About sixty electric lights have been placed on the building occupied by the Imperial theatre, the Alliance Electrical Works, and Ray's Flower Store. At night when all the lights are turned on, not only the front of the building, but all the adjacent buildings are illuminated in nice shape. The lights extend entirely across the top of the building and about half way down each side.

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Wright and Mrs. W. R. Drake departed Sunday to attend the Rebekah assembly which convened at Omaha Tuesday. This assembly is being held in conjunction with the Odd Fellows convention, which is in session in Omaha this week.

Mrs. J. Pattiochy departed Wednesday for Spearfish, S. D., for a few days' visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Walter Adams, of Milwaukee, Wis., is here this week visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. E. Cotant, and family.

Mrs. Agnes Dempster-Cunningham departed Monday for her home at Madison, Wis., after an extended visit here with friends. Mrs. Cunningham lived in Alliance about twenty-three years ago, and said her visit was a rare treat, not only because of her visit with her many old-time friends, but to witness the results of the many changes that have taken place in and around Alliance since she left.

Mrs. J. Carr went to Broken Mow Tuesday for a few days' visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. J. H. Mosier, with her cousin, Miss Ida Ryder, of Springfield, Ill., who is here visiting, spent Tuesday visiting with friends in Hot Springs.

SHEEP AND MEAT SHORTAGE

One Big Advantage is That Animals Yield Valuable By-Product in Wool—Multiply Rapidly.
There is a good basis for the belief recently expressed by Prof. Carlyle of Idaho that sheep will partly replace cattle and help to overcome the meat shortage. Sheep multiply more rapidly than cattle; there are more multiple births. One of the greatest drawbacks to the production of beef on high-priced land is that a cow must be kept a year for a calf.
Another advantage in favor of sheep is that they yield a valuable by-product, the wool, without having to be milked. That appeals to a good many farmers. For the consumption of roughage, the by-product of the farm, sheep are as well adapted as cattle.

Indeed, it is not difficult to believe that sheep will increase in the next ten years where cattle have been decreasing.

Great Scavengers.

Sheep are of great value in removing underbrush from a farm and in this respect their activity is excelled only by that of Angora goats. Given plenty of brush and grass, located in a region that is free from sheep diseases, where the animals are supplied sufficient fresh water and salt, the gains that they will make in six months will be quite astonishing. Of course where the largest gains are desired the sheep must be supplied with plenty of supplementary grain. The farmer who desires to feed sheep should preferably purchase western wethers or range sheep during a period when the market is right, so that he will be able to fatten the mutant-producers on a good margin of profit.

Chronic Constipation

"About two years ago when I began using Chamberlain's Tablets I had been suffering for some time with stomach trouble and chronic constipation. My condition improved rapidly through the use of these tablets. Since taking four or five bottles of them my health has been fine," writes Mrs. John Newton, Irving, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.
