Among the indications that spring is almost here may be listed the increase in the number of wedding licenses issued by the county judge. February, with a grand total of four—the lowest in years—registered the great slump in the matrimonial market, but March is starting off better. Thursday Judge Tash issued three licenses and performed three ceremonies, uniting in marriage Guy Whitlock and Miss Vivian Westlake, both of Berea; C. Albin Williams and Ida P. Pettipiece, both of Crawford, and Lyle D. Hankins of Lakeside and Miss Gertrude Casey of Pender. Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock will make their home on a farm near Berea, and Mr. and Mrs. Hankins will reside on the groom's ranch near Lakeside.

Hardy W. Campbell, nationally known as a dry farming expert, arrived in Alliance Thursday to spend a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Yarter. Mr. Campbell was in Alliance a short time ago and gave a talk before an audience of farmers on his method of dry farming. Mr. Campbell came to Alliance because he was unable to drive in Montana where he is spending some time explaining the Campbell method of summer tilling. He plans to leave Saturday.

The Scottish Rite club will entertain all members of De Molay and Job's Daughters Wednesday evening, March 15. All Scottish Rite Masons and ladies are cordially invited.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The men's Bible class have paid for a window in the new church as a memorial to Mr. Gregory from the Sunday school, over which he was superintendent for more than a year previous to his death.

Remember that next Sunday will be the last in the old Methodist church. It has stood for some thirty years, and ministered to the spiritual interests of the community. Some of its pastors have become distinguished leaders of Methodism, particularly Dr. Jennings, who became manager of the Kansas City book concern. Some of the early records have been lost, so we are unable to say what is the total number of conversions, baptisms, marriages and persons received into the membership of the church, but the number is large. Those who have enjoyed its ministrations in one way or another during all or a part of this time, should attend the church this last time it will ever be used as a Methodist house of worship.

In the morning the pastor will speak. In the evening Judge Tash will speak on the early days of Methodism in Alliance. Others will take part in the service, and we expect the closing service to be a great occasion. Come and bring all the family.

M. C. SMITH, Pastor.

A writer enumerates five states which do not regulate in any way the hours in which women may work. But he forgot about a sixth—the married state.

The census figures show that more than half the people in this country live in rented houses and one-half does not know how the other half is able to pay the rent.

It has been decided that the moon is not inhabited. That's good news for the earth. It means one less country to send relief expeditions to this winter.

That stage beauty who says 1,200 men are in love with her probably means that an audience was carried away with it.

There comes a time in the life of every man when he wishes somebody would steal his car and get safely away with it.

HERALD WANT ADS—RESULTS.

LEGION MEN ARE IN FAVOR OF A BONUS IN CASH

FIGURES FROM NEBRASKA ARE STRONGLY THAT WAY.

Alliance Vote Incomplete, But the Cash Payment Plan Is Far in the Lead So Far.

Over 5,000 ex-service men in Nebraska have been personally interviewed during the state-wide census being conducted by the American Legion, according to Frank B. O'Connell, state adjutant. Of this number 40 per cent favor the cash feature of the adjusted compensation bill now before congress. Only thirty-six veterans stated that they are opposed to the measure.

Reports received from sixty-four posts from thirty counties in the state received at the Lincoln office up to Wednesday show 1,062 men with a preference for farm and home aid, 1,321 choosing the insurance features, 126 for vocational training, and 1,622 favoring cash payments. A large number of the latter, Mr. O'Connell asserts, are men who served but a short time and would not receive enough to warrant taking any of the other operations, as provided in the bill introduced by the Legion.

Over 250 local posts are still working on the census, and it is estimated that practically all of the 55,000 ex-service men of the state will be interviewed. Information in regard to claims against the government, the employment situation and other facts are ascertained by the Legionnaires.

Mr. O'Connell said Wednesday that the results of census so far tabulated in Nebraska indicate that the Legion bill is exactly what the men want. Changes being made in the bill in committee in Washington will probably suit the veterans, he said, if not too drastic, and if some method of cash payments are included, as some ex-service men are in actual need of immediate financial aid.

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID BY FRIENDS OF E. T. KIBBLE

"It was but little over a week ago that our brother, Eph Kibble, was an active, honored and respected citizen of Alliance and western Nebraska, taking part in our business and social affairs, planning for the future, and warming the hearts of his fellow men with the cheering smile with which he greeted all.

"Eph Kibble was a pioneer in every sense of the word. His parents were pioneers who came from the east to locate near York, Nebraska, in 1870. And it was this pioneering spirit which caused our deceased brother to come to Alliance in 1907. His progressive-ness and his far-sightedness were always of benefit to his town and his country. Few men have had the opportunity or the ability to build up their town and county as had our brother. For years he was the moving spirit in the sending of excellent and attractive agricultural displays to the state fair at Lincoln, accompanying the exhibits and doing missionary work in spreading the gospel of opportunity that awaits the farmer who comes here to till the fertile soils. Many of our most prosperous and progressive farmers in this county owe their success to our brother.

Was a Leading Citizen

"In municipal affairs Eph Kibble was always active and his influence was always for good. During his term as city councilman he had much to do with the rapid advancement of the city and he has never ceased to do his duty as a leading citizen. His work as a member of the Alliance Chamber of Commerce, for he took a leading part. He had been looking forward with much interest towards the annual banquet of the chamber next week and there will be a vacant chair there which cannot be filled.

"History's page abounds with those who have struggled forth from the nameless crowd, and standing forward in the front ranks, challenged the notice of their fellow men; and it has been indeed a privilege to us to know and associate with a man who fighting at times the handicap of physical weakness, placed before us a record of accomplishment that will remain as a monument far more enduring than granite and marble. His record as one of our foremost citizens will always be an inspiration to his children and we, as fellow citizens and brothers, will take pleasure in carrying on the work which he did so well. The people of our city and county will little note, nor long remember, the words spoken today, but they will never forget what our brother has done. It is for us, the living, to take up and carry on the good work which he so nobly participated in.

"He, who lies here, was both friend and brother. We will miss him in our lodge circles, we will miss him in our business activities, we will miss his cheering words and happy smile. But knowing that he believed in the eternal principles of right, we are comforted. He valued liberty, loved truth, and was just in his dealings with all men, and gracious and brotherly in the observance of true equality. He bore the trials of life and fought its battles till tired and weary of the struggle he fell asleep. For him eternal rest remains. The night is gone, and with the morn those angel faces smile, which he had loved long since and lost awhile. May God make and keep us worthy of the memory of Eph Kibble."

GET THE BIG NEWSPAPER THAT IS FIGHTING YOUR FIGHT

This year promises to be notable for big problems.

What can be done to restore prosperity to this country?

How can we reduce taxes?

How can stable good prices for farm products be brought back?

How can freight rates be reduced and railroad business restored?

How can we pay our debts, public and private?

How can the millions of idle men be put to work?

How can we get back to a profitable relationship with Europe, the great customer for our surplus cotton, corn, copper, wheat, cattle and hogs?

How can we get rid of the burdens of war and make the blessings of peace permanent?

We have opened a new chapter in the world's history.

To study it and to understand it all should read a daily newspaper, and Senator Hitchcock's newspaper, the Omaha World-Herald, is beyond doubt the largest and the best in Nebraska.

Senator Hitchcock established this paper in 1885, nearly thirty-seven years ago.

For more than a third of a century, therefore, this newspaper has been under his control and management.

During many of these years he acted as editor. In 1894, on his invitation, Mr. William J. Bryan became editor for two years, only resigning to run for president. Mr. Bryan was succeeded as editor by Mr. R. L. Metcalf, and on the latter's resignation Mr. Hitchcock again took over the editorship. At that time he associated with himself Mr. H. E. Newbranch.

About that time Mr. Hitchcock entered the lower house of congress where he served three terms. When elected to the United States senate 11 years ago he turned over full editorial responsibility to Mr. Newbranch, who has been a member of the World-Herald staff for twenty-three years.

For thirty-seven years Senator Hitchcock has been president of the company which owns and publishes the World-Herald. With steady and unswerving purpose over that long period the newspaper has fought the battle of the people. During about half that time Mr. Hitchcock has been in public life in Washington, and what he has stood for there, his newspaper has led the fight for in the west.

The policy of the World-Herald has been permanent and it has been popular.

Another element in the success of the World-Herald has been its independence. Behind its ownership there are no public utility securities, no railroad interests, no entangling alliances either corporate or individual. The result is a free and untrammelled newspaper which under unchanged ownership and control has stood uniformly for public interest and popular rights for all these years. Among the causes which it championed in the past are the maximum freight law, the anti-pass law, the two-cent fare law, and the law for taxation of railway terminals. The World-Herald is a pioneer in the fight for direct primaries, for the popular election of United States senators, for the graduated income tax, for the initiative and referendum, for the guarantee of bank deposits, for postal savings banks, for the farm loan banking system, and for municipal ownership of water works in Omaha.

As the leading exponent of progressive democracy the World-Herald fought the battles for William J. Bryan in three presidential campaigns and did its share to carry Nebraska for Woodrow Wilson in two great campaigns.

Its leadership in fusion movements in the early 90's helped to rescue the state from the railroads and other corporate interests and to make Nebraska one of the progressive states of the union.

In all the great constructive acts of Woodrow Wilson's administration the World-Herald as a newspaper, and Senator Hitchcock as its chief owner, took an active part.

A sincere believer in fundamental democratic doctrine, Mr. Hitchcock has not hesitated to differ with his party and its leadership when his convictions impelled him to that course.

The World-Herald today stands for the same general policies in the interest of the people that it has championed for thirty-seven years. It stands with Senator Hitchcock in the fight he has made to promote the interests of agriculture and reduce the general burdens of taxation, to maintain the graduated income tax on large incomes and the excess profits taxes on highly profitable business.

It stands with him in his effort to secure broader and more profitable markets for the products of western farms and for the surplus products of America, including the cotton of the south and the grain and live stock of the west. It stands, as he stands, for disarmament, for cutting governmental expenses state and national, for simplifying government and for getting back to Jeffersonian simplicity in public affairs.

It stands for Senator Hitchcock's bill providing for the establishment of a Bank of Nations in order that it may be possible to establish a system of credit to stimulate the sales of our products to European countries and revive our export trade so that the farmers and stock-raisers may get living prices for their corn, wheat, their cattle and their hogs. Anyone desiring a copy of this bill together with an explanation of it will receive it by dropping a postal card to the World-Herald, whether he is a subscriber or not.

If you are not a subscriber, the World-Herald would like to have you for a subscriber. The price is $6.00 a year, or we will be glad to send it to you for six months for $3.00. This includes the Sunday World-Herald.

We can honestly say that the World-Herald is the largest and best daily and Sunday newspaper in the state and one of the largest and best in the whole west. Its news service is superior to that of any other newspaper. It publishes more and better market reports than any Nebraska newspaper. It has the full Associated Press service. It has many special correspondents. It has many literary features including stories. Its Sunday issue is almost equal to a magazine. It carries almost twice as much advertising as any newspaper in Nebraska. It has a circulation of over 81,000 copies a day. It has a fine special cable service of the news of the world. It has features for women and features for children, and for six months it costs only $3.00 for daily and Sunday. Advertisement.
