ANOTHER WAGE RAISE FOR RAIL EMPLOYEES

Second Raise of Ten Per Cent in Wages Given to Skilled Labor on Burlington Railroad

Local railroad authorities were both surprised and pleased when on Monday of this week the word was received from the proper source that another increase of practically ten per cent had been granted to certain classes of employees of the Burlington, taking effect on July 1. This increase affects only machinists, and their helpers, boiler makers and helpers, and car repairers and helpers. It also affects pipe fitters and pipe fitter helpers.
 It has only been a couple of months since practically all employees received a ten-per cent increase in wages and this second increase while affecting only a comparatively few, is a substantial one, and only goes another step further in the prosecution of the modern idea of live and let live.
 The railroads are doing an enormous business—the last report of the State Railway Commission showing a business profit increase far above any in the past and with every prospect that present prosperity of the roads would continue. The railroad authorities realize that to their loyal employees, who make this possible, is due a large part of the credit, and are willing to show that realization by this added substantial increase in wage.
 With this increase in pay coming at this time, and beginning next month all men will be paid semi-monthly, it seems certain that the railroad man has accomplished much towards conquering that omnipotent monster—the high cost of living.

ASSOCIATION CHANGED NAME
 People often call the Stock Growers Association by its old name, "The Western Nebraska Cattle Raisers Association." The association was first organized about twenty-four years ago under the above name, but when re-organized in later years was named, "The Nebraska Stock Growers Association," its present title. The Herald will in later issues publish some interesting stories regarding the early days of the association and telling of early members, many of whom have gone to the "rings in the Great Beyond."

STOCKMENS REUNION MADE GOOD MONEY

Balance of Nearly Five Hundred Dollars Goes to Box Butte County Fair Association

The following statement of the financial outcome of the Stockmen's Reunion has been rendered by Secretary Bushnell of the Alliance Commercial Club:
 Receipts at fair grounds, $3,241.97
 Expenses, 3,238.32
 Balance, $3.65
 Receipts from carnival and street concessions, $806.75
 Expenses, 317.25
 Balance, $489.50
 It is expected that the surplus of $493.15 from the reunion will go to the treasury of the Box Butte County Fair Association for the use of the fair grounds. From this will probably be deducted the permanent improvement expenses paid by the commercial club. It should be remembered that these receipts do not include donations of any kind from the commercial club or private parties.

JUDGE TASH HANDS OVER $500 TO SCHOOL FUND

The county school fund has been swelled $500 so far this year over what was expected, with the prospects very good for more to be contributed in the future. So far this year County Judge Ira E. Tash has collected $500 in fines. The fines collected go to the credit of the school fund and have been turned over to County Treasurer Irish by the judge. The judge seems to be a great believer in the schools and never loses a legitimate opportunity to do his part to increase the balance to the credit of the county school funds.

THE OLD FASHIONED GIRLS IN PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

THIS CHARMING COMPANY IN AN APPROPRIATE PATRIOTIC PROGRAM, RENDERING SONGS AND STORIES OF THE 60'S.

THE OLD FASHIONED GIRLS.
 With their patriotic program, is more timely than we dreamed it could be when we engaged this company more than nine months ago. We are led to inquire: "Have years of peace, unparalleled business development, a mad rush for pleasure, dulled the patriotic spirit of our America? Are we modern Americans any less patriotic than our forefathers? Bess Gearhart Morrison thinks not and to prove her point has presented a musical company to the public—The Old Fashioned Girls.
 These girls, charming in hoopskirts, hand mitts, curls and "bunnets," sweep in to the strains of Gone are the days that to me were so dear,
 Long, long ago,
 and instantly the rush, the cares, the sweep of these days are charmed away by the quaint pictures which throng the mind. You lean back and seem to sniff "Sweet Lavender" as the violin and low veiled cello sing of "Robin Adair" and "Annie Laurie." You see a dear old couple smile shyly at each other as their lips form the words of "Seeing Nellie Home."
 Suddenly you hear:
 Yes, we'll rally round the flag, boys,
 We'll rally once again
 Shouting the battle cry of freedom, and you start forward with a catch in your breath! From hill, from plain, from farmyard and pulpit you see them, those boys of the sixties, hurrying to rally around their flag. Then the air changes. You are with Sherman, "Marching Through Georgia," and you find your head swaying and your heart and feet beating time "Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching!" Oh, the tender grip of that old chant! Our boys, the pick of the land, thousands of them, dusty, tired, hungry, unconquerable. You hear a queer sound, and an old soldier near you is laughing even while the unnumbered tears drop down on his wrinkled hands—hands which for three years bore a musket for Old Glory.
 "We shall meet—but we shall miss him." Ah, that was the pity of it! The tense silence about you tells that the heartache of that exquisite old song has gone home. Then you see thousands and thousands of the "boys" sweeping past the tall, gaunt figure of Abraham Lincoln, down the avenues of Washington, to the lively strains of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

 Have you been worried by what seemed the lack of patriotism among our people? Look! Softly, but gradually growing in volume and majesty, rolls forth—
 'Tis the Star Spangled Banner!
 Oh, long may it wave,
 Violin, trombone, piano and flute throb with your pulse and make you willing—nay, glad—to give your life if necessary to keep our beautiful flag
 O'er the land of the free
 And the home of the brave.
 With choked breath and moist eyes you stand through the stately anthem to which all true American heads are bowed. You turn, and on every face you see the look—the look which tells you that patriotism lives and that close beneath the surface burns the fire which needs but the touch of danger or inspiration to fan it into flame. You lift your hand and your soul in a salute to your flag, and with a last glimpse of The Old Fashioned Girls you feel that your hour with "Stories and Songs of the Sixties" will always linger in your heart.
