In the list of students neither absent nor tardy, as printed in the last issue of The Herald, the following were inadvertently omitted: Verne Laing, seventh grade, Emerson; Sarah Adams, sixth grade, Emerson; James Hunter, fourth grade, Central. The name of Polly Campbell was omitted from the list of those excused from all examinations.

—Police officers of the city, in conjunction with one of the state prohibition agents, unearthed what appeared to be a still at the home of one Alliance citizen the first of the week. There was also found a half barrel of home made wine. There was no evidence that any "white mule" had been distilled, although the apparatus, consisting of a milk can with condensing coil attached, is amply able to do the work. No arrests have been made, and it is possible that none will be made.

—The city has been having considerable trouble with the septic tank. It requires a specially designed motor to operate this important piece of apparatus, and when City Manager Smith took charge in October, he at once placed an order for a new one. Deliveries are abnormally slow, however, and the motor has not arrived. The city employes had the old motor out yesterday and have made all the repairs they could think of, and it will be replaced today. It is hoped that it can be made to do the work until the new one arrives.
