THE INTRUSION.

The professor was deeply absorbed in some scientific subject when the nurse announced the arrival of a boy. "What—who?" stammered the professor absently. "Why interrupt me—isn't my wife at home?"

EXPERIENCED

Mrs. Jones was entertaining some of her son's little friends. "Willie," she said, addressing a six-year-old, who was enjoying a plate of cold beef, "are you sure you can cut your own meat?" The child, who was making desperate efforts with his knife and fork, replied: "Yes, thanks. I've often had it as tough as this at home."—Christian Evangelist.

The Printed Message of Christmas Cheer

There is no one item, at such small cost, that approaches the Christmas card as a remembrance of a friend by a friend.

There is nothing that so cements the good will of a business institution as a thoughtful greeting to its customers, clients, associates and competitors.

Without forgetting the sentimental feature of Christmas giving, the printed greeting comes mighty close to being GOOD BUSINESS for both individual and firm.

Place your orders with us now for your Christmas Printing, and be sure of early delivery.

A new way to treat croup Spasmodic croup relieved or warded off by rubbing on a vaporizing salve.

The old method of treating spasmodic croup with nauseating drugs is out of date. So is the vapor-lamp scheme that required the bedroom windows to be kept closed. Now mother rubs the little one's chest and throat with Vicks, arranges the bedding, so that the arising vapors will be inhaled all night long, opens the windows to let in the blessed fresh air, and retires—confident of a good sleep.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors VICKS VAPORUB Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

SURE THEY KNOW (Retail Public Ledger.) There is a merchant in our town Who thinks he's wondrous wise; He scoffs at those who spend hard cash Their goods to advertise. He mocks the ad man to his face. "You're talking through your hat. 'Cause everybody everywhere Knows where my store is at!" Of course most people vaguely know That Jones conducts a store— Out of the beaten paths where goes The cream of trade no more. But what he sells in his small place, What goods he has on shelf They cannot say, because old Jones Keeps that all to himself! And that is why the blinded man Has troubles now, and woe, And why his sales are less than they were Some twenty years ago. Sure everybody knows where Jones Sits glum in his easy chair. They also know where the graveyard is, But they are not flocking there!

Columbus Also Has School Girls Who "Roll the Phoenix"

The following, from the Columbus Telegram, shows how the school board of that city have sidestepped a tremendous moral problem. Instead of following the lead of Alliance last year, where a morals inspector was selected to stand at the foot of the school, the homely rollers as they unsuspectingly tripped down to lunch, the Columbus men decide that discretion is the better part of valor, and wait for winter weather to put the kibosh on the horrible practice. Wonder how Alliance is meeting the problem this year? The telegram says:

"Of course, it is quite shocking when fair co-eds roll their stockings; but, really, now, what could the school board do?"

"This question confronted the board of education after its regular meeting Monday evening. The word 'after' is used advisedly, because the men folks waited to discuss it until after the lady member had gone home.

"Some patrons of the schools recently made the startling discovery that the girls, several of them, at least, in the eighth grade and high school had adopted the fad introduced by elder sisters, by younger sisters and—yes, it must be admitted—by mothers, aunts and grandmothers—the fad of 'rolling the Phoenix.' The said patrons, solicitous for the young ladies' customs of modesty were being ignored, gently conveyed the suggestion to several members of the board that something really ought to be done to stop it.

"The school fathers thought it over and talked it over, and decided that discretion was the better part of valor. They concluded that if they did nothing at all about its winter's chilly blasts, fast approaching, would solve the problem. Moral: they were more than a little right at that."

In discretion: Saying along what everybody is thinking in secret.

After you learn the art of gossip, it isn't necessary to buy a car in order to run down your neighbors.
