HEALTHIEST FEED FOR HOGS

Clover and Grass, With Slightly Fermented Millfeed is Favored—Keep the Troughs Clean.

The cheapest and the healthiest feed for hogs is clover and grass, with slightly fermented millfeed and bran slop. One-half bushel of millfeed and the same quantity of bran mixed with 30 gallons of water, will make a thick slop. Have two barrels of slop if you have a herd of 15 to 20. They should have just what they can eat up clean at each meal—feeding twice a day.

Have two troughs, one for slop and one for water. Give them all the water they need every day. Give charcoal or wood-ashes, sulphur, and a little salt well mixed together.

Keep the pens and troughs clean—wash them out at least once a week with crude carbolic acid and water to kill disease germs. Wash the pigs once a month with soap suds, mix some wood alcohol in the water, rub dry, then spray with coal oil. This washing and greasing will kill the lice and cleanse the skin—a clean animal properly fed will keep in health and grow rapidly.

Have shade of some kind in pasture; hogs suffer from heat and must have shade during the days and a clean, dry pen to sleep in at night. Spring pigs intended for the winter market must be well fed. Clover is the cheapest food. For late summer and fall cut up corn and feed the entire stalk. Corn has the most food value when the ears on the stalk are just past the milk stage.

Hogs should not be kept in small pens; they need exercise, a change of food and a plentiful supply of fresh grass and clover. If kept in small pens keep pen and yard clean and dry.

A Sure Money Maker.

Your large quantities of inferior fruit or waste grain and vegetables which are not otherwise marketable. He will thus yield a profit on what might otherwise be wasted. The yearly increase in young pigs keeps the supply rapidly increasing from a small beginning. He is a lucrative investment.

The secret of success in farming, as in other industries, lies in finding a use for everything. There is no reason why such products as waste of the orchard should be thrown away. There is a use for everything on the farm, if the farmer will but seek until he finds it, and the hog is a great help in putting all sorts of food to a profitable use.

A certain modest man of our acquaintance will not pass a lumber yard in broad daylight for fear he may see the undressed lumber.
