

RANDOM SHOTS

For the first time in our young but somewhat eventful life, we have heard of an appointment as official bull tosser.

As a friend expressed it, the job has been given to those competent to do it thoroughly.

INSULT UPON INJURY.

"That was tough luck about Bill Bootlag."
"Yeh, wasn't it? To go and get a year for sellin' a pint of hooch after just finishin' four months for killin' his wife."

"You've got to watch him," confided a man who was discussing one of our friends. "He's likely to slip off to church 'most any Sunday morning."

SCANDAL!

He drew her to him and deliberately struck her. She made no sound. Again and again the brute repeated the blow, still she gave no sign of suffering. The torture continued, but her head was unbowed. The man, his lips drawn thin, cursed her. "I'll make you," he muttered. At last, after a particularly vicious blow, she gave a loud cry—and her head flew off. She was only a match.

If this cold weather keeps up for a month or two longer, we may have to break out the heavies.

With oysters at 60 cents the pint, we have a hunch that many surkeys at the Thanksgiving dinner will be stuffed with sage and celery.

The future of the shimmy is declared to be rather shaky, according to a Dallas, Tex., paragrapher. No man is competent to discuss the shimmy until he has viewed the Chicago variety.

In the magazine stories, the novels, and on the movies screen we see that that villain is quite often called a "cad." Did you ever, in your whole life, hear the word used by someone who was alive and had possession of his or her senses?

At a B. Y. P. U. social a week or two ago, cider and doughnuts were the refreshments. The young people discovered, somewhat to their surprise, that they were limited to one glass of the juice of the apples. The lady in charge said it was due to the shortage of the supply, but after tasting the liquid, the young folks knew. THEY KNEW.

With this in mind, it's easier to understand why the "King's Corner Hoboes" should be attracted to church.

Doug Fairbanks, the movie gossips tell us, has shaved off the little moustache which he cultivated a couple of months ago. "No, I didn't make him remove it," said Mary. "I just suggested it." This teaches us, children, that Doug and Mary are still on their honeymoon.

The Omaha weather prophet says there are no prospects for a white Thanksgiving. Oh, well, so long as we may have snow for Christmas, we'll be satisfied with nothing but turkey and fixin's for the November holiday.

The church of St. Magnus the Martyr, in London, celebrated the Harvest of the Sea with appropriate decorations composed principally of fish, with dried haddocks, herrings and fifty other varieties, as well as canned meats and salmon strung about the walls, pulpit steps and chancel. We don't know whether the "light that never was on land or sea" was present, but there must have been an unprecedented smell.

GETTING THE EDITORIAL GOAT.
A Dirty Coward.

I got a letter one day this week. The letter was written and posted at Ord and it was written by a dirty, contemptible coward. I don't know who the writer was or I would publish his or her name. There was no date or signature to the letter but there were statements and insinuations made in the letter that would subject the writer to a mighty heavy damage if it were possible to prove who made them. I am unable to find language to voice my contempt for a cowardly cur who will write such an anonymous letter. If the person had called at the Quiz office and made the statements contained in the letter I could have convinced him that he was entirely wrong. There are too many people who hear something that some other person with an evil mind has guessed and start out and peddle it for facts and pretty soon a big story is started that has no semblance of truth and I am mighty sorry to have to say that many of these yarns are peddled by people who pass for respectable, law abiding, Christ loving people. It is stories told by these people that do the damage, not the stories peddled by roughnecks.—H. D. Leggett, in Ord Quiz.

AND THAT'S THAT!

Mr. Editor: Referring to item in your paper of October 29 concerning Mrs. Kipp calling on Mrs. Peter Flynn Jr., I wish to say, Mrs. Kipp did not call on Mrs. Peter Flynn Jr., on Wednesday, October 26, to see her son who is stopping at Mr. Peter Flynn's Jr., Mrs. Peter Flynn Jr. and Charles were in Kingston that day. Mrs. Kipp called on Mrs. Peter Flynn Sr. Some people say too much when they don't know what to say.—Peter Flynn Jr.—Rhinebeck (N. Y.) Gazette.

THE BACHELOR EDITOR.

"In all the advice we have read for the proper care of children, we have found nothing which recommends taking the baby to the movies."

CHEER FOR FAT PEOPLE.

The following advice from Dr. Copeland, public health commissioner of New York City, is especially apropos at the Thanksgiving time.

"You cannot be happy unless your stomach is full," the doctor tells us fat folks. Then he explains what foods we should eat to keep happy, eliminating all those which produce fat. Some of the foods we may eat in abundance are celery, buttermilk, radishes, endive, lettuce, tomatoes, water-cress, clams, whites of eggs, chicken without the skin, shad, white meat of lobster, codfish, pears, apples, grapefruit, lemons, oranges, rhubarb, lean meat and skimmed milk.

Maybe this diet stuff isn't so bad as it has been painted. If the good doctor will allow us to see musical comedies and laugh at punk vaudeville, we're with him.

If we could only secure half of the food on this list, we'd be satisfied with our Thanksgiving.

At last, when "Sam" Wright takes a bride, and we learn that his name is really "Sias," and always has been, it makes one feel like accusing him of getting a bride under false pretenses.

They say that when he first told Judge Tash that he wanted a marriage license, the judge thought he was joking, and started in talking on money and banking. But Sam—excuse us, Sias—has his mind made up and refused to talk on ordinary subjects.

Maybe if we'd slipped a couple of cigars to the right party, we'd have made our getaway. But on the other hand, some folks are naturally lucky.
