Inheritance of American Youth.
 Let the American youth never forget that they possess a noble inheritance, bought by the toils and sufferings and blood of their ancestors; and capable, if wisely improved and faithfully guarded, of transmitting to their latest posterity all the substantial blessings of life, the peaceful enjoyment of liberty, property, religion and independence.—Justice Joseph Story.

WILL PROSPECT FOR GOLD IN AIRPLANE

Arizona Woman Plans Job That Is Quite Out of the Ordinary.

New York.—Prospecting for gold by airplane is a job quite out of the ordinary, but that is what Mrs. Frances K. Dyas is going to try.

Mrs. Dyas lives in Prescott, Ariz., and she holds the record of having been the first woman in the state to obtain a license as a stock broker. She was able to get the license because of her maxim that woman can do anything she wants to, provided she makes up her mind to do it.

"I came to New York," she said, "to interest folks in several propositions, and after I had been here a while I saw the first airplane I had ever seen in my life. This caused me to wonder whether I couldn't fly one and whether it wouldn't be practicable to use it in flying over the mountains where I know ore is to be found.

"The mountains I have particular reference to are the Bradshaw range, 80 miles across a big desert and full of rich gold ore. It has, however, never been gone over because of its inaccessibility, and this I hope to remedy by means of an airplane. Ore brought back by Indians from this range has been assayed at $1,000 a ton.

"You see," Mrs. Dyas continued, "the desert is of sand, in which you sink to your knees. It has been almost impossible to carry supplies across it. But I am sure the airplane idea will prove practicable."

HERE'S DOUBLE BIGAMY WITH PECULIAR TWIST

Rome, Ga.—Double weddings, bigamy, divorce and convictions were almost inextricably mixed in the testimony brought out in the divorce suits filed by Mrs. J. H. Teems and Mrs. M. B. Teems, sisters, from their husbands, who were brothers. The couples were married at a double wedding in 1908. Four years later the brothers left their wives to go West. In Colorado they again met, wooed, and married sisters, without having obtained divorces from sisters No. 1. Then followed a sentence of two years for bigamy and application of wives No. 1 for divorces, which were granted.

SAYS CAT THEFT IS CRIME

Chicago Man Is Fined for Selling Feline to Medical Research Men.

Chicago.—Fellinus pestiferous is the variety of cat most recently studied by the medical research men at the University of Chicago.

The university obtained this species from Peter Kerrigan, who, in turn, hired four boys to catch cats at 15 cents per cat. And did these kids catch cats? They got everything that could say "Mur-row," including a prize angora belonging to Edwin Kirkbride.

Kerrigan was fined $10 and costs for this, although the defendant mopped his brow and said: "I never thought they'd steal cats—I just wanted the stray ones."

TOTS TRAPPED IN A CLOSET

Youngsters, Lost From Home Are Found in Cupboard of a Deserted House.

Clinton, Wis.—After more than 100 citizens of this and adjoining towns had searched for a day for two children of Alfred Yandry, the father found them in the cupboard of a deserted house near his home. The cupboard had been built in a small closet, enclosed by a door.

Willie Yandry, aged five, was dead. His little sister, Beatrice, aged three, was asleep on a shelf above where the boy's body lay. A crack in the door had admitted enough air to keep her alive. A spring lock had fastened them in.

IRENE MCKEE MARRIES ALLIANCE SOLDIER BOY

Kimball Nebr., February 14—Friends in Kimball and Banner counties will be pleased to learn of the happy marriage of Miss Irene Beatrice McKee to Frank A. Rumer of Alliance. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents in Denver, February 7th. Miss McKee has established a reputation as a musician that has made her very popular among the people of this part of the state. During her stay here last summer she gave several entertainments in Western Nebraska towns for the benefit of the Red Cross. Mr. Rumer is a member of the aviation corps and expects to leave for France. After his return they will make their home in Alliance. The following is from the Denver Rocky Mountain News:

"A pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. McKee, 124 West Third avenue, when Miss Irene McKee became the bride of Frank A. Rumer of Alliance Nebr. The Rev. Charles L. Mead performed the ceremony before a small gathering of friends and relatives and there were no attendants. The rooms were decorated in pink and white blossoms and palms and ferns. Miss Agnes Bennett played the Lohengrin wedding march. The bride wore a pretty gown of white crepe de chine and embroidered white crepe de chine and embroidered chiffon made into a draped skirt which was caught up with silver roses Silver lace and embroidered chiffon formed the bodice. Her veil was fastened to her hair with lilies of the valley and fell to the hem of her skirt. She carried a shower bouquet of pink and white roses and white sweet peas. A small reception followed the wedding, after which the young folks left for a tour of the state. Mr. Rumer, who is a member of the aviation corps, will leave soon for Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. William Rumer of Alliance, Neb., the bridegroom's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hierly of Nebraska were here for the wedding."—Western Nebraska Observer.

Young Man Trained Down By Blood Hounds Declares Citizens Had Hired Him To "Get Other Man"

A rather peculiar affair, so far as ultimate developments are concerned and one in which the excellent work of the Scottsbluff bloodhounds was a prominent factor, came to light west of this city last Tuesday. Word was received in this city early that morning that a stack of hay containing approximately 70 tons and the property of Joseph Sturdevant, residing on Sheep Creek, eighteen miles north of Henry had been burned. The blood hounds were requested and chief of Police Martin, accompanied by Cliff DeMott left shortly after four o'clock for the scene.

The dogs immediately took the trail made by a horseback rider and followed it unerringly for several miles, passing to the south in a long circle around neighboring farms and finally arriving at the home of J. G. Hill, who lives just across the line in Wyoming. A young man, the son of Mr. Hill and aged about 22 years was questioned as to reference to his whereabouts at the time of the fire and stated that he was at the home of neighbors. Chief Martin suggested that he call the Sheriff or that the young man accompany him to Torrington, to the latter request he speedily assented.

On the arrival at Torrington the party went to the office of the Sheriff, where after some questioning the young man "came through" admitting that he had set fire to the hay and then rode in the roundabout way as followed by the dogs, stopping at the homes of neighbors and with them watching the fire. He was questioned as to his purpose in committing such an act and at this point the startling portion of the matter came a light.

According to Chief Martin, young Hill, who was in some trouble several months ago, due to a shooting affair, stated that Sturdevant had agreed to give him the sum of fifty dollars if he would get a certain man "out of the way." A short time later the shooting, the cause of which had up until this time been rather mysterious until the young man's statement was made, took place in the endeavor on Hill's part, so he averred, to carry out his part of the contract. He stated that Sturdevant gave him five dollars while he was in jail and later sent him twenty dollars. The young man stated that he had several times approached Sturdevant for the payment of the remaining twenty five dollars, but that Sturdevant refused, stating that he would pay the balance "any time he would finish the job" and finally decided he would burn the hay for revenge.

In view of these rather startling allegations, the eldest Hill, his son and Sturdevant held a consultation at the close of which Hill agreed to pay Sturdevant $800 for the hay and the matter of further prosecution stopped.—Scottsbluff Star-Herald.
