FARMERS' EXCHANGE

It is the desire of the Farm Management Association to establish a farmers' exchange. In the eight counties having demonstration work in progress, the offices of the associations have been used as a medium of exchange to the extent of $41,141 worth of farm products. This has been in the sale of live stock both within the county and without the county, and also in the sale and purchasing of farm seed.

An unusual crop of alfalfa seed was raised in Seward county in the season of 1913. The local demand could not take care of this seed and the local price was very low. The farm demonstrator in communication with other county agents of eastern states succeeded in finding a market for $13,840 worth of alfalfa seed to farmers of eastern states at a price approximately $1 per bushel more than the local price. The profit to the Seward county farmers in this one item above was more than $1,000.

Any member that has good, clear seed of any kind, hay, feed, breeding and work animals of all kinds that they want to sell strictly on the merits of such, and those who want to buy any of the above, are asked to send their wants to the farm demonstrator's office. Whenever possible, please state price, quality and quantity. Any one wishing to work on a farm or anyone desiring a farm hand send in your wants. A list will be kept so that anyone desiring to look over the items can do so by coming to the farm demonstrator's office in the court house.

SEED POTATOES

"Northern grown vs. home grown seed potatoes." Potato growers have for many years recognized the value of good clean, northern grown seed potatoes. As it is true of Texas potato growers coming to this county for northern grown seed, the growers here must go north to improve their seed. The hot dry seasons of the past few years will soon tell on the vitality of our seed potatoes. If we will continue to look to a southern market to dispose of the potatoes for seed, we also must improve our seed.

In Gage county thirty-two farmers co-operated in demonstrating the value of northern vs. home grown seed potatoes. Due to lack of time, the county agent was unable to get the results from all of the co-operators, but the following is an accurate report of nine of them. These results certainly show that it pays to plant good, northern seed. Had the rainfall been normal the past season, the northern seed would have made a much better showing against the home grown than it did. The potatoes from the northern seed were much larger, smoother and of a better eating quality. There was more difference in quality than yield.

Comparing northern grown seed vs. home grown seed shows the following results, all based on acre yields:

Av. Yield per Acre
Northern grown seed ... 105.34 bu.
Home grown seed ... 79.16 bu.
Difference in favor of northern grown seed, 26.18 bu.

Dawes county, thru Mr. Hawk, the farm demonstrator, will ship in a car of northern grown seed. Any one who desires to plant northern grown seed potatoes will do the Farm Management Association a favor if they will co-operate with the demonstrator in this work. Act at once so that arrangements can be made to secure the seed in quantity.

Yours for service and co-operation,
F. M. SEIDELL,
Agent U. S. Dept. of Agri.
and County Demonstrator

ITEMS FROM TRADE EXHIBIT

Information Concerning Nebraska Manufacturing Establishments That Advertise in Herald

The Omaha Trade Exhibit of Saturday, March 6, had items of interest concerning two manufacturing establishments that have their plants and home offices in Omaha. The information will interest many Herald readers because it shows a strong and healthy growth of two Nebraska industries. Additional interest is given by the fact that each of the two concerns has a quarter page advertisement in this issue of The Herald. Following are the two items:

Iten Company Opens K. C. Branch
The Iten Biscuit company of Omaha will at once expand its business by opening a branch house in Kansas City to serve both Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan.

A large warehouse has been leased and arrangements made to begin business immediately. The Kansas City branch is the fourth opened by Omaha's Snow White bakery, the others being located at Lincoln, St. Joseph and Des Moines.

The Scott-Rawitzer Manufacturing company, local retail and wholesale dealers in tents and awnings, have extended their business operations by buying out the Gate City Tent and Awning company of this city.

The holdings that the Rawitzer family had previous to the death of Mr. Rawitzer were made the sole possession of the Scott firm.

Mr. Scott also has interest in tent and awning companies in St. Joseph, Mo., and Lincoln, Nebr., and is prominently identified with the National Tent and Awning Manufacturers' association, holding the position of chairman of the board of directors.

FINE SPECIMEN MEMORIAL ART

Kerr Monument at Hastings, State's Most Notable Example in Bronze and Granite

There has been erected in Parkview cemetery at Hastings, Nebraska, what the newspapers of that city claim is the finest and most expensive specimen of memorial art in the state. It consists of a monument of Balfour pink granite, quarried in North Carolina, the base of which is 12 1/2 by 5 1/2 feet, and a bronze figure in an alcove of the monument, depicting Sorrow. The Hastings Daily Tribune of December 12 gives a complete description of this work of art, which we cannot spare space in this issue of The Herald to reproduce in full, but a photogravure of it is printed in the advertisement of Kimball Brothers, a reference to which will give a slight idea of its beauty.

The statue and the granite monument in which it reposes represent the highest artistic ability and reflect great credit upon the talented designer, Fred L. Kimball of Lincoln, a sculptor of whom the state may well be proud.
