WEDNESDAY A BIG DAY Over Four Hundred Delegates Regis tered at Crawford Before Midnight Tuesday

(By wire from Lloyd Thomas) The Burlington Hotel Company, Crawford, Neb., Wednesday mornrecently incorporated for $60,000. was sold last week to Jesse M. Miller. proprietor of the Alliance Hotel and Cafe. The deal was made through E. T. Kibble and was closed Saturday, when Mr. Kibble and Guy Lockwood, incorporators, sold their inthe terests in the company, including the building and grounds, to Mr. Miller. This transaction will postpone, for the time being, any continuation of the plans of the incorporators for the construction of a fine large hotel building on the present site, corner of First street and Box Butte avenue. However, Mr. Miller expects eventu-

President H. A. Graff, in his annud report, brought up the proposition of the joint tournament of the Nebraska and Iowa associations, proposed for Omaha during the coming summer, on the invitation of the Omaha Driving Club, which made an offer of four thousand dollars for prizes. Inasmuch as the Iowa and Nebraska tournament rules conflict the president stated that the two states would have to agree to follow one or the other. ICE CAUSES FATAL FALL

I. W. Castle, Brakeman, Slips under Car at Mullen-Dies on Special Enroute to Alliance

With both feet out off above the ankles and the left arm severed close to the shoulder, John W. Castle, a Burlington brakeman, died early yesterday morning as he was being rushed in a special train from Seneca to

Alliance. The freight train, of which D. W. Kenner was the conductor in charge and of which Castle was one of the crew, was picking up stock in the yards at Mullen soon after 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. They had backed in to load a car of hogs and were starting back when Castle as he threw the switch slipped on the ice and fell under the wheels of the Miss Opal Russell, democrat and train. He was picked up and hur-present incumbent, is the only can-didate filed to date for county super-medical care, but his condition was such that it was considered best to Death occurred when thirty-five minutes out of Seneca. This is said to be the first fainl accident to happen among the railroad employes in over two years this closeto Alliance on the Burlington lines, which shows that the "safety first" department, which is comparatively a. new idea, is obtaining splendid results from the special work they have been doing. the state. But to get back to the Alliance City Mission, which was established by the local W. C. T. U. and is being conducted under their auspices as a anion philanthropic and religious work. In deciding upon a series of evening services to be held at the mission this winter, two questions came up for solution, or rather one double question: How could the services be made absolutely nonsectarian and at the same time give those who conducted them the privilege of freely expressing their sentiments? A happy solution of the problem was decided upon. The pastors of the city churches were invited to take turns in conducting the services, each a week at a time. These services began Monday of last week and are held every night except Sunday.

It was intended, as at first planned, for Dean William Carson Shaw, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, to have charge of the services the first week, but owing to his illness it was necessary to make a change in the program. Accordingly Rev. Lewis McIntyre, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted the services last week, which were interesting but poorly attended, owing to the severely cold weather.

This week the services are in charge of Rev. A. A. Layton of the Baptist church. Owing to his inability to be present last evening, he invited J. W. Thomas to take charge of the service. Rev. J. B. Carns, pastor of the First M. E. church, will conduct the services next week, and Rev. H. J. Young, pastor of the Christian church, the week following. Further announcement will be made thru the city press as the meetings proceed. Since the weather has moderated somewhat, the attendance has increased, and it is hoped that before long the room will be filled at each service. It is intended to make the music a strong feature of the services. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. The services begin promptly at 8 p. m., in the mission room, 203 Box Butte avenue.

The committee appointed on cre-Blair, A. J. Sherley of Ord and State Secretary E. A. Miller of Kearney.

The question of continuation of the mutual aid insurance department was brought up and a meeting of this department will be held at 11 o'clock this morning. Discussion brought out the fact that only one hundred and six joined the department and that fifteen have lapsed.

Following the business session the delegates were entertained with music, both vocal and by the orchestra, and by Teddy Brothers of Omaha, who kept things screaming. The climax came when a Crawford fireman was brought on the stage, strapped to the board wall, while Senor Squinto outlined his figure with sharp butcher knives, and the fireman was carried from the stage nearly frightened to death.

Speech was made by John Cleland of Fremont, founder of the state association, and George Ule, the oldest Crawford fireman. A dance enterained the boys who wished to stay up late. The convention is orderly and the boys are enjoying themselves hugely.

pushed, urging that each department should act as a solicitor in order to get the larger portion of the ten thousand volunteer firemen in the state in as members of the insurance department.

The report of E. A. Miller, who has been state secretary for seventeen years, showed that the clerical work of the association is now getting very heavy and that if the insurance department continues to grow it will probably be necessary soon to em-ploy a stenographer. Mr. Miller urged that the president be given more authority and that the time of the payment of annual dues be fixed at an earlier date than at present, which is January 15.

John W. Guthrie of Alliance, who has an unusually clear and strong voice, read the reports and some of the papers. A paper on efficiency by F. B. Tobin of Sidney and another on the same subject by E. J. Brennan of dentials consisted of John McKay of the same department brought nuch applause and favorable comment. They urged greater co-operation with city officials and gave their definition of efficiency as nothing but zeal, courage and plenty of common sense in fire fighting.

The question of holding an annual memorial service was referred to the committee on constitution and rules.

A meeting of the mutual aid department was held at 11 o'clock. The report of the secretary showed one death during the year, that of Asa L. Thompson of Albion. The constitution of the mutual and department was changed to allow only active volunteer firemen and members of the state association to join, thereby eliminating the admission of aged volunteer firemen who hold exemption certificates.

At 1 o'clock the delegates were taken to Fort Robinson, where a reception was held by Colonel H. G. Sickel, commanding, music being band which is to tour the state of Nebraska during the coming summer. A unique feature of the entertainment was a coyote chase on the reservation, two large, wild coyotes being released ahead of a pack of wolf hounds, which soon ran them down. At the afternoon business session a telegram expressing sympathy was sent to Fred Alexander, forner treasurer, who is ill at his home in Scottsbluff.

Spirited discussion was indulged in by delegates over the proposition of allowing proxies for chiefs to become permanent members. The constitution does not allow this.

Resolutions of condolence were passed and ordered sent to the familles of William M. Gates of Sidney and A. L. Spencer of Albion, who

The business sessions of Thursday morning and afternoon and the banquet Thursday evening, at which Walter C. Rundin, the "fireman preacher", will preside, will conclude the work of the convention.

Harry J. Hauser, chief of the Fre mont department, Nebraska's most popular fireman, is much in evidence, as usual.
