Live Stock Sanitary Board

One of the Most Necessary and Efficient of All the Boards Operating Under the Nebraska State Government.

J. H. BULLA

President Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary Board, South Omaha, Nebraska

Personnel of the Board

Of all the boards and official positions filled by appointment of the governor of the state, the Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary Board occupies the position of most importance to the live stock interests. In making the appointment of members of this board, Governor Morehead has selected men of recognized ability who are rendering the stockmen of Nebraska valuable service in carefully and we think wisely looking after their interests. In the discharge of their duties some questions arise on which opinions differ as to the best course to pursue, but such matters are carefully considered and decided after being looked at from every viewpoint of the ranchmen and farmers, as well as others interested in the live stock industry.

The governor of the state is ex-officio head of the board. The other members, who are appointed by the governor, are: J. H. Bulla, South Omaha, who was recently re-appointed to the board and re-elected president of it; Dr. J. S. Anderson, Lincoln, state veterinarian and secretary of the board; Dr. C. A. McKim, Lincoln, assistant state veterinarian; H. C. Prichard, Falls City; John A. Berg, Pender; Alexander Burr, Pullman; L. W. Leonard, Pawnee City.

J. H. Bulla, president of the Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary Board, is a dealer in live stock at the South Omaha market. He is president of the Live Stock Traders' Exchange at that place, and also a candidate for the legislature, being one of the democratic nominees for state representative from Douglas county, a position which he has already filled with ability. His platform is brief, being one of the shortest that we have seen anywhere, and is as follows: "Do what the people want while in office."

Two new quarantine orders were recently issued by the Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary Board, that are of interest to the large majority of readers of this paper. One relates to the shipment of horses into the state, and the other of cattle, sheep and hogs from territory east of the Mississippi river. They are as follows:

Rules Governing Horses

Under authority conferred on the Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary Board by the laws of the state of Nebraska, this order is made to and hereby does revoke and supersede any and all orders which have heretofore been made or authorized by the board, and which are or may have been in conflict with this order.

It is hereby ordered that horses, mules and asses consigned to points in the state of Nebraska from any point or points within the United States, may enter the state of Nebraska without restriction, and it is further ordered that the rule of this board requiring physical inspection on horses, mules and asses entering this state is hereby revoked and no longer in force.

This order shall be in full force and effect from and after midnight of April 26, 1916, until revoked by order of this board.

(Signed) J. H. BULLA, President.
J. S. Anderson, Secretary.

Rules Covering Cattle, Hogs, Sheep

Under authority conferred on the Nebraska Live Stock Sanitary board by the laws of the state of Nebraska, this order is made to and hereby does revoke and supersede any and all orders which have heretofore been made or authorized by this board, and which are or may have been in conflict with this order.

It is hereby ordered that order known as quarantine order No. 13 of this board is hereby revoked and of no effect after this date.

It is further ordered that any and all orders prohibiting the importation of cattle, sheep, other ruminants and swine from territory east of the Mississippi river which have heretofore been prohibited entrance into the state of Nebraska are hereby revoked and such live stock may come into the state of Nebraska under rules promulgated and issued by this board and published by the Bureau of Animal Industry in bulletin issued December 11, 1915, known as "State
