

DOMESTIC SERVICE COURSES PLANNED

Trained Home-Maker Is to Have an Eight Hour Day and Standard Minimum Wage.

Courses for training home assistants, who will go into the home by the day, hour or week and work on a schedule of hours and fixed wages, have been inaugurated by the Young Women's Christian Association as a means for meeting the problem of domestic service.

The object of this course, now being tried out in New York City, is to place domestic service on the same dignified basis as clerical work, trained nursing or other professions open to women.

The home assistant will work eight hours a day for a salary of $15 a week. She will not live in the home of her employer or take her meals there. She will have an hour for luncheon, when she can go to a restaurant or eat lunch which she has brought with her, just as she would were she employed in a factory. The employer will not address the home worker by her first name. She will be Miss Smith or Mrs. Brown, as the case may be.

Applicants for the course are carefully selected, and registrants are appearing in large numbers. With the same independence as to recreation hours, places of eating and living as the factory girl, house-work has a greater appeal, as being a less monotonous and more interesting work to the average woman.

The course is a thorough one in plain cooking, waiting on table and door, chamber work, plain sewing, care of children, making of menus and the washing and ironing of light things. Heavy work is to be done by outside workers. On graduation the student receives a certificate which proves her qualification as a dependable home worker capable of attending to all ordinary duties in a home.

The Young Women's Christian Association has been interested in the problem of domestic service both from the standpoint of the employee and from that of the employer for some years. The first commission on Household Employment made its report at the fifth national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association held in Los Angeles, Cal., in May, 1915.

The difficulties of attracting capable women to this field of work were laid to the long hours, lack of independence in arranging recreation hours, lack of opportunities for growth and progress and lack of social standing.

Girls have acquired a distaste for the conditions which govern household work since the freedom they have experienced in working in munition factories. By standardizing domestic service it is believed by the Young Women's Christian Association that a higher type of worker may be attracted to the necessary work in homes.

SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY INCOME TAX PAYER.
Washington, D. C. — "The rights of all persons now filing Income Tax returns are amply protected by provisions for abatements, refunds and appeals," says Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.
"Every person can be sure of a square deal. No person is expected to pay more than his share of tax. His share is determined solely by the amount and nature of his net income for 1918, as defined in the law."
"Abatement petitions are dealt with open-mindedly. Refunds will be made in every case where too much tax is erroneously collected."
"The Income Tax is 'on a level' all the way through."

SWIFT & COMPANY TELLS OF SHIPMENTS

1919 Year Book Tells of Part Played by America in Feeding Allied Forces in Europe in War

A new idea of the great part played by America in feeding the allied forces in Europe is given in the 1919 Year Book of Swift & Company, which has just been issued.

In 1918 these products shipped abroad totaled 590,359,769 pounds—more than three times the amount shipped in 1914, the first year of the war. The pork product shipments totaled 1,691,454,529 pounds as against 921,913,929 in 1914—an increase of 83 per cent.

During the year ending November 1, 1918, Swift & Company alone shipped 760,000,000 pounds of meat and meat products to the American army and navy at home and abroad and to the allied nations for their armies and civilian populations. The Year Book says: "This amounts to about 25,000 carloads of meat, which would make a single train 200 miles long."

Some of the difficulties encountered in shipping are shown in the following:

"The meat for Europe has gone in fleets of vessels under convoy, and the Food Administration has often been unable to know very far in advance when cargo space would be available. For this reason Swift & Company has frequently been notified that a certain number of millions of pounds would be wanted at a certain port within a few days. Swift & Company has often had shipments on the way to the seaboard within a few hours after the orders have been received, and believes that it has met with signal success in the filling of such rush orders.

"The packing industry was able to adapt itself to wartime demands perhaps more quickly than any other industry. If this industry had not been organized on a large scale along national, and even international, lines, it would never have been able to answer all demands as promptly as it has. War demands have, of course, caused many changes in methods and have made it necessary for us to increase our facilities in many respects.

"For example, when the United States entered the war, there developed a demand for canned bacon for shipment to our soldiers overseas. Swift & Company immediately took over a semi-completed soap factory and within thirty days had installed the necessary machinery and was filling government contracts. More than a million pounds of bacon a week have often been canned in this factory. This means that our soldiers have been getting fine, cured, smoked bacon, whereas the Allies have been demanding only salt, unsmoked bacon, which does not have to be canned.

"Another example showing the co-operation that we have offered the government was when the government found it necessary to have large quantities of butter, which it had bought for overseas shipment, put into cans. Swift & Company, alone among the big butter handlers of the country, was willing to install the necessary equipment, and in the course of three weeks, under the most unfavorable circumstances, began canning butter for the government. Up to the time this Year Book goes to press, we have put up some three million pounds of butter owned by the government and also two million pounds which we have gathered for the government, making a total of five million pounds of butter that have been put up in tins."
