

TRACTION ENGINES SET FIRES
One or two reports of fires started by threshing traction engines have been received already. Too much care cannot be exercised by crews driving about over the country for everything is as dry as tinder just now and a fire breaking out where grass is high will be mighty hard to get under control.—Enterprise Enterprise.

COMING TO GOD'S COUNTRY
The Omaha World-Herald tells an interesting story in a late issue, about the way in which western Nebraska is settling up. Part of the article is as follows:

The western Nebraska country is forging to the front and being settled up probably as rapidly, if not even faster, than any other section of the West, today.

Statistics just made public by the immigration bureau of the Burlington railroad at Omaha show that during the last twelve months nearly 5,000 families, aggregating 20,000 individuals, moved into the towns along the Alliance, Sheridan, Casper, Sterling and McCook divisions of that railroad. Figures for the immigration to Union Pacific and Northwestern towns in the same territory are not available, but probably almost as many settlers went into towns served by these roads as went to Burlington stations. This survey only covers the eastern edges of Wyoming and Colorado, districts which look to Nebraska, rather than to their own commonwealths for their trade and business. The higher priced land district of eastern Nebraska, similarly, is untouched by the survey.

Any district that can attract a new population of this size in the space of twelve months certainly must have "the goods"—and that country is "there and over."

CHOLERA DEVASTATES HERD
During the past week Jack Tscherner has had the misfortune to lose a large number of very fine hogs from cholera. About a week or ten days ago the hogs began to get sick and die, and after a number of them had died Mr. Tscherner suspected that they had some contagious disease. County Agent Unruh was called to investigate and learned that it was cholera. The hogs still living have been vaccinated and all of the dead hogs burned. Every precaution is being taken by the county agent and the owner to prevent the spread of the disease. Mr. Tscherner thinks that the disease was contracted from feeding some eastern corn that was shipped in.—Chadron Journal.

ST. JOE FEEDER SHOW

Second Annual Stocker and Feeder Show Will be Held Sept. 28 and 29, with $2,000 Premiums

The second annual stocker and feeder show to be held September 28 and 29 at the St. Joseph, Mo., stock yards promises well to eclipse the event held a year ago.

The premiums offered of $2,000 serve to attract owners of the best herds of good cattle to place on sale at that time one or more cars of their cattle not alone for the premiums but to obtain the advantage of the competitive bidding of the feeders. The sale last year was well attended by buyers of the central west as well as from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and the supply of cattle offered did not equal the demand. The stock was auctioned by the celebrated P. M. Gross, who probably is the best in his class. Mr. Gross will serve in the same capacity this year.

Considerable depends on the judging and this is again in competent hands, the following well known feeders consenting to serve: A. W. Bragg, Tuscola, Ill.; Oliver Chandler, Fort Collins, Colo.; and E. S. Reeves of Hamburg, Iowa.

Entries have already been received which assure a good number of animals to select from. The reputation gained by some of the cattle exhibited and sold last year has been very gratifying to both exhibitor and feeder; one load sold in Chicago in May brought the highest price of any cattle except for Christmas cattle up to the day they were sold, and another load was topers in August. These are not exceptions, but indicate the class and quality of cattle to be found at the Feeder Show last year and again on September 28 and 29.

PLURAL WIVES PULLED LEGS
Salt Lake City, Sept. 14—Sixteen applicants for enlistment, whose right legs were longer than their port side members, were rejected at the local recruiting station of the United States Marine corps, during the month of August, according to Sergeant Frank R. Buseh, the non-commissioned officer in charge.

"I take no stock in the theory that it is a hereditary affliction with a Salt Lake locale," said Marine Sergeant Buseh today, "but it is a peculiar fact that very many males of this city have starboard gambs longer than their left ones. One explanation is that the male forbears of this younger generation had their legs pulled so often and hard by their plural wives during the spring bonnet season that the offspring has been marked with a list a-port."
