A picture of President Woodrow Wilson should have a place in every home and office thruout the land. The Alliance Herald is going to furnish every subscriber who makes a payment on subscription of a year or more a handsome and

This portrait was made by Harrison & Ewing, the best photographers at Washington, D. C. It is beautifully printed in natural colors with double patriotic border and just below the picture is his autographic signature and an extract taken from his Declaration delivered at Washington on April 2, 1917.

The small picture printed herewith gives but a faint idea of the beauty of the photo. The card on which the picture is mounted is 121/2x18 inches in size. The photo is magnificent. The mount is a stiff cardboard and suitable for framing. We will deliver one to your address with a payment of $1.50 for a year's subscription, either new or renewal. The supply is limited. GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Bat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble—Salts fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites quarries located on their ranch he and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you his own quarries, but he has other relieve your bowels; removing all the specimens from different parts of acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dixziness, your stomach sours, tongue is the time, talent, and finances he has coated and when the weather is bad you expended in pursuing his favorite have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, com-bined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a lelightful effervescent lithia-

Soon after this, and at least twentyfive years before the deposits were first described and given to the scientific world, he took many people to this spot to get specimens of fossil bone and teeth. He had spent much time in the western fields with Professors Cope, Marsh, Hayden and King. This led him in 1891 to report these bone deposits to the University of Nebraska. This "find" led ultimately to the development of one of the greatest bone beds known. It has supplied many missing links, both genetic and geologic.

It has produced and is still producing quantities of finely preserved mammalian bones, and is supplying Paleontological lists with many important genera in species.

One-half mile south of the Niobrara river, and four miles east of Agate, Nebr., are located the Agate Spring quarries, to which reference has been made. These quarries are situated in two rounded buttes In the lower Harrison beds, some sixty feet below the top of the formation. The fossil bed extends through these hills at about this level, and the fossil-bearing horizon may be traced for several miles, especially to the north and west. This bed is largely char acterized by gray or white matrix. composed of varying quantities of sand and clay cemented by calcium carbonate. At practically no place does the bone horizon exceed three feet. Throughout, it shows very largely the effects of stream action, with eddies here and there, and the effects of comparatively still water. Whether long or short, the time occupied in building up the two-foot stratum, forming this bone horizon, was a period excessively destructive to animal life in this region, or else it was peculiarly favorable for the preservation of animal remains.

At the Cook ranch home the vis itor may feast his eye on the best collections of Indian relies and prehistoric fossils that there are in the state and we go further in saying that there would be few collections in the world that would equal, let ARMY DESERTER IS atone surpass, them. Captain Cook, during his time in the west, has devoted his spare time to a rfudy of the Indian and his knowledge is far and wide in relation to the red man. Here at his ranch such noted chiefs as Red Cloud, American Horse and Jack Red Cloud have spent many summers. They look upon Captain Cook as a good true friend and their presents to him in the shape of beaded work and other work have been many and beautiful. No one could ask for more profitable half day's time than going through his collection. And the gracious manner in which he displays his prize relies to the visitor cannot help but make one feel that here is a man who has lived INTERNATIONAL to better the welfare of mankind. He is one of the few remaining early settlers and his magnificent ranch stands out as an example of thrift and toil. Harold, his son, is a widely-known man, being affiliated with his father on the ranch. He perfected himself as a student of Paleontology and has spent several years at Lincoln and New York City pur-

SENNACHERIB IN JUDAH.

LESSON TEXT-II Kings 19:20-22, 28-37. GOLDEN TEXT-God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.— Psa. 46:1.

Last week's lesson was a great picture of the reform of the nation. Today we have another picture which needs to be carefully put before the children. It is a national picture of a ruler and the invasion of his country. In reality it reveals the principles which are the same today, and which affect the lives of boys and girls as well as men; the dangers, temptations, the need of prayer, the need of a life of faith in God, the care of a heavenly father, deliverance and victory. It is a great thing for any nation or any Individual to have such a marvelous experience of God's salvation. It occurred probably B. C. 701, the latter part of Hezekiah's reign. Assyria on the north was enlarging its borders and seeking to overcome Judea. Read parallel accounts in II Kings 18; II Chron, 32 and Isa, 36:37. We have on the Taylor cylinder an account by Sennacherib of the victory over Hezekiah, found in Nineveh in 1830 and now in the British nuseum.

I. The Situation. When the great Sargon died at Nineveh, the Syrian governments sought to assert their independence. It was a good time for Hezekiah also to assert his independence. Accordingly they refused to pay the customary tribute to Assyria. For a time Sennacherib was too busy attending to other portions of the empire to pay much attention to the city of Jerusalem. Later, however, he subdued the cities on the coast and threatened Egypt itself.

II. The Supplication (vv. 20-22). God does things because we pray. There was more power in Hezekiah's prayer than there was in his army. Through his prayers he laid 185,000 of his enemies in the grave. Hezekiah's God saved his people out of the hand of Sennacherib (v. 19), God did it. One great reason why he heard Hezekiah's prayer was because it was for God's own glory that Hezekiah asked (v. 19). One great reason why so many of our prayers are not answered is because they are selfish-seeking our own gratification and not God's honor (James 4:3 R. W.). Rending his clothes and putting on sackcloth, Hezekiah went to the house of God while his messengers sought out the prophet Isaiah. From II Chron, 32:20 we find that Isalah joined with Hezekiah in his earnest prayer (Matt. 18:19, 20). thus the king and prophet worked a well as prayed. They showed their faith by their work (James 2:17, 18) At the same time they waited upon God for an answer, not because God was unwilling to bestow good things, or must be importuned, but that his gifts may bring the greater benefit. He sometimes delays his answer. thereby fitting us to receive them because of the intensity of our desire and to appreciate the things he has to bestow. God is as ready to say to us as to Hezekiah, "Thy prayer is heard," If we will not meet the conditions of prevailing prayer (I John 3:22; I John 5:14; Rom. 8:26.27).

III. God's Glorious Deliverance (vv. 23-37). God permitted the Assyrians to attack and they thus imagined they were having their own will and could do as they pleased, but when his "rod" had done its work, they found the difference. The God against whom they raved guided them as with a "bridle" and turned them back to Assyria. Sennacherib considered himself more than a match for God (Ch. 18:23-25) but had to return like a conquered beast of burden with God's "hook" in his nose and bridle on his lips. God allows the enemies of his people to go a certain length in order that his people may be humbled and seek him. Then he puts forth his hand and says, "This far and no further." Jehovah gives us the same promise he gave Hezekiah, "I will defend this city." Is not the city of Jerusalem that God defends more safe than a city defended by an army? (Psa. 46:5, 6; 27:1). God had promised David that his kingdom should not perish, for in it lay the hope of the world and his plans for the redemption of mankind. Not because of the people did God defend the city, but because of his oath. This is a most dramatic picture, the mysterious destruction of the Assyrian army (vv. 35, 36). The lord sent his angel, literally his "messenger," who applied his own plan for the accomplishment of his purpose.

There is a sort of a grim irony in the ending of Semmcherib's career. He who had so defiantly asked, "Who are they among all the gods of the country that have delivered their country out of mine hand," is led back to the house of his own god whom he imagines to be so potent to worship and in that very presence is slain by the hands of one of his own sons. The importance of this event is shown by the fact that it is referred to in three books of the Bible and probably referred to another, occupying seven or eight chapters besides being recorded on the great 15-tf-6727 cylinder to which reference is made.
