost would be with a public plant, it is quite likely provisions in the bills on file may not excite much interest among members, more especially those of the press.

The question of public roads and bridges is also one likely to excite state wide interest. There are ideas along this line numerous as there are members in the house, or more so, and to get them all down in concrete form so that something tangible may result is going to be one of the difficult problems with which the session must wrestle.

The same proposition is true relative to the many educational measures to be considered, and anything written on the subject at the present time would be a mere guess, until all of the many propositions are properly sifted out for some one intelligent method of procedure. The proposition to do away with the old system of school districts and make one district for the whole county may receive serious consideration.

It is safe to assume that any measure introduced or that may be introduced referring in any way to the liquor traffic will never be allowed to be brought upon the floor of the house for discussion, largely for the reason that it would create dissensions the house leadership could not afford to risk.

The proposition to create state insurance companies may also involve a discussion that will arouse public interest, when the matter comes up for consideration.

The measure providing for a minimum scale for wages in the larger cities and also proposed changes in the workman's compensation act is also likely to arouse public interest.

All other bills now on file bear the same relation to general public interest as do equity cases in district courts, and a recital of them would make an article too lengthy for reading purposes.

The coming week may develop something of more public interest both in the line of bills to be introduced and upon those to be considered, and as subjects above mentioned will not be brought up for final action before this interview is published, it is given in a manner that will not prove stale news when published.

Outlook Very Bright

W. B. Howard, immigration agent of the Burlington, passed through Alliance Sunday on his way to Omaha headquarters. Mr. Howard stated that the blanket of snow now covering Nebraska and adjoining states will mean successful crops of many kinds during the coming season, that it will be of great help to the range, and that it will mean more water for irrigation enterprises.

INTERVIEW WITH THE GOVERNOR

Herald Representative Called on Governor Morehead at Lincoln Last Friday Afternoon

The Herald representative, while in Lincoln last Friday afternoon, called at the capitol building and visited with the different state officials. During the afternoon a call was made on Governor Morehead. During the talk the governor said, "I get to read The Herald occasionally and am well pleased with its appearance. You are getting out a good newspaper and the people of western Nebraska should be pleased with it."

"I never had better treatment than I received in western Nebraska last June," continued the governor. "I must say that you western people are royal entertainers. I have a warm spot in my heart for western Nebraska. You have a great future for your end of the state. I look to see you make great advances in the next few years."

When asked whether or not he could attend the annual convention at Crawford next January of the Nebraska State Volunteer Firemen's Association, Governor Morehead said that he would assure the boys that he would be their guest unless unforeseen things occur. He was on the program for the convention last week at Nebraska City but was prevented from being present.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Menu of Dining Car on Western Railroad Shows Advance in Cost of Meals Is Great

An Alliance man, traveling recently on a western railroad, who had the temerity to take a meal in the dining car, noted down the cost of a few items on the bill of fare. Some of the items were as follows:

Baked apple with cream, 25c; stewed prunes, 20c; oat meal with cream, 25c; breakfast sausage, 50c; buckwheat or corn cakes, 25c; milk, per bottle, 15c; buttermilk, per bottle, 15c; soup, 20c; sirloin steak, $1; ham and eggs, 65c; two eggs, any style, 25c; potatoes, 15c; bread and butter, 10c; cup of coffee, 10c; pot of tea, 15c; six oysters, 35c.

The aforesaid Alliance man ate three meals at a cost of $3.05, plus tips to the waiters of 30 cents. He doesn't know whether to call this the high cost of living, or the cost of high living.

Thus far it looks like a perfectly good year.
