DONOVAN—SMITH

Miss Mary E. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith of Antioch and Dewey G. Donovan of Alliance, were married in the Cathedral in Lincoln at 9 o'clock Wednesday, (June 30) by Father O'Loughlin. The bride wore an embroidered tricotine suit with a burnt orange duvetine hat, carrying a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Only the immediate families were present. Mrs. Donovan was attended by her sister, Miss Eta Smith, who wore a gown of dark blue taffeta. The groom was attended by Elmer Olson of Lincoln. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the garden room of the Lincoln hotel. The bridal couple left in the afternoon for a trip through Nebraska. They will be at home after August 1 in Alliance. Mr. and Mrs. Donovan have made many friends in the community who wish them every happiness.

METHODIST CHURCH

The sermon topic Sunday morning will be "The Good Samaritan." In the evening we will meet on the roof garden at 8 o'clock for the union service. Rev. J. O. Gould will speak on the subject, "Mormonism From the Inside." Having lived among the Mormons for a number of years, Rev. Mr. Gould is especially well qualified to give this message from personal knowledge. In case it storms, the service will be held in the Baptist church.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held in the church Monday night at 8 o'clock, Rev. O. S. Baker presiding. All official members and all others who care to attend are urged to be present.

MEARL C. SMITH, Pastor.

THEDA BARA MAKES WONDERFUL "CLEOPATRA"

The showing of the William Fox spectacle, "Cleopatra," at the Imperial, Tuesday, July 13, with Theda Bara as the star, calls to mind famous actresses who have attempted the characterization of the Siren Queen of Egypt.

In looking over the records of the famous tragediennes one would expect to find that the role of Cleopatra had been a favorite vehicle for their powers and the occasion for numerous stage triumphs. The fact is, however, that few ambitious and famous actresses have attempted this part, chiefly because actors fitted for the part of Anthony have been few.

First to essay the role of Cleopatra was the great Mrs. Siddons, at the beginning of the nineteenth century, with John Philip Kemble, most distinguished actor of his time, as Anthony. Dramatic commentators agree that their performance was a triumph of histrionic genius for both.

In 1907 Beerbohm Tree revived Shakespeare's drama and Constance Collier gave a glowing picture of "passions hidden under allurements." About this time Gertrude Elliott, as a romping, capricious Cleopatra who played with and conquered Caesar in Shaw's version of the queen's story, created for us an entirely novel and original Cleopatra. In this conception the lighter sides of the woman whose tragic end was so fatal to Egypt's destiny were presented with the easy touch of the great satirist.

When Fanny Davenport and Sarah Bernhardt played Cleopatra in the eighties and nineties, they practically held all the attention of the critics for in each case the Anthony was scarcely mentioned.

And now Theda Bara! With such predecessors to set the pace for her this accomplished impersonator of siren roles carries on the tradition of the sumptuous Cleopatra.

See this tremendous production at the Imperial, Tuesday, July 13.

George E. Mintzer, proprietor of the Alliance Tire Works, left Wednesday night for Omaha where he will spend the remainder of the week on business. He expects to return with a vulcanizer to help him take care of his increasing tire business. Mrs. Mintzer accompanied him on the trip.

Mrs. C. W. Lyons of Hemingford, was in Alliance Tuesday for medical advice.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

The child of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rehder, 206 East Third street, died at their home Wednesday afternoon. Funeral services were held from the Miller undertaking establishment Thursday at 2:30. Interment was made at Greenwood cemetery.

GREY WOLVES WILL GO TO DENVER CITY PARK

P. D. Roberts, who resides at the corner of Yellowstone avenue and Third street, owns two beautiful genuine grey wolves, which were taken as tiny pups last winter in northern Wyoming. They have been raised as pets by the Roberts family and can be wooled just like big dogs. They are male and female, stand full twenty inches high, and are said to be worth at least $150.

Their owner has had considerable correspondence with the city park of Denver, and in all probability will send them to this institution soon. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts plan to leave for Denver this evening where they will make definite arrangements. The public park of that city has recently been changed to afford the animals more commodious quarters.

Recently Mr. Roberts offered to give these two animals to the city authorities to be kept in our own city park, but the offer was not accepted.

SCHAFFER INSTALLS ELECTRICAL TESTER

The Schafer Auto Supply, under the management of Clarence Schafer, has completed the installation of a new electrical testing machine, at a cost of $1,000, which will enable him accurately to determine the condition of all electrical apparatus used on automobiles.

It speaks much for the progressiveness of this Alliance firm that they have purchased this appliance, because it is the only one of its kind between Omaha and Denver.

With the tester Mr. Schafer can quickly and definitely satisfy himself that batteries are fully charged and in working condition; locate difficulties in coils and ignition systems; determine the efficiency of generators and magnetos, and effectively test every electrical appliance to be found on the present-day automobile.

The addition of this equipment will materially assist Mr. Schafer in rendering his free drive-in service to all motorists. It will be worth many dollars to automobile owners to know exactly in what condition the various vital parts of his machine are performing.
