An exchange remarks that it seems rather strange that a newspaper should announce that a session of county court should be announced as closed to the public and the particulars then published in the newspapers. Perhaps it is well that the newspapers did not give much publicity to past sessions of the federal courts. In the opinion of some newspaper men, it doesn't matter what crime you commit, as long as you don't get found out, or if you reform (?) after you are found out.

Jack Tynan and family returned home Tuesday morning from an extended visit through the east with relatives and friends. While Mrs. Tynan was visiting at Akron, Ohio, Jack decided he would see how far east he could go. A few days later found him at New York and Coney Island, where he spent some days of solid enjoyment. Returning, he joined the family at Akron.
