A severe electrical storm in the middle west Tuesday night interrupted communication by telegraph from Chicago and other eastern points to Denver and other cities in this section, for several hours. The storm was particularly severe in the neighborhood of McCook, where considerable damage was done.

Mrs. Cecil Keester, of North Yakima, Wash., stopped off at Alliance Sunday between trains en route to Bingham, where she will visit her parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Beck. Mr. Keester has been in North Yakima in Y. M. C. A. work for the past three years and has accepted a similar position in Superior, Wis., where Mrs. Keester will join him after a short visit at Bingham and in Iowa. Mrs. Keester was more familiarly known as Inez Beck.

T. J. Lawrence was in town today from his farm nine miles northeast. He brought some samples of the corn and potatoes he raised this season and the fair exhibitors will have to go some if they show products that are any better. Mr. Lawrence had six ears of corn that was picked at random from a field of 20 acres. This corn is well filled and the ears large and uniform in size. He had samples of potatoes from a field of 24 acres. The potato crop this year will be somewhat short because of the dry weather but still there will be a probable average yield of 60 bushels to the acre and the quality this season is even better than the average high quality of the noted Box Butte county product. There are very few small potatoes this season all of the tubers having developed in grand style.

MISTAKE IN SPELLING
Matt Malone, Popular Cattle Salesman, Has Not Changed His Name and Sull on the Job

How aggravating type is anyhow when the proof reader fails to do his duty in reading the stuff that's printed in a newspaper. Our apologies are due Snyder-Malone-Coffman Co., prominent live stock commission men of Omaha, on account of a typographical error appearing in their advertisement which has been running in this paper the last few weeks, two mistakes in fact which we wish to correct.

The initials of L. R. Guerin have been printed as C. R., but the worst mistake was that of changing the name of Matt Malone to Mart Malone. We do not know whether there is a Mart Malone or not, but we know that Matt Malone who has been doing business on the South Omaha market as a head cattle salesman for the last seventeen years is still on the job.

Matt Malone is known all over the west as a successful cattle salesman and has an unexcelled record and reputation as such. We do not want any of the readers of this paper to get the idea, because of a typographical error, that he is not on the job yet, hence this correction and explanation.

Railroad Notes

J. T. Emerson, of Omaha, the new roadmaster on the Alliance division, came from Omaha Tuesday.

R. E. Gavin, a brother of A. V. Gavin, stopped off Monday between trains on his return to Omaha from a business trip to Scottsbluff.

James Callender, operator, has come to Halsey to take the place of R. E. Spradling, the regular operator who is taking a vacation.

R. E. Spradling, operator at Halsey, left last night for Denver where he will spend his vacation. On his return he will bring Mrs. Spradling with him.

Dispatcher R. V. Cox is taking a layoff. Mr. and Mrs. Cox and their little daughter will visit with relatives at Broken Bow, Deadwood and Kansas City.

J. B. Kennedy, agent at Ellsworth, has taken a layoff and will take his son to Spaulding where the lad will attend school. Mr. Kennedy's place at Ellsworth is filled by Operator S. E. Stewart.

Tuesday evening during the electrical storm, Yardmaster A. D. Snow's house at Seneca was struck. His wife and five children were in the house at the time but none of them were injured.

There has been quite a change on the Alliance division in roadmasters. C. N. Johnston of Broken Bow was transferred to Lincoln division to take charge of the place vacated by C. Emerson. Mr. Hoenshell takes Mr. Johnston's place at Broken Bow and Mr. Gilmore, the place of Mr. Hoenshell at Alliance, while Mr. Emerson takes charge of the place vacated by Mr. Gilmore. The change took place September 1. This puts Mr. Johnston's headquarters at Lincoln, where he will move with his family on account of having two children in school, a boy in the university and a girl in high school.

W. F. Thiehoff, assistant general manager of Omaha, and Mr. Young, general superintendent, of Alliance, made an inspection trip over the district, leaving Alliance Tuesday morning with the inspection engine. Mr. Weidenhamer accompanied them as far as Edgemont, returning on No. 42 Tuesday night, going on to Broken Bow and returning on No. 43 to Alliance Wednesday noon.

F. A. Hively went to Casper Saturday on company business, returning Sunday night.

R. W. Haines, claim agent, of Billings, is in Alliance on business.

Society Col.

Mrs. F. A. Hively very nicely entertained a number of her friends Wednesday afternoon at an afternoon luncheon, in honor of Mrs. Coorhies of Fairfield, Iowa.

Frank Foster and Eleanor Rush, both of Sterling, Colo., were married at the M. E. parsonage on September 6. Rev. J. B. Carns officiating.

Thursday evening at the home of J. W. Becknell, Miss Dorothy entertained the M. Y. O. B. Club in honor of Irene Schnellbocker of Omaha, who has been spending a few days here. The guests were Misses Della Holsten, Edith Reddish, Helen Rice, Thelma Fitzpatrick, Martha Shaw and Grace Carlson.

Mesdames Shaw, Holsten, Was, Drake, and Misses Della Holsten and Helen Rice entertained the ladies and friends of the Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon at a 1:30 birthday luncheon. The guests were seated at tables bearing the month of their birthday, each month of the year having different decorations, which were very effective and beautiful. The guests also left an envelope with as many pennies as they were years old, which went as a benefit to the society.

A pleasant picnic party occurred last evening when twenty-four young people made a trip to the grove north of town. The event was in honor of Professor S. L. Clements, who is in Alliance visiting friends, before going to Chadron, where he is employed to teach in the state normal. The party met at the home of Miss Laura Mounts at 6:30 o'clock, being taken to their destination in half a dozen cars. After a camp fire was started the picnic dinner was enjoyed, after which marshmallows were toasted and various games were indulged in. On returning home the party agreed that the best time for an automobile trip was not the day after a hard rain—especially if the cars are heavily loaded. Those in the party were: Misses Izola Worley, Mable Worley, Ethel Graham, May Graham, Margaret Carmichael, Ruth Rice, Hattie Renswood, Adah Hawkins, Laura Mounts, Alta Young, Avis Joder, and Mrs. Carl Thomas, and Messrs. Shannon, Smith, Thomas, McCorkle, Black, Clements, Spacht, Truman, Drake, Myers, Stockdale, Kronvall.

Mrs. J. G. Dole and Mrs. W. R. Pate elaborately entertained at a 1:30 o'clock luncheon last Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. G. Dole. The house was beautifully decorated in yellow and white and the same color scheme was carried out with the luncheon. A very enjoyable course of entertainment was pursued. The guests were: Mesdames Pate, Coleman, Alter, Arnold, Crawford, M. M. Reynolds, Hodgen, A. R. Reynolds, Gaddis, Kuhn, Lester, Lunn, Show, Tiller, C. M. Mc-

Donald, Root, Was, Shaw, Roy Gregg, Luttrell, Mahaffy, Patmore, Timmell, Walker, Holliet, Armour, Sallows, C. C. Smith, W. E. Spencer, Davenport, F. Campbell, Idettein, H. J. Ellis, Frankie, H. A. Hamilton, Hively, Morrow, Rumer, W. T. Spencer, Weidenhamer, George Gaddis, Maxwell, Layton, McIntyre, H. J. Young, Basye, McClung. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. McClung of Heringford, and the Misses Elva Hamilton, Cynthia Davenport, Marie Kibble, and Beatrice Pate.
