Another Good Chance For an Irrigated Farm

Write me soon about your chances of getting hold of a Government-irrigated farm this Autumn in the new 12,000-acre irrigated tract near Deaver, Wyo., along the Burlington's main line through the Big Horn Basin.

The whole tract is right next to the prosperous Government-irrigated locality at Powell, Wyoming. All a candidate needs to do is to look at Powell locality with its $200-per-acre farms to get an idea of the values ahead of him, if he is successful in securing one of these Government farms.

These lands when opened will be taken at once, but I consider it my duty to get this early word to the earnest candidate for an irrigated farm.

Hundreds of people use THE HERALD'S want columns to sell or buy something, to find something that may have been lost. In fact some people have been known to secure a faithful, hardworking wife by advertising in want ad columns.

500 Now at Fort Robinson

WILL MAUPIN TELLS OF SOME NEW AND INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE GREAT STATE OF NEBRASKA—A NATIONAL CEMETERY—THE "WAR ANGELUS"

(By Will M. Maupin, State Publicity Director)
The war department has at last recognized Fort Robinson, Dawes county, by sending a battalion of troops, 500 men, to be trained there. Just why this beautiful military fort and reservation has not been extensively utilized long ago is a mystery. It has ample buildings and equipment now for the training of from 1,500 to 2,000 men. There is no more beautiful military reservation in the country. It possesses ample railroad facilities, affords a scope of country diversified enough in contour to afford every kind of field training, has a splendid water supply and is in a section of Nebraska noted for its climatic conditions. A few thousand dollars would equip Fort Robinson for the training of ten to fifteen thousand troops. Many of the buildings are practically new, and all of them are in excellent repair. Fort Robinson should be utilized more fully, and Nebraskans interested in winning the war should endeavor to impress the real facts upon the authorities at Washington.

How many Nebraskans know that there is a national cemetery in this state? It is located near Maxwell in Lincoln county. Eight hundred soldiers are buried there, each grave being marked with a little white stone in which is engraved the name, date of birth, date of death and regiment and company of the deceased. It is a beautiful spot. The cemetery is enclosed by a high brick wall, and the government maintains a caretaker who keeps it in fine shape. The cemetery is on the old Fort McPherson military reservation. All the graves are those of veterans of the Civil and Indian wars.

The bureau of publicity's reports from the potato crop are not the most encouraging. Commercial growers last year lost money, and as a result the acreage this year is much less than a year ago. Untoward weather conditions have damaged the crop somewhat. The acreage would have been very much less than it is had not Nebraska farmers patriotically responded to the request for "more potatoes" in the face of their losses last year. Nebraska will have a surplus of potatoes, but not as great as the indications promised a few weeks ago.

Newport, Rock county, ships more hay than any other railroad station in the United States, probably in the world. Arnold, Custer county, ships more silica than any other railroad station in the world.

The bureau of corp estimates of the federal government estimates Nebraska's winter wheat yield this year at 40,000,000. The Lincoln Trade Review, edited by H. M. Bushnell, insists that this estimate is at least 5,000,000 bushels too low. The bureau of publicity insists that it is at least 10,000,000 bushels too low. The bureau of publicity is confident that the combined spring and winter wheat yield of Nebraska this year will be in excess of 57,000,000 bushels.

STATE FAIR WILL HAVE BIG AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT.

Believing that progress is largely made by emulation, says a bulletin of the Nebraska state board of agriculture, the finest exhibit of farm products is being planned that has ever been shown on the fair grounds at Lincoln. A campaign is being conducted to interest farmers in exhibiting and the result should be an unexcelled showing of food products.

Nebraska has the reputation of having one of the best state fairs in the country and one of her best exhibits has always been the farm products. With added emphasis being placed on this exhibit this year food production should receive a stimulus of no mean value.

FOOD CAMPAIGN BEING WAGED BY STATE FAIR.

A "helping win the war by producing more food" campaign has been launched by the Nebraska state fair, says a bulletin of the Nebraska board of agriculture, and every farmer in the state is urged not only to attend the fair but to exhibit the best of his products. This movement should result in unequalled exhibits and heightened enthusiasm for this most important work.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

The mid-August edition of the Popular Magazine contains a tribute to Nebraska's potash industry and credits this state with having made proper response to Germany's insolent boast that she would crush her enemies by withholding potash and thus rendering their fields unproductive. Popular Magazine has a circulation of upwards of half a million, and Nebraska gets some valuable publicity therein.

Scientists figure out a lot of things. They figure the population center of the United States proper to be somewhere in Indiana, and the geographical center of the republic at somewhere in the Pacific ocean between San Francisco and Honolulu. They also figure man's highest mental, physical and moral development to center somewhere near Hastings, Adams county, Nebraska.

Have you a commercial organization in your city? Does your city offer any inducements for the location of any industry or industries? The bureau of publicity wants to know. The department is preparing a booklet which will show the industrial opportunities in every town and city of Nebraska that is interested enough to co-operate with the department in making the facts known.

Nebraska is observing the "war angelus." At 11 o'clock every morning the angelus rings, and everybody is urged to spend a full minute in silent prayer for the success of our boys "over there" and their safe return. The movement was inaugurated by the rotary clubs. Every business house in Nebraska is urged to participate and sound the signal promptly on the stroke of 11.

Politics—and geography—make strange bedfellows. Garfield county has a Bryan township and a Roosevelt township, and they lay side by side. To date there have been no reports of strife between the peoples of the two townships.

OMAHA MAN HAD SUFFERED 20 YEARS

Takes Tanlac and Troubles Begin to Disappear—Wife Also Benefitted.

"When my wife saw how much good Tanlac was doing me, she wanted to try it too, and now she is praising Tanlac as much as I am," said George H. Baust, who is employed by the Cudahy Packing company, and lives at 1115 Drexel street, Omaha, the other day.

"For the past twenty years," he continued, "my system was all out of order, and I seemed to be getting worse all the time in spite of everything I could do. My stomach was badly out of shape, my food would not digest properly, and after eating anything I would suffer agonies for hours. My liver did not act right and I was bilious most all the time. Rheumatism got in my left shoulder and it ached so bad I could hardly stand it, and I had an awful pain in the back of my neck that worried me night and day.

"After trying all kind of preparations without getting any relief, I got a bottle of Tanlac, and began to improve almost from the first dose. I have taken four bottles so far, and my troubles now are almost at an end. My food digests with hardly any after effects, the pain in my neck is about gone, and my shoulder feels pretty good. I would hardly expect that four bottles of any medicine would entirely relieve a trouble of twenty years standing, but I am improving so steadily on Tanlac that I am sure it won't be long before I shall be completely well."

Tanlac is sold in Alliance by F. E. Holsten and in Hemingford by the Olds Drug company.

Goat Immune to Dynamite. A western household was terrified recently by the discovery that their pet goat had eaten two sticks of dynamite. The animal was carefully driven to a safe distance and tethered to a stake. But days and weeks elapsed and the goat did not explode.

Soldiers' Superstition. Cavalrymen have a superstition of their own. A mounted man firmly believes that he will come through the deadliest charge unscathed if he carries on his person the tooth of a war horse, the only condition being that the horse itself has, at some time, been through a charge unhurt.
