

Labor Day Set Aside as a Legal Holiday By Governor McKelvie

In connection with the observance in Nebraska of Monday, September 5, as Labor Day, Governor McKelvie Wednesday issued the following Labor Day proclamation:

"Someone has said, that labor is not man's punishment, but his reward. This, I think, emphasizes the dignity of labor as well as anything that may be said."

"The importance of labor in the field of human progress is emphasized now as it has rarely been before. The great wastes that were occasioned by the war can only be restored through the application of human effort and ingenuity to the material resources of the nation. To wisely follow this course will insure the earliest possible return to a sound industrial and social condition."

"The nation is now struggling with the problems of readjustment. This contemplates the leveling of values upon a basis of service and equity. In this readjustment, labor must play an essential role, for it is quite rightly estimated that labor constitutes 80 per cent of the cost of all production. These paramount facts before us, it becomes a common duty to give a careful regard to the relations between labor and the forces through which labor manifests its beneficent returns."

"These are some of the important facts that I would call to the attention of the people of Nebraska in recognizing Monday, September 5th, as Labor Day. In the observance of this day as a legal holiday, it is my sincere wish that proper consideration shall be given to the questions that are most intimately related to the welfare of the laborers, and the readjustment of the essential problems to which labor is so intimately related."

"Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Nebraska this, the thirty-first day of August, A. D., 1921."

Signed
SAMUEL R. M'KELVIE,
By the Governor,
D. M. Amsberry, Secretary of State."

MARSLAND

Our county fair starts at Chadron this week on Tuesday. In conversation with Fred Taylor, our county agent, last week he informed us that the show was to be the largest and best ever held in western Nebraska. On account of the increased popularity of his majesty "The Porker" a special hog barn has been constructed to handle the exhibit of hogs that are entered. Two breeds stand out above all other in Dawes county, the Poland China and the Duroc Jersey. Herds have grown overnight one might say and say truthfully. Such men as C. M. White and son, Fred Taylor and others in Dawes county have done much towards furthering the promoting the success of the swine industry in this section of the state. Hog sales have been held with unlooked-for success. In the past two years interest has been aroused in the possibilities attainable through the conversion of the corn crop into pork, and it is something of vital importance to a farmer when big money can be made from the raw land that is now being grazed. Of course each year sees thousands of acres broke out and as this land is converted into tillable soil the farmer naturally must look for a way to secure returns on his investment. What can be a more remunerative and profitable way than feeding his crops into registered stock. Today hogs and cattle of the best blood lines in the animal world can be purchased for the same amount that a scrub animal sold for during the period of inflated values. Is it not worth staying awhile to consider the opportunity that is now afforded the farmer to get into the pure blood game. Mr. Farmer, whether living in Dawes, Box Butte, Sioux or any other county in this state, if you have been careless and indifferent in the breeding of your stock, go out of your way and take a couple of days off and go to Chadron this week and see the results of pure blood breeding in the herds of Clyde Buffington, Charles Hawk, Mr. Bradlock, Sam Swinbank and O. M. White & Sons and the many others who are assisting in making the future of better cattle, hogs, sheep and horses.

Harry O'Hare and wife of Girard were down Sunday for a visit with home folks.

Sam Newbrough who recently completed the stacking contract on the Howard Furman, Jr., ranch east of Marsland, moved his equipment home this week.

Thomas Hunsaker and wife were eastbound passengers Saturday, going to Lakeside for a visit with friends and relatives.

Frank Hanna was a business visitor in Alliance Saturday.

Mrs. Ella Eneyart was a Hemingford visitor Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell, former Hemingford pioneer residents, but now of Keeline, Wyo., arrived Saturday for a visit at the E. T. Gregg home.

John Grompelt and family passed through here Sunday en route to Hemingford for a visit with relatives.

J. N. Norton of Polk county was through here the latter part of the week. "Nate" Norton as he is known to his many friends is now connected with the Federal Farm Bureau organization of the state. He is a progressive citizen as shown by his long and successful term in the state legislature. We first met this gentleman in 1915 and since that time we have watched him closely in the papers. Norton is a man whom we believe will some day fill a congressional chair, for the single reason that he is a square man, and has the confidence of the people especially the farmers of which he is one.

While in Crawford Saturday we heard in regret that the annual Tri-State Fair, which had been postponed, will be held the latter part of September and a big time is assured. A big display of pureblood live stock will be one of the main features of the fair. Also the best racing program obtainable.

Kermit Squibb went out to the A. H. McLaughlin ranch to assist in putting up the hay crop.

Miss Gladys Hungerford of Crawford was in the city Thursday on business.

Joe Damenoff, one of the section men employed on the Marsland section, is making arrangements to join his family soon. Joe expects to leave in about thirty days for New York and will sail from there for his old home in Bulgaria. Joe has made many friends here and elsewhere by his pleasant ways and willingness to work.

While in Hemingford one day recently we had occasion to meet one of those characters about whom Stevenson and O. Henry compose their stories. We have always lived to meet a real soldier who could deliver the goods, that is, something like you read about in a book. The gentleman to whom we have reference was Captain Paul Box of the British Royal Air Forces. We could not worm very much out of the gentleman but we could get a smattering of Possehendale Ridge and Vimy and Ypres. Box looked like any other human and we could hardly believe this mild mannered young fellow had been through the hell that makes or breaks men. He was traveling with Raymond Meaghie, traveling representative of the Byrne and Hammer company of Omaha.

The threshing machines have been grinding out the golden wheat and other grains the past several days and a steady flow is pouring into Marsland. Art Bennett was attending to the duties of postmaster Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vassars on the Bennett place are the parents of a big baby boy born Thursday.

Miss Etta Eneyart, assistant cashier of the Marsland State bank resigned her position last week and in company with her sister, Mrs. Mae Phillips, departed for San Diego, Cal., where she plans to spend the winter. Miss Eneyart will be missed by the many patrons of the bank, as she was always of an obliging and pleasing nature. That she will return here at the close of her vacation is the wish of her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spacht and little daughter arrived Saturday for a visit at the E. T. Gregg home. Carl is now cashier of a bank at Keeline, Wyo.

Charles Michael of Hemingford passed through here Sunday en route to Crawford.

George M. Jenkins, one of Hemingford's live wire real estate men and good roads advocates, was a Marsland visitor Sunday.

Alex Olds of Hemingford passed through here Sunday en route to Belmont. He was going up to bring back a load of the campfire girls.

Roy Golden was a west bound passenger Saturday. He was planning on taking in the County fair at Chadron this week and also visiting with his

Mrs. Heath, former Crawford resident but now of California, arrived for a visit at the E. T. Gregg home this week.

Mr. Allison from the eastern part of the state arrived for a visit at home of Mr. Allison's sister, Mrs. H. C. Bayne.

The Marsland Hotel changed hands this week, the new owner being Mr. A. C. Morris of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Morris will make several changes and will serve meals. Mrs. Thomas, former proprietor of the establishment, will remain in Marsland. We would advise the traveling public to give Mr. Morris an opportunity to please them. Success to him in his new business.

A. C. Morris purchased the barber shop equipment of A. C. Bouck this week and moved it to the hotel where he will operate a new barber shop.

George Gregg one of the Marsland potato kings with an acreage of about ninety acres, is building a large potato cellar on his father's place, Beginning Sunday, the Imperial will observe, with thousands of theaters scattered over the country, "Paramount Week," during which Paramount productions only will be featured.

Sunday's feature is "The Great Day." The story is based on a celebrated Drury-Lane melodrama and the scenes are laid in England, Paris and the Alps. The hero is enticed into an unhappy marriage and when his wife elopes with another man and is presumably lost in the foundering of a steamship, he contracts another marriage and then the action is in full swing.

"The Love Special" will be shown Monday and Tuesday, with Wallace Reid as the star. The story upon which the picture is based, is said to be one of the best railroad stories by Frank H. Spearman, a well known fictionist. It is a big story, full of speed and thrills and seasoned with a delightful romance which continues all through the picture.

Wednesday and Thursday comes "Easy Road," starring Thomas Meighan, who has the role of a sailor-novelist who marries a rich woman and finding himself on easy street, neglects his work and becomes a drone. Lila Lee, as Ella Klotz, is saved by the novelist when she tries to commit suicide and this meeting results in his regeneration and reunion with his estranged wife. There are numerous strong situations in the story. Gladys George is leading woman.

The last Paramount picture completing the week's program is "Brewster's Millions," which will be shown Friday and Saturday. Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle stars. The plot concerns a fellow who suddenly receives a gift of a million dollars. No sooner has he recovered from the shock of that surprise than another interested party offers him five million if he will spend the other kind gentleman's donation within a year and is broke at the end of that time.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Miss Fay Miller departed last week for Thurman, Ia., where she will stay and go to school this winter.

Mrs. Fred Stout of Glenwood, Ia., arrived Monday morning to be with her sister, Mrs. John Roberts, for a few days.

Mrs. Gus Peterson was helping Mrs. Thomas Squibb cook for threshers last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts and sister-in-law called on the Timblin family for a short visit.

Joe and Ferg Timblin and Harold Bryant were over to Oakley Stephenson's last week breaking colts to ride.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts and sister-in-law spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Osborn.

Mrs. Bert Marts and children were callers at the Carl Rader home Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Otis Cox and children spent Thursday with Thomas Squibb. Miss Naomi Squibb spent Sunday afternoon with Lillie Ervine.

Harry Robbie spent Sunday afternoon with Clifford Roland.

John Warn was at Thomas Squibb Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Cox, and Mrs. Fred Stout, went to Alliance Monday.

Miss Ruth Cox and brothers spent Monday with Mrs. Thomas Squibb.

When it comes to entertaining at dinner at present prices, many a man and his wife have to compromise at "two is company".

Some antiquarian has announced that the ancient Peruvians had jazz bands, thus providing the first reasonable excuse for the cruelties of Pizarro.
