CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES IN ALLIANCE

Gaddis P. Hageman, well known civil war veteran, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. H. Rocky, in Alliance Tuesday, at the age of seventy-nine years, four months and twenty-one days. During his civil war service, he was shot in the head, the bullet lodging there, and it is believed that this old wound was the cause of his death. He had been seriously ill only a short time.

Gaddis P. Hageman was born near Cincinnati, O., September 17, 1841. He was married to Mary Jane Hawkins in Ohio, November 19, 1867. After more than fifty years of married life, Mrs. Hageman died in August, 1920. Eight children are living: Mrs. P. G. Calkins, North Platte, Neb.; Mrs. C. H. Rocky, Alliance, Neb.; C. O. Hageman, Broken Bow, Neb.; K. L. Hageman, Grand Island, Neb.; A. E. Hageman, residence unknown; S. R. Hageman, Kansas City, Mo.; H. G. Hageman, Sheridan, Wyo.; Mrs. E. L. South, Alliance, Neb.

At the age of twenty years Mr. Hageman enlisted in Company F, Twentieth Ohio Infantry, and served until the war closed. He was with Sherman on his march to the sea. While at the hospital recovering from sickness, he was captured by the confederates, but after three days' imprisonment he was exchanged. He served his country well during the rebellion and has always been a true American citizen. His death marks the passing of another one of the old comrades of '65.

Mr. Hageman came to Nebraska forty-seven years ago and has made this state his home during those years, except a short period in Wyoming and Dakota. For many years he lived at Johnson, Wymore and Ravenna, Nebraska. He has lived in Alliance for the past year.

While a young man he confessed his faith in Christ and was buried with his Lord in baptism in the Nemaha river at Brock, Neb., by Elder Louie Piper. He loved the church and was happy at the services.

Brother Hageman has gone home to his reward to be with the companion he loved in the presence of God. Besides his children, he is survived by forty-three grandchildren, eight great grandchildren, three brothers and three sisters. We shall miss him in the home, on the street and in the church.

HELD TO DISTRICT COURT FOR PASSING NO FUND CHECK

When Judge Tash turned over his new leaf shortly before the first of the year, and announced that in the future men who issued "no fund" checks would not be allowed to pay up, and that the law would be allowed to take its course, he meant exactly what he said. Royce C. Willis is the second man to discover this.

Willis, who has been employed by the Snyder Transfer company, was arrested yesterday on complaint of Rayle & Simpson, pool hall proprietors, who said that he had given them a check for $10, drawn on the Guardian State bank, which he had no funds on deposit to cover.

Willis was bound over to district court, and bail was set at $500. L. M. Clay and Gottlieb Seidler offered themselves as bondsmen, and were approved as such, Willis being released until the next term of district court.

of $75 a year and providing for an examination. At that time it was represented to the council that all the electricians in the city favored a stiff license fee, in order to keep out the fly-by-night contractors from other places who would bid on one or two jobs and occasionally take them away. They would then do any old sort of a job and shove off. The council listened to the plea and passed the ordinance.

At the next meeting another electrician from the city was present and let out a wail. He complained that the license was too high and that he had not asked that any such a sizable sum be named. He wanted the council to reduce it. The council gravely considered the matter, but adjourned without taking any action.

The new ordinance provides for a fee of $25, and an examination by the chief of the fire department and the superintendent of the light plant. A second ordinance provided for a license fee of $25 for plumbers and drain layers, an examination and a bond of $2,000.

A third ordinance covered the occupation tax and license for pool and billiard parlors. The council did not set any figure for a license, and none was inserted in the measure as drawn. This will be decided on, of course, before the measure is passed, and it will probably be larger than the present figures.

It was decided that all three ordinances be held over until later in the month, when an adjourned meeting will be held.

Making the Well Work.

The council also discussed the matter of one of the city's extra wells, which has not been working in the manner in which it should. The main difficulty seems to be that while the pump with which it is equipped draws up sufficient water, it also draws up some sand along with it, making it undesirable for use.

One of the councilmen suggested that perhaps an air-lift pump might be installed which would give better service. Engineer Grant was called upon for an opinion, and told of the experience of the city of Lincoln, where, after a two-year trial of the air-lift type, they found it less satisfactory than either the rotary or centrifugal. The cement well was said to give good satisfaction in coarse sand, but not in fine sand such as underlies this part of the country.

Superintendent Rickman of the water works was directed to enter into "conjunction" with Theo. H. Berg, the city clerk of Lincoln, in regard to the purchase of a pump, the Lincoln plant having a number of extras on hand. They may or may not sell, but the idea was that they would at least give some good advice.

REMEDY FOR LAWBREAKING LIES IN HEAVY PENALTIES

F. A. High, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of Nebraska, says that if the courts are clogged with liquor cases it is the fault of those having charge of the enforcement of those laws. In a statement made public recently, Mr. High said:

"It is said that liquor cases are clogging the courts and that the increased number of cases is due to a more frequent violation of the prohibition law. We believe the real cause for this increase is due not to more frequent violation but to a greater effort on the part of the officers in running down this class of violators.

"If, however, this class of violations is really on the increase, as it is claimed, those most to blame for it are the courts themselves. Complaints are coming from all over the state that it is the common practice in many cases for the court to inflict the lightest sentence possible, which to the average bootlegger is the lowest kind of low license. Instead of being a check to such violation, it is really an encouragement to continue.

"If the courts would stop giving these light sentences and would impose heavy ones, they could practically clean up bootlegging and that class of cases in ninety days. No one, not even the hardened bootlegger, wants to go to jail.

"What we need is more Judge Mungers—the Judge Landis of Nebraska, who, by giving such a large number of jail sentences at the recent term of federal court in Omaha, has done more to put a stop to violations of the prohibition laws than anything that has ever happened in Nebraska.

"Let the courts stop imposing the measly $100 fine, and instead, send the bootlegger and his fellow criminal to jail. That, and that alone, will solve the problem. It's up to the courts whether or not our prohibition laws shall be a success or become a farce."

SOCIETY

STUDIO RECITALS

The music pupils of Alta V. Young, B. M., will appear in a series of weekly studio recitals, to be given at Miss Young's studio, at 804 Emerson ave. Only a part of the pupils will play each week. The first recital of the series will be given this afternoon at 4:30. The following pupils will take part: Jack Felter, DeVere Felter, Arline Dobry, Mary Beth Lucas, Polly Campbell, Lucille Kruntun, Guylla Miller, Opal Zink, Dorothy Hampton, Esther Nason, Esther Bacon, Margaret Thiele, Ethel Fuller, Floyd Irwin, Dorothy Armour.

The object of these weekly recitals is to train the pupils to play in public and prepare them for the two final recitals in March when the public will be invited and all the pupils will appear on the program.

The girls of the Kinunka Campfire organized a surprise shower for the three members of the Salvation Army stationed at Alliance, and on Wednesday afternoon descended on them with a considerable amount of canned fruit, vegetables and other articles in the line of edibles, which made a most welcome addition to the corps' storehouse. Due to the fact that the Salvation Army headquarters in Omaha has not yet made adequate provision for the post at Alliance, the members of the local corps have not been so well cared for as they should be, and a number of Alliance organizations have interested themselves in the matter.

Word has been received from Charley Tash, son of Judge and Mrs. Tash, that he is now getting settled in his new location at Los Angeles. Since his discharge from the army he has been engaged with automobile firms in Omaha, but the condition of his wife's health indicated that a change of climate would be desirable. Los Angeles is a better city for a live automobile salesman than Omaha, due to the far-famed California climate, which permits of automobiling almost any day in the year.

About two hundred were present Thursday evening at the Baptist church where a "Success" social was given. A program was rendered consisting of talks on the following subjects: "The Father of Success is Work," by H. D. Hacker; "The Mother of Success, Ambition," Mrs. Herbaugh. Also short talks on "The Children of Success—Commonsense, Cheerfulness, Perseverance, Loyalty, Enthusiasm, Harmony, Co-operation and Courtesy," concluded by one on "The Baby—Opportunity," by Rev. Minor. The talks were interspersed with music and anecdotes and the evening passed very pleasantly. Refreshments were served after the program.

Mrs. D. L. Sturgeon entertained the bridge club Thursday evening, the full membership being out. A three-course lunch was served and Valentine decorations were employed. Those present were: Mesdames George Potter, J. E. Hughes, J. H. Standard, T. M. Griffiths, A. W. Newberg, Charles Finch, A. E. Nelson, H. A. Dubuque. Mrs. Potter won high score.

Mrs. A. R. Reynolds entertained at a rook party Thursday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Lillian Hogden of Omaha, who is leaving Sunday, after an extended visit. Guests were Misses Grace Shean, Dorothy and Louise Fricke, and Messrs. Wade Grassman, Harold Gavin, Gaylord Chase and Frank Rathburn.

Mrs. A. W. Newberg entertained this afternoon from 4 to 5 for her son Donald, it being the occasion of his ninth birthday. About twenty-six of his schoolmates were invited and the time pleasantly spent in games and refreshments. Valentines were used as decorations.

Earl Ball and Miss Mattie Eischenbrenner, both of Crawford, were united in marriage by County Judge Tash Tuesday afternoon. The couple will make their home in Crawford.

Invitations have been issued for a Valentine party to be given by the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church, Saturday, February 12, in the church basement.

The Epworth league will hold a Valentine party at the home of C. A. Dow, 804 Platte avenue on Friday evening, February 11th. All members and their friends are invited to be present.

Master Walter Abegg will entertain twelve little friends tomorrow afternoon at a Valentine party, the occasion being his third birthday.

Kenton B. Bowser and Mrs. Mary Collins were married by County Judge Tash Tuesday. They will make their home in this city.

A Washington birthday program and social is being planned by the missionary society of the Christian church.

Mrs. H. A. Dubuque entertained friends at bridge Wednesday evening, Mrs. Dewey Donovan winning high score.

Mrs. L. A. Condit entertained the Christian Ladies' aid Wednesday afternoon. About twenty were present.

AT THE MOVIES

Tonight is the night for the grand opening of the imperial's new orchestral pipe organ. Organist Keach has prepared a program containing a dozen selections, and an opening concert on the big instrument will be given preceding the first show, from 7:30 to 7:50 p. m. The organ is complete, with the exception of the trap drums, which are somewhere on the way between California and Alliance. It is barely possible they will arrive in time to be attached before the curtain raises Friday night, but this seems doubtful. The absence of the traps will not mar the beauty of the performance however, for there is ample beauty without them.

The Friday evening feature, especially selected in order to give those who come to hear the organ as well as those who are primarily interested in the show, is "Behold My Wife," adapted from a story by Sir Gilbert Parker. It is a tale of a man who married for hate, which is a novel reason. According to the story, Frank Armour, younger son of an aristocratic English family who is working in Canada for the Hudson's Bay company, receives a letter that his sweetheart back in England has thrown him over for another. Knowing that his family's opposition had a lot to do with breaking up the match, young Armour, in a drunken rage, determines to revenge himself upon them by marrying an Indian maiden and sending her to them as his wife. He carries out this scheme, but with highly unexpected results.

"The Lone Hand," a story of western life and romance, is billed for Saturday, with handsome Richard Stewart in the stellar role. Among the thrilling and interesting features of the production are a pet coyote, a runaway a rodeo contest, a saloon, a lynching party, a mail coach robber, a wreck and a death defying leap.

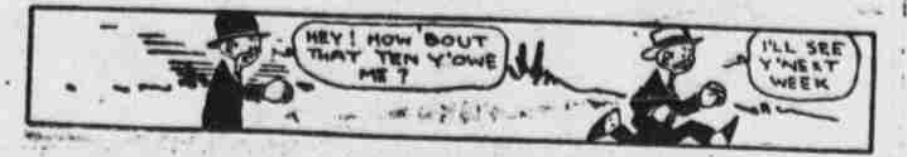

Olive Thomas in "Out Yonder" is scheduled for Sunday. There'll be also a Larry Semon comedy.

"Hearts Up," with Harry Carey, will be shown Monday. The story concerns a man who pledges himself to protect the daughter of his dead pal. He meets the girl at the railway station when she arrives from the east. Thinking that he is her father the girl runs to his arms, calling him "daddy." Instead of telling her then that her father is dead, the man remains silent. Thus between the man and the girl he has come to love stands the impassable barrier of a lie. The working out of the story is typical of Carey. He tries diplomacy, then being human, he falls back on his fighting ability and

A FRIEND IN NEED

I've got a friend, oh, yes indeed! He's what I'd call "a friend in need"; in fact he's always needing. He takes me out and treats me, then he strikes me for a five or ten; he's always broke and pleading. I never like to hesitate if I can help accommodate with just a little loan, but this one fellow is a pest; he's always, for the minute, pressed; he has a pleading tone. He tackles me upon the street; I get no peace when out to eat; he even telephones. He wakes me up when I'm asleep, disturbing all my slumbers deep, and asks for paltry loans. He always tells me he will pay the "mon" he owes on Saturday, which always is a lie, for when the day arrives, why then he always needs another ten, for he is that much shy. Sometime I hope I'll find a guy, who's just as big a simp as I, and I will guarantee to introduce this "friend" just so he'll bleed him dry and get the dough to settle up with me.

brings the story to one of the most dramatic climaxes ever wrought for the screen.

The Alliance hotel is this week installing a soda fountain, quite the most pretentious in the city, with a lot of mirrors and marble and mahogany, and places for two soda squires to play their trade at once. The fountain will be used principally in connection with the evening dances in the Fern Room, and should be in operation Saturday evening. It should be a great convenience for the dancing parties. A doorway is being cut through the wall into the Fern Garden, so that hereafter the dancers will not have to trail through the cafe in order to enter.

Rev. S. J. Epler received word this morning of the death of his youngest sister, Miss Rosa Epler, at Lincoln. He is leaving tonight to attend the funeral.

Judgment for $40.20, the full amount claimed, was entered by default in county court Tuesday morning in the case of Fred Beaman vs. Louis La Riviere. The defendant failed to show up in court at the appointed time. Later he explained to Judge Tash that he had presumed the case would be postponed, his attorneys being unable to be present. Acting on this presumption, and without consulting the court, he attended a funeral, and as a consequence knows what it is to be cut of luck.
