GOT STOLEN HORSE

Sheriff Cox Recovered Animal Taken from Scotty Henderson—in Possession of Irwin Bros.

Sheriff Cox went to Cheyenne, Wyo., Monday of last week upon word from Dwight Zediker that a horse which was stolen from Scotty Henderson two years ago was entered in the races at the Frontier Days celebration. The sheriff had a writ of replevin, and the horse is now in possession of Mr. Henderson.

About two years ago Geo. Williams who is supposed to be a horse trainer, made a deal with Mr. Henderson, who lives thirty-three miles west of town, whereby he was to race the horse over the country, paying all costs of upkeep and agreeing to divide the profits with Mr. Henderson. Williams started out soon afterward, but no Williams, profits or horse showed up.

Dwight Zediker knew the horse, and while at Cheyenne noticed the animal in several of the races. He immediately communicated with Mr. Henderson and Mr. Cox, and they started for Cheyenne by auto Monday of last week, going by way of Mr. Henderson's ranch. On their arrival in Cheyenne they went to the stables, and while several hundred feet away Mr. Henderson exclaimed, "There is my horse". He had seen the horse's head protruding from the barn window, and knew him immediately. Soon afterward the animal was in possession of the rightful owner.

It developed that Williams had sold the horse to Irwin Bros. two years ago, and it was still in their possession at Cheyenne, so they are the losers. This same horse was here two years ago at the Stockmen's Convention, at which time he raced. Several people noticed the animal in Irwin Bros. possession, but supposed Mr. Henderson had sold him to them. Mr. Henderson had owned the horse for six years previous to the date it was stolen, buying him when a two-year-old colt.

Dwight Zediker returned home with the horse Sunday evening, bringing with him the stolen animal. No trace of the thief could be found, and as it has been so long since the crime was committed that it is probable that he could not now be found. Although he has lost two years' use of the horse, Mr. Henderson is thankful to regain him. The animal is now ten years old, and when he appeared here at the Stockmen's Convention two years ago he took quite a bunch of the money. And furthermore Mr. Henderson has decided that the next time he lends his horse to a trainer—he won't.

Traveling Man's Experience

"In the summer of 1888 I had a very severe attack of cholera morbus. Two physicians worked over me from 4 a. m. to 6 p. m. without giving me any relief and then told me they did not expect me to live; that I had best telegraph for my family. Instead of doing so, I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and take no substitute. I took a double dose according to the directions and went to sleep after the second dose. At 5 o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping point, a well man but feeling rather shaky from the severity of the attack," writes H. W. Ireland, of Louisville, Ky. Obtainable everywhere.

MRS. LAYTON BOUND OVER

Believed Implicated in Murder of her Husband, Joseph Layton
A preliminary hearing was given Mrs. Joseph Layton Monday and Tuesday last week in Judge DeLaMatter's court at Scottsbluff, and, after hearing the evidence, which was virtually the same as was given at the coroner's inquest, and which was given in the Herald at that time, she was held to the district court without bail.

It is thought that Judge Hobart will call an extra session of court for the trying of this case, but this is not yet known, even though the daily papers have stated that he would. Jordan has tried three weeks ago. Mrs. Layton's testimony did not prove to be what was expected, as it was thought probable that she would implicate someone in the murder.

HARLE VS. HARLE

Lulu Harle Wants Divorce on Ground of Abandonment

Last week a divorce suit was filed in district court by Lulu B. Harle against William Harle, on the specific charge of abandonment. The Harles were married in Alliance on July 22, 1913. Immediately after the ceremony, the petition states, they went to Ottawa, Kansas, for a visit, and the trouble started about that time. The plaintiff states that on October 20, 1913, she returned to Alliance at the request of her husband. He did not return to Alliance later, as he had promised, but wrote her saying that he would pay half the costs if she would get a divorce. The petition further states that the plaintiff is firm in the belief that the defendant had another wife at the time of marrying her, and that she believes the defendant left her and went to live with the first wife. Mrs. Harle has lived in Alliance for the past fifteen years.

J. L. Williams, the real estate man, returned the latter part of last week from Wheatland, Wyoming, where he had accompanied two interested land buyers. Mr. Williams is agent for the irrigated land in the vicinity of Wheatland, and is interesting many people, not only in this, but in other parts of the state, in it. Arthur Feagins, who recently made the trip, says it is one of the greatest countries he has ever seen, and that it is a veritable garden spot. Wheatland is a half-day's ride from Alliance, and the fare is not quite nine dollars. Mr. Williams makes the trip nearly every week, taking from one to six buyers each time, and is making a number of sales.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted for over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Obtainable everywhere.

GROWTH OF A GREAT MARKET

at present about 4,000 cars ahead of St. Joseph, which was replaced.

Sioux City is in the heart of one of the richest and best agricultural and feeding sections of the country and thousands of cattle and sheep are purchased here every year and fattened for the market. The demand for feeding cattle is unusually broad. It has an unusually productive and fertile field from which to draw supplies and the growth of this market is a logical one. Very few shipments of stock are now "going through" to another market, and the increased supplies have come right out of territory that justly belongs to Sioux City.

The market has a large territory from which to draw and is destined to grow and expand. Prices are fully on a par with other centers and there is an active competitive demand for all classes of live stock at the Sioux City market.

The following table shows the receipts at the Sioux City market for the year 1915 up to July 24, compared with receipts for the like period of 1914:

	1915	1914	Increase
Cattle	244,274	190,373	53,901
Calves	8,351	9,889	*1,538
Hogs	1,160,383	773,519	386,864
Sheep	106,437	157,205	*50,778
Horses	14,184	6,281	7,903
Cars	28,274	20,175	8,099

GOING TO LIVE STOCK MARKET

this post mortem inspection, the meat of the animal is found fit for human food you will get market price, that is, the price per pound at which the animal or animals would sell; otherwise it is sent to the condemned tank and you can get only "condemned" price. In the case of pregnant animal or animals that have recently given birth to young, they are not allowed to be sold for slaughter, but may be sold under bureau regulations to be taken back to the country for use in dairying or breeding purposes. When this inspection system and its objects are thoroughly understood there will be little cause for objection to it on the part of farmers and stock raisers. When your stock has been fed, watered and sold, its last movement as your property begins. It is driven to the scales, and when once through the scale house, it is the property of the buyer. If it drops dead on the drive to the scales it is your loss; if it walks over the scales and then keels over, dead, it is the loss to the buyer. At all of the principal stock yards of the country a system of inspection is maintained. These systems are based upon agreements between regular buyers and commission men and may vary slightly at different yards, although in the main they are the same. The inspectors are the best men that can be obtained, are entirely disinterested, and are managed under a chief inspector with such extra assistance as is necessary.

The salary of the inspector is paid by an inspection fee of a few cents per car, and in all cases of doubt he is expected to give the owner or shipper the benefit of such doubt.

The federal authorities have inspectors at the scales who tag all animals that show any signs of disease, lumpy jaws, cripples or animals that are in an emaciated condition. These have to be sold subject to post mortem examination at the risk of the owner. The packer or other purchaser sustains the risk of post mortem examination on all stock except such as is tagged at the scales.

Having complied with the suggestions in the foregoing, there is little or no risk in shipping the products of your pastures and feed lots to the market. Once in the yards with your stock, let the commission man be your hired man. He will get your stock sold, delivered to the buyer and at the end of the transaction will, along with the check or draft, hand
