

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Looks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Brief War Comment

Germany's seventh war loan may at least demonstrate how much blood can be squeezed out of a withering turp.

Ever expect to phrase-making, Colonel Roosevelt has fully sustained his reputation with "the Hun within our gates."

To think that it was in Philadelphia's "bloody fifth" ward that the Declaration of Independence was signed 141 years ago.

The names of the arrested I. W. W. leaders confirm the assertion that most of the members are of German or Austrian birth.

Professor Wm. A. Schaper has four nephews in the American army and "first cousins" in the Kaiser's forces, but, although born in this country, he confessedly stands by his cousins rather than by his nephews. No wonder his sixteen years' service has not prevented his expulsion from the University of Minnesota.

Let those who complain of war's costs think a moment of the tribute that would have to be paid to a German army in triumphant occupation of the cities of the Atlantic seaboard. Rich and poor alike would be squeezed to the limit.

Every citizen who buys a Liberty bond whacks the near-traitors and masked foes in our midst as well as sends the right kind of a message to the center of German militarism that has been felicitously described as "Potsdamnation."

A Texas Judge has named six Senators of the United States who, he says, "ought to be lined up against an adobe wall and shot." This ought to be enough to make even those six Senators sit up and take notice.

The 166 leaders of I. W. W. who have been jailed for nation-wide conspiracy to hamper the government in the prosecution of the war can no longer deny that the initial letters of their organization stand for "I Won't Work Unless I Work for Wilhelm."

Von Tzipaz is sure that the submarines will never permit the transportation of an American army to Europe. But he was even more confident the same piratical craft would bring Great Britain to her knees within five weeks.

Evidently there is nothing serious the matter with Wisconsin, after all. Its Republican state central committee, with two exceptions, calls for the expulsion of La Follette from the Senate of the United States.

"Germany," writes Sir Edward Gray in a preface to a collection of President's Wilson's state papers, "can not get peace except on conditions that the United States may consider essential to its own interests and to the future peace and freedom of the world." That is precisely the situation, and Germany has only herself to blame.
