THE PARSON'S CORNER

By Rev. B. J. Minot, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Alliance
THE MOST SLANDERED WOMAN.
In a recent decision, a jurist referred to Mary Magdalene as "a harlot". It is common today to refer to a woman of the street as a "Magdalene". Now, where do people get the idea that Mary Magdalene was a harlot, or unclean woman? Certainly it is not from an honest unprejudiced study of scripture. This comes from consulting the unclean woman of Luke 7 with Mary Magdalene of Mark 15.

Mary Magdalene is perhaps the most slandered woman in the world today. It is true that she was possessed of even devils, but this does not necessarily mean that she was a harlot. Many good moral people were possessed with evil spirits in those days. Let us study her character and see just what sort of a woman she really was. She was or had been demonized, but she was not corrupt above other women of her age and day.

The first thing we are shown of her is in Luke 8, where we are told she was a woman of some financial means. It was she who took the lead to bring the costly spice to embalm the body of Christ on the resurrection morning. Luke 8 shows her a woman filled with gratitude revealed in loving service to the one who had liberated her from the demons. Many good people, morally speaking, were filled with evil spirits in her day. Christ came across her path and she appealed to Him not in vain. She was restored to her normal self. This is no proof that she was an unclean woman, nor does the fact that a woman is insane prove that she is immoral.

We have all known good moral men and women who have become insane. This was something of the condition she was in. Christ restored her, and it was in gratitude for this that she is shown serving Him. She gave of what she had, service, money and time. If those who do not take time to read just what the Bible really says about this woman would be more like her, the churches would have a greater success in their efforts to reach the people, and there would be very little of this "retrenchment" talk, in the various denominations.

Luke 23 shows us the woman as being one of wonderful persistence. She followed Christ to the very cross, and was the last one to leave it. She was last to the cross and first to the tomb. The other disciples went back fishing, but she remained on the scene to the last. Yes, she was the first to get a vision of Him whom she thought dead.

How many of us will gladly meet Christ in the Galilee of life where He forgives sin, heals the body and soul, does miracles, but alas when mounts He upon Olivet to enter Gethsemane and we refuse to enter with Him? Not she the traitor's kiss did give, not she remained in the shadow of the judgment hall, not she returned home leaving His body to the vultures of the air. She was a woman of titanic hope. Others left the cross, she remained hoping on that Christ would in some way keep His promise of rising again.

It was the waiting Magdalene that received the first glimpse of the living one. How much the church owes to the watching woman of her membership is indeed hard to tell. The other women sought comfort in the company of others, she sought comfort in God alone. Angels came to her and demonstrated that they were His ministers; to those who sought God. She was blessed with a special appearance because it was she who of all the disciples who followed Him to the very end.

Christ grants special visits only to those who are especially interested in Him. If we like Mary would care less for the things of this world, and more for the things of God, perhaps, we too, would see more of God and His Christ. Her character is worthy of the emulation of us all. We would do well to imitate her in her loving devotion to her Savior. Would that the churches had more like her. The world would be reached much quicker, and souls would be coming into the fold oftener. So many of our churches exist for themselves only. It takes all the power they have to keep the machinery going, and there is none to get out any products. As someone has recently said, "Far too many churches think of maintaining themselves as organizations and keeping their existing machinery in motion, rather than of giving life to the society in and for which they exist."

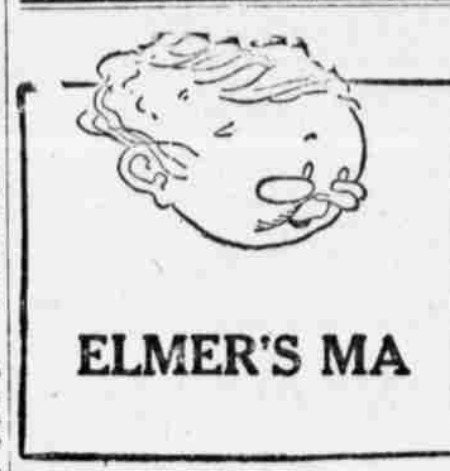

No factory concerns itself chiefly with keeping its machinery going, but with producing the goods that are wanted. No church represents the Son of God which does not invariably think of itself as not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and adjust itself to full needs of all who can be served by it. We need more disciples of the Magdalene type of whom someone said:
"Not she her Master with a traitorous kiss stung,
Not she denied Him with unfaithful tongue
She when Apostles fled, could dangers brave,
Last at His cross, and earliest to His grave."
