"THE DEVIL'S RIDDLE" AT THE IMPERIAL

"The Devil's Riddle", starring Gladys Brockwell, is the attraction at the Imperial tonight. A Billy West comedy and a current events reel complete the program.

Saturday comes Margarita Fisher in "Molly of the Follies," a side-splitting comedy of the side show. Snub Pollard in "The Dinner Hour" and Mutt and Jeff in "Wrestlers" are additional features.

Sunday's bill includes Dorothy Dalton in "Black Is White," the last episode of "Lightning Bryce" and the first of a brand-new serial, "Hand of Vengeance," which is more thrilling and blood-curdling than any you have ever seen.

A William S. Hart special feature, "Breed of Men," is the Monday feature. "Excess Baggage, a comedy, is another attraction.

To date eighty entries have been made on Everett Eldred ranch land thrown open to re-entry. The local land office has received inquiries from all over the state, and the prospects are that before July 23, when soldiers' preference entries close, there will be a much larger number.

According to O. K. Dye, prospects are very favorable for the establishment of a rural route out of Alliance. Mr. Dye accompanied Mr. Wetherell, postoffice inspector, during his inspection of a portion of the route, and reports that Mr. Wetherell said it was one of the best proposed routes he had ever inspected. Mr. Dye says that the recent hail storm did considerable damage to his cantelopes, destroying over two thousand hills. The others are in fine condition, however, and prospects are very favorable for a fine crop. The watermelons were uninjured.

A LITTLE ESYPATHY FROM SCOTTSLUFF

 down off our high horse, and bring us to the realization that we were not the only pebble on the beach.
 "Alliance has made a growth of 1,486 people in the past ten years, which is an increase of 47.9-10 per cent and is above the average growth of western cities, outside of North Platte and Scottsbluff which made extraordinary growth during the last decade.

"But getting down to brass tacks the growth of western Nebraska has been wonderful and all of the towns have been making a substantial growth, and every community can be proud of the showings made even if they are disappointed in the number of people accredited to them by the census figures.

"Alliance like Scottsbluff expected its population to be about five times as great as its school census, but were disappointed. If the school census held good in these places Scottsbluff would have had over 19,000 and Alliance between six and seven thousand but larger families exist here than those of the eastern part of the state, so that the usual rules of counting noses does not apply."

ST. MATTHEW'S EPISCOPAL

Public worship is a duty, not a thing to be done at one's pleasure or convenience. To neglect public worship is to sin quite as truly as to break the Seventh Commandment. There are Ten Commandments and we are not to choose one as being greater in its moral offense than the remaining nine. When a man or woman, who call themselves Christians, neglect public worship they sin against—against the Brotherhood and against God. Staying away from the public assemblage of Christ retards the Kingdom for which Christ shed His precious blood upon the cross; weakens the hands of the other faithful Christians and dishonors the Kings of Kings, Jesus Christ.

"Too many are content to be like the man whose boy once said: 'When I grow up I want to be Christian like father, because nobody would know whether he is a Christian or not.'"
 There is surely a need of an awakening of the conscience of men and women on this matter of attending church on Sunday.

Public worship aids the progress of the Kingdom; That Kingdom which we pray for in the Lord's prayer—strengthens the hands of our fellowmen and honors God.

Here then are three motives for worship of compelling force. They are practical and commonsense. They should appeal to man's better self—his heroism; his God-given instinct to be of service to others. They are the threefold cord which should draw every earnest devout and conscientious man and woman, more regularly to God's house on Sunday.
 DEAN DIXON.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

"Go to church Sunday." This advice has been given millions of times, yet with some it has never been heeded. Possibly there was a flaw in the giving. It may not have contained that simple and appealing note of humanity which draws the one who needs it most. Yet there is no one so hardened and so sinful but what he can enjoy an hour in the church on Sunday. Some who stray in accidentally become regular attendants in time. The story of the Man of Men grips them. It is more thrilling than the wierdest fiction ever penned, and each Sunday you hear a new chapter in the life history of this man who was flesh and blood and yet was the offspring of divinity. Go to church Sunday. It will do you good, and it will do others good to welcome you there. Remember our church is a "Home-like Church" and we are always glad to welcome you into the family circle. The subject in the morning will be: "All that She Had." The union service in the evening will be held at the roof garden beginning at 8 o'clock, Rev. Kearns will be the speaker.

Dependable Through Thick and Thin

Above everything else you want dependability built into the grain binder you buy. You want your binder to go into your grain fields, no matter what the conditions may be, and cut the grain with the least possible loss of time and grain.

We are selling the John Deere Grain Binder because we know it will give you that dependable binder service which makes it a profitable investment.

From the bottom up it's a better-built grain binder. Bigger and stronger roller-bearing wheels; heavier one-piece main frame widely lapped and hot-riveted together; strong rigid platform; three packers instead of two, assuring better bundles in all kinds of grain—these are just a few of the features that make it the better binder.

Come and see this binder. You can't make a better binder investment.

FARMERS' UNION

THE TRADE-MARK OF QUALITY MADE FAMOUS BY GOOD IMPLEMENTS

Another feature you will appreciate on this binder is the easily-operated bundle carrier. No effort to hold it in receiving position or to dump it. Because the teeth rise out of the stubble the instant you start to return the carrier, it's exceptionally easy to bring it back to receiving position. And it's no trick to keep this carrier always in easy-working order—simple adjustments are provided to accomplish this.

The Quick Turn Tongue Truck adds much to the effective work of the John Deere. The wheels turn faster than the pole, making clean, square corners possible. Because the truck axle is flexibly mounted, both wheels hold to the ground no matter how rough the field may be. This keeps the binder running straight, and takes off the side draft from the horses.

The Battle for OIL

"A word of three letters—oil—has almost superseded in magical significance the word "gold," that has come down the centuries as standing for the most to be desired of all material things. The lure of gold brought about results greater than gratifying the desire to possess, for the men who sought the precious metal, in this country as well as in other parts of the world, were the venturesome spirits who remained to found cities, to develop the wilderness. The romance of the search for gold brings to the mind pictures of dashing heroes now inhabiting the moving picture studios exclusively, but we love them still and they always will be a part of the story of the west. To the man seeking fortune today, oil stands for the short cut to affluence. The dreary drudgery of drilling for oil does not enter into his thoughts, because he conjures up in his mind the romantic side of seeing a sudden change in stock quotations that will spell independence for him."—Denver Rocky Mountain News, July 11, 1920.

"Save for the water he drinks and the air he breathes, every possible necessity of a man's life may be supplied either directly or indirectly through the uses of petroleum products, and even his supply of water may be pumped by a gasoline engine. In the whole calm of natural substances it would be impossible to find any other which rivals petroleum and its products in the great diversity of the needs they supply. The uses to which petroleum products are put are well nigh innumerable."—Dr. Walter Sheldon Tower.

"It is not at all surprising then, that the demand for oil and its products is growing at a rate that keeps a long distance ahead of supply. It is no cause for wonder that though that initial production of oil has been increased by the hundreds of millions of barrels during even the past dozen years we have less than a three months' supply above the surface today and that surplus storage is growing less and less as the days go by."—Oil, Its History and Its Future.

The Wyoming-Northeastern Oil Company, organized by well known Nebraska men, is operating in the eastern Wyoming oil fields. It is selling a limited amount of stock for the purpose of developing its holdings. You are invited to thoroughly investigate the company and its holdings. The operations of the company at the present time are confined to 1040 acres in the Mule Creek and Hidden Dome fields and the money received from the sale of stock under the permit granted by the state of Nebraska for the sale of stock will be used for the development of these holdings. This is a speculative security and returns on the money invested in the stock of this corporation depend upon the discovery of oil in paying quantities by drilling upon the company's properties.

There May Be Delay in Moving Your Telephone

If you order your telephone moved next week you may be told to expect a delay in getting it done.

Nearly half a million other telephone users in the United States will move their telephones this month, too. And for all of them many carloads of wire and other materials will be needed.

A general shortage of materials, as well as a lack of sufficient transportation facilities, is holding back factory output and the telephone companies can't get enough supplies.

In this emergency it will be greatly appreciated if you will order the least possible changes in your telephone equipment. And when you need to have something done please let us know as far in advance as possible.
