Hereafter all meals will be 35 cents, with an a la carte bill of fare, and the management will specialize on a Sunday dinner at this price. Rooms have all been refurnished and will be 50 cents,

75 cents and $1.00. The cafe is being entirely remodeled. A new front is being put in, and a circular counter will be installed as soon as the carpenter work is finished, together with other new fixtures. When finished it will have a seating capacity of twenty people. There has been no change in the ownership or management, the Lockwood's still remaining in charge.

THREE MORE SHOPLIFTERS

Night Marshal Kish Makes Arrests After Fistic Encounters—Meets All Comers

Night Marshal Kish was a busy man Tuesday. Early in the afternoon, while standing in his yard, he noticed a man walking down the street toward the Burlington yards with an excessively large bundle under his coat. Mr. Kish's curiosity was aroused, and he started out to stop the man. As he did so the man started to run, and as a natural result, Officer Kish "followed suit", and there was "some" foot race in progress at once. As they neared the yards, the officer overtook the fleeing man, and there was then a mighty encounter, in which Mr. Kish came out victorious. When his man had finally been quieted and had been made to understand that he was under arrest, the officer found that the unusual bundle was a full bolt of woolen dress goods. After the thief had been landed in jail, the bolt of goods was taken to the stores for identification, and it was found that it had been taken from E. C. McCluer's stock, presumably while the clerks were busy in the rear end of the store. They had no intimation that the goods were missing until it was returned. The shoplifter gave the name of George Davis, and he was presented with a sentence of thirty days in jail.

The same afternoon Officer Kish pulled off a similar stunt, but getting two instead of one. As in the first case he saw them while in his yard. A Herald reporter was talking to Mr. Kish at the time and saw him walk across the street and accost the two "gentlemen", and after a short but seemingly effective talk he took them by the arms and started for the police station. However, after they had gone a short distance they decided that the police station was no place for them and "balked", and the result was a two-against-one fight, in which the night marshal came out "on top" but with a badly bruised hand. These men had also visited the McCluer store, each taking a good hat. They were also given thirty day jail sentences. They gave the names of Ed Morris and Thomas Elliott.

Night Marshal Kish is fast gaining a reputation as a pugilist to fight shy of, and he takes them just as they come, whether he is matched against one or two.

Warrants at Light Office

Carter Calder, city clerk, advises The Herald that city warrants in payment of city claims will be paid at the electric light office in the city hall, beginning with this month. Under the laws governing a city of the first class, warrants cannot be paid until five days after being allowed.

This will make the warrants for claims allowed Tuesday evening payable next Monday morning, May 17. Another ruling is that all claims must be filed not less than twenty-four hours before a meeting of the council, in order that they may be properly listed and approved. The monthly reports of the light and water departments will probably run from the 7th of each month to the 7th of the succeeding month, in order that the reports may be complete and ready for presentation to the council at the regular meetings held on the second Tuesday of each month.

THE MASTER MOTORIST'S CHOICE

Glenn H. Curtiss could have bought any car in the world. He would not hesitate a minute to send abroad for the best car in the foreign market if he thought he could get a better car there than the Buick. Or, he could have the most expensive the American market affords if he desired.

But he passes them all for the sturdy, powerful, dependable Buick with the valve-in-head motor because he knows motor values. He knows from long study and experience that the valve-in-head motor, as he puts it, "is unquestionably superior in efficiency."

CURTISS—MOTORS
Buffalo, N. Y., April 3, 1915.
Buick Motor Co.,
1004 Main St.,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Gentlemen:

In accordance with your request for my opinion of the Six Cylinder Buick which I have just purchased, will say that I was first attracted by this machine owing to the valve-in-head construction of the motor which construction has proven in aeronautical practice to be unquestionably superior in efficiency to any other valve position.

I purchased the first car from your agent, Mr. Naylor, of San Diego, last fall. This car gave excellent service and showed great power and hill-climbing qualities. I found a ready sale for it upon coming East this spring and disposed of it to save the cost of transportation.

Upon looking about for immediate requirements, I could find nothing which presented as good value as this Buick with the valve-in-head motor, and accordingly have purchased the one just delivered.

Yours very truly,
GLENN H. CURTISS.

DON'T BE MISLED

The prospective purchaser of a motor car should never lose track of the fact that an automobile is a machine and that the real superiorities one car possesses over all others are mechanical superiorities.

Remember, that the Buick is mechanically right and at the same time has all the appointments found on other cars.

When the sturdy construction of a car is pointed to you, make sure whether this "sturdy construction" is guaranteed by drop forged steel, as in the Buick, or by cheaper and weaker malleable iron. Make sure that the car is built right beneath the floor boards.
