

Random Shots

With no desire to air our erudition, we feel impelled to point out that the word "suspicion" is not a verb, although nine out of ten reporters seem to so consider it. Grammatically speaking, you can't "suspicion" anything. You may "suspect," or you may "have your suspicions."

We make no charge for this information.

Youth has its troubles. Romeo has been moping around for three whole days, simply because he saw Her reading a letter. She wouldn't tell him the name of the writer—and he, too, "suspicious" (apologies to the grammarians) something.

Today's Best Story
The preacher making his Sunday morning announcements said, "Next Sunday morning at 10:30—sharp—I will baptize Mrs. Swift's little baby." Looking over the congregation he noted Mrs. Swift in her pew and smilingly bowed to her, saying he hadn't noticed that she had come in, and then in a tone of seriousness he said, "Remember the hour, 10:30 sharp—you know you were late last year."

The man who is moaning because there have been no "drives" for the past two weeks must have referred to excursions after the stuff that cheers. For have we not the Nebraska memorial to soldiers on our hands?

Romeo has been stung again. He went down to one of the Alliance agents' furnishing stores and they worked off on him one of those heavy woolen ties that are utterly unfitted for wearing during the hot summer months.

The poor fish didn't know he was getting a winter tie.

Hanged if we can see what advantage there is in the Lady Boarder leaving off a waist to keep cool, and then wearing a bulky coat to cover up.

It's crazier than the summer fur stunt.

We know now why they call it "Happy" Hollow.

Again our advice is accepted. We told 'em to be careful to whom they gave it—meaning that month's free subscription—and so they cut off the Herald printer.

There's no excuse for boneheads like that.

Only love could make a man—or woman—scratch off a twelve-page letter daily.

We see by an exchange that some girl, at a commencement exercise, sang "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" "in a most touching manner." How do they get that way?

The only song that can be sung in a way to cause the throat to choke with sobs is: "Little Brown Jug."

And Cuba is thousands of miles away.

1920.
"Sing a song of breweries,
Malt and hops and yeast,
Four and twenty bottles
Ready for the feast;
When the case was emptied
No one felt a kick—
Nothing there but near-beer;
Don't that make you sick?"

If paper keeps getting scarcer, liberty bonds, because of the material they are engraved on, should go to par.—American Printer.

The Funny Want-Ads
WANTED—A job where I can get board and room. Can milk and drive Ford car. Joe Montgomery, X-1145, Dallas (Texas) News.
FOR SALE—Cow and folding bed combined. W. F. O'Rear, Glen Rock Station, Ashville N. C.) Citizen.

We should fret if they give it away. But if they try to claim that all these free monthly subscriptions are bona-fide, or cash-in-advance, simply because they are marked paid on the books, we'll have to print another one of those odious comparisons.

They're great in this "claim" stuff.

Would they give it away if they could sell it?

Let's see—wasn't there someone who once remarked about how little value there is in "free" circulation?

And what's the name of the brainy gunk who sagely said: "Sample circulation scatters your shot"?

It must hurt to know you have the smallest circulation—and to fear that others are finding it out.

The Herald had no circulation records to beat—but its own.

Boy, we've got 'em.

There are but few sensible people in the world—yet they all agree with you.

If a married man is looking for an easy job he has no time for anything else.

You never can tell. A suit of clothes may look rusty and still wear like iron.

RATS'DIE

so do mice, once they eat RAT-SNAP and they leave no odor behind. Do not take our word for it—try a package. Cats and dogs won't touch it. Rats pass up all food to get RAT-SNAP. Three sizes.

25c size (1 cake) enough for Pantry, Kitchen or Cellar.

50c size (2 cakes) for Chicken House, coops, or small buildings.

$1.00 size (5 cakes) enough for all farm and out-buildings, storage buildings, or factory buildings.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

Regarding the Legion's proposed beneficial legislation, all those uninformed on the subject should consider that the Legion asks first of all for practical assistance in establishing the ex-soldier on the farm; second, in helping him establish himself in a home; third, in assisting him in learning a vocation; and, fourth, the still cash remuneration to those who do not avail themselves of either of the other provisions. It will be to the interest of the large majority of ex-service men to take advantage of one of the first three provisions rather than the mere cash remuneration, and those expressing themselves are almost unanimous in favor of assistance in obtaining a home, farm or vocational training.

It is estimated that about 120,000 crippled veterans are entitled to training under the law known as the Vocational Rehabilitation act. Of this number the federal board, which has functioned for nearly two years has placed in training a little more than 26,000.

The bodies of all American soldiers buried in Germany will be brought to the United States for reburial whether so requested by relatives or not.

The ouja board whispers that one of our early fashion notes will read:

"Balloting coats in tricotine and georgette crepe will be popular this fall."

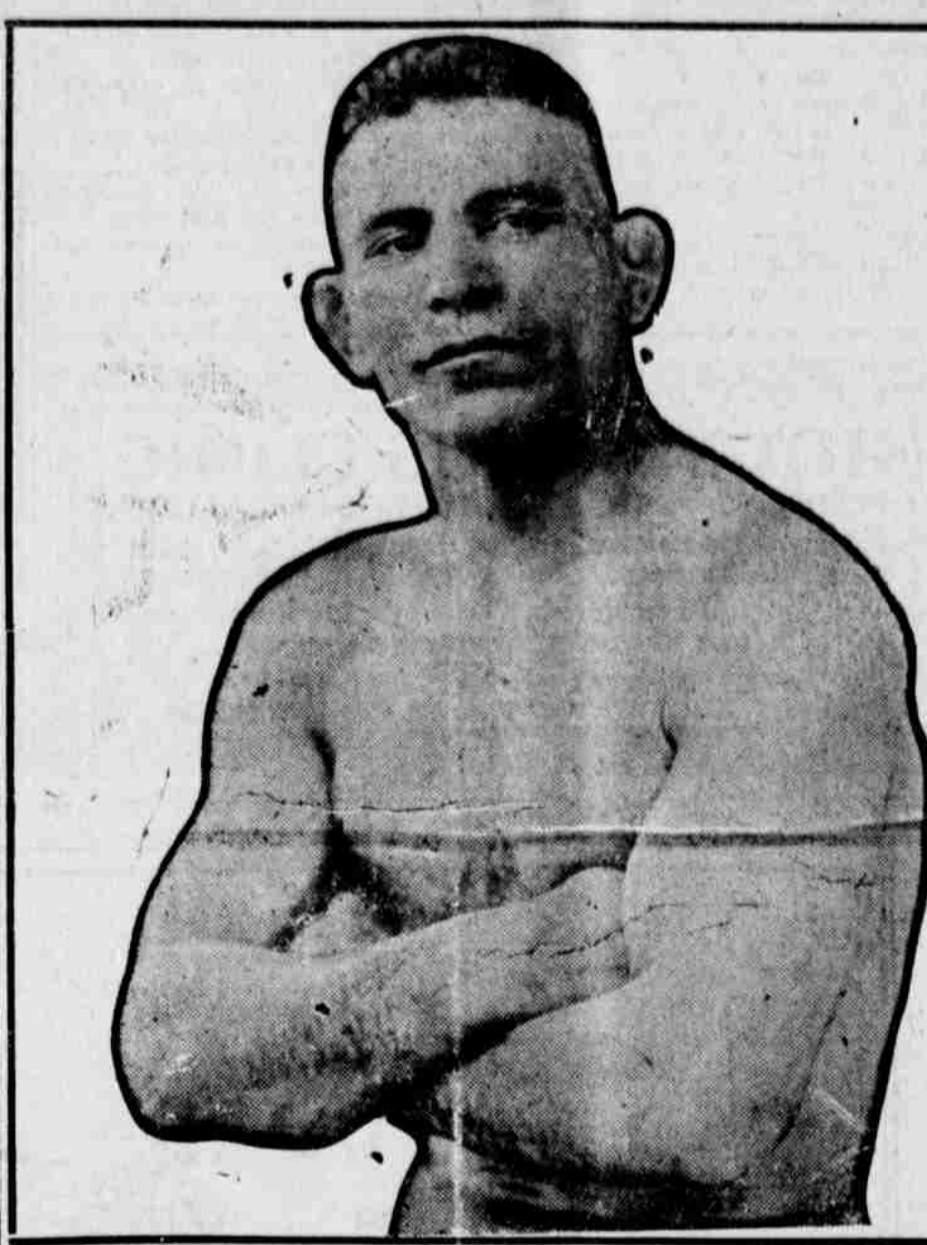

The small investor who is worried about the price of his Liberty bonds may soothe himself with the reflection that he can't lose money on them unless he sells them.

The flu never attacks airmen, because of the purity of the air at high altitudes. But the average citizen would rather chance the flu than have to be up in the air all the time.

Citizens of this country have learned not to take the instructions of presidential conventions delegates too seriously. Instructed delegates have been known to forget everything they knew.

Spur Cigarettes

HERE is the topmost cigarette—the highest point of smoking enjoyment and satisfaction—the SPUR CIGARETTE. Studied "from the ground up"—in seed, soil, plant and culture. Studied in blending, studied in making, studied in packing. ∞ Spurs are blended in a new way from American and Oriental tobaccos, bringing out to the full that good old-time tobacco taste. ∞ The satiny imported paper is crimped, not pasted, making an easier-drawing, slower-burning cigarette. ∞ You'll approve of the smart brown and silver packet, three-fold, that preserves Spur's taste and fragrance.

THE ASBESTOS BREAKER STRIP PREVENTS TREAD SEPARATION

Perfection ASBESTOS PROTECTED TIRES

ASBESTOS—A Mineral Woven Into a No-Burn Fabric

The Breaker Strip that Makes the Difference

Is the Asbestos Breaker-Strip used exclusively in Perfection Tire Construction.

It is a patented "Perfection" feature. The Breaker-Strip used in ordinary tire construction is a loose-woven fabric of cotton that forms the union between the tread and outside ply of cotton fabric of all standard tires—it is so protect the carcass of the tire against shocks, to prevent tread separation and in case of a cut is the ply of fabric first subject to moisture, acids and grease and bears the brunt of hard usage and all tire trouble.

Perfection Asbestos Breaker-Strip is not affected by moisture, acids, grease or heat generated by road friction. It forms a perfect union with the rubber in the vulcanization of the tire, so as to be almost inseparable, thereby overcoming to the greatest extent the most common ailment in automobile tires—Blister and Tread Separation.
