Legion Commander
Urges Publication
of Lists of Slacker

That the slacker lists should be published in justice to the ex-service men whose names are recorded as such, is the belief of Frederick Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion, according to a telegram just received at state headquarters of the Nebraska American Legion.

"Slacker lists containing names of men, who honorably served their country in the time of its greatest peril only strengthens the conviction that the lists should be given the widest publicity," states Mr. Galbraith.

"For over a half century after the Civil war thousands of veterans applying for pensions were found to be erroneously listed as deserters and much embarrassment and hardship resulted. Exactly the same situation will arise unless the present lists are cleared immediately. And, as everyone knows, publication of the lists is the only means of doing this.

"I feel that some of our newspapers have not looked at this matter in this light. The viewpoint of the newspapers should be that they are assisting the innocent as well as punishing the guilty. Veterans named in the lists suffer only momentary injustice, and their friends and acquaintances know they served and they are then cleared for all time of the disgrace of deserting their country.

"The finest thing the Legion can do in this matter is to pledge its whole effort to the speedy vindication of men whose names appear in the lists by error. On the other hand it must insist that the guilty be punished."

Snappy
Man!

- what makes him so "snappy?"
- it isn't his face.
- it isn't his grace.
- it's because he keeps his clothes so spick, span and clean.
- perhaps we should have said: "We keep his clothes spick, span and clean for him."
- we will do as much for you, too.
- If you don't use our service, we are sorry, for you are entitled to the Best.
