

SOCIALISM AND BOLSHIEVISM ON THE SAME ORDER

 and peace in the family. The working man should be paid in living wages. "The laborer is worthy of his hire."
 At this point Mr. Collins pointed out the evils of the devastation of the voice law. "The home is the cornerstone of civilization," repeated Mr. Collins. What we need is an instilling in the souls of people, for seven days in the week, the recognition of better religion and "For better or for worse, till death do us part." He stated that one of the chief reasons for the divorce evil was the fact that a happy home could not be maintained or in fact any home at all maintained on the earnings of many workmen, and that unemployment had the same effect.

Problem of Unemployment.

He brought out the evil of unemployment and in this connection stated that between four and seven million people are now out of work in this country.

Nationwide employment agencies should be established, he thought, to bring the man and the job together, and that the government should make jobs by producing more work on the building of homes, over five million homes being needed, the tilling of land not now in use, the replanting of the forests, and the enlargement of the waterway systems. "Jails will have to be built to check the wave of crime arising from unemployment, if something like this is not done," he concluded.

"The Knights of Columbus have done a great work in this connection," he said. He told of 110,000 night schools which had been erected by that body for the education of former service men.

"Service should be the watchword of the hour," declared Mr. Collins. "In the word service I would say, that the S stands for sacrifice, the E stands for education, the R, stands for republic, and V for vision, and I for industry, the C for character and the L for enthusiasm."

"In answer to the question, 'What is Wrong With the World,' would answer that: 'lack of harmony,' declared the speaker in closing his address.
 Mr. Collins then invited his audience to ask any questions that would help throw light on things which had not been made clear enough or had been in their minds regarding the subject at hand.

The speaker was then asked by Dr. Minor Morris what the effect of bolshevism was on the institutions of Europe. Mr. Collins answered that in his opinion it was the greatest danger confronting the European nations today. He said that although it was almost unbelievable that fifteen million people had died in Russia as the direct effect of the Socialist regime, while Lenin, Trotsky and the other Russian officials had lived in ease and comfort, "If the European nations recognize a government that will commit such crimes as this, that denies the very existence of a God, then I will say that the fall and decay of those nations has begun. Thank God, that the United States, guided by a statesman as farseeing as Mr. Hughes, our secretary of state, would not enter the Geneva conference, which is now going on." In summing up he again said that he considered bolshevism the greatest menace to Europe at the present time, and that if the Russian government as it is today is recognized by the nations of Europe, that the decay of those nations had begun.

After Mr. Collins' lecture a picture, "Singing River" was run, most of the audience remaining to see it.

The Knights of Columbus are to be complimented and helped in the splendid work which they are doing and the results they will accomplish from obtaining a schedule of speakers of the calibre and unquestioned efficiency of Mr. Collins.

ALLIANCE LIONS VISITED BY DISTRICT OFFICER

said to find Lionism thriving so well out here. They have had a trying time in Omaha and May 13 will be the end of the second year for that Den. Omaha has 116 members and Nebraska has eleven dens. The secretary's job is a real job in Omaha. He extended a cordial invitation for the Omaha Lions to Alliance Lions to attend the district convention there on June 3, where there will be Lions from Iowa and Nebraska, with three governors taking part: Governor McKelvie of Nebraska; Governor Lion Priest of Iowa and Governor Lion Priest of Minnesota. He closed with an outline of the program and was cheered mightily at the end of his short but interesting talk.

District Deputy Governor Lion Taylor of Omaha was then introduced and made a mighty interesting and instructive talk. He stated that he had been traveling over the state a great deal in the past three or four months with the general secretary of the Omaha den. He told of the recent meeting at Hastings, where a charter was presented to the newly formed Den. This year, he said, is his seventh year in Lionism. He told of the start and growth of Lionism from a group meeting at Fort Worth or Dallas, Texas, seven or eight years ago. Its latest extension is to the Atlantic coast states and organizers are now working in the southeast—in Georgia and Florida. Lionism now has 30,000 members and more than 400 clubs, with five in Chicago and six in New York City.

Lionism, said Governor Taylor, stands for L-oyalty to country, community and home. I-individual integrity in thought, word and deed. O-ne flag, one language. N-ew ideals, new hopes, new ambitions in business and profession. S-ervice that is founded on the golden rule. Our slogan—L-iberty, I-ntelligence, O-ur N-ation's S-afety. Lionism, he said, was born as a result of this need. Men have sacrificed time and money to build up Lionism. Applications for the organization of clubs have been received from Great Britain, the Hawaiian Islands and Australia. "We came out here to get ideas," said he. "The successful club is the club that is instilled with pep. The club is no stronger than its weakest member. There is more to Lionism than the social features. Many clubs are sponsoring movements. It is the duty of your club to get behind something. Care should be exercised in selecting new members. Omaha turns down more membership applications than are accepted. Alliance has treated us royally." He closed with an invitation to Alliance Lions to attend the district convention at Omaha in June, where 500 delegates are expected, some of the larger towns planning on sending special trains. He was roared to the echo at the close of his speech and was entertained during the balance of the evening by Lion Harper and others.

"FACTS—NOT OPINIONS"

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis flatly refused to become an honorary member of the American Legion when the honor was offered him following his speech before the Mobile, Ala., post. "No man who has not the title of a world war veteran should be permitted a place on the roll of the Legion," he said. "I would give almost anything I have for that title."

Senator Hitchcock has supported the adjusted compensation or bonus bill on several occasions, will continue to support it and vote for it when it comes before the senate, he writes in a letter to Commander Bernard G. Westover of the local American Legion. He agrees with the Legion that some of the high officials have been guilty of deception and vacillation in their treatment of the measure.

The Nebraska senator's letter is in reply to a resolution passed by the Lincoln post on March 3, vigorously condemning Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Director Forbes of the veterans' bureau, and Comptroller of the Treasury Cressinger, for issuing in their official capacities, propaganda directed against the bonus, and protesting against thus diverting funds and energy from the departments and taking time which could be better used in speeding up the work of the government branches affected.

Senator Hitchcock's letter follows: "I agree with you that the treatment of the bonus question by those in authority has been most unsatisfactory. Indeed, I believe it would have been far more creditable to have taken the position of open and unqualified opposition to the bonus than to indulge in the practice of vacillation and deception and disagreement which has marked the treatment for months.

"I am not on any committee handling this subject, but when it comes before the senate I expect to vote for it and support the adjusted compensation act. In fact, I have on several occasions voted for the proposition when it came before us in the form of amendments to other bill. Yours truly, "G. M. HITCHCOCK, U. S. S."

Evidence of the desire of former service men to go back to the farm is constantly reaching the interior department, Secretary Fall announces, adding that more than 100,000 such applications have been received for employment in developing land. In addition, inquiries concerning available land are coming in by the hundreds of thousands, the secretary said.

The correspondence is largely from farm trained men who are "not appealing for a gratuity," he said, "but are seeking an opportunity to acquire a home on the land by utilizing their labor and experience."

"It is significant that the bulk of these inquiries generally come from states wherein the prices of land have reached such heights that opportunities for men of small capital to acquire a home are extremely limited. Among these states Illinois ranks first, with 18,600 inquiries, and applications for land.

"Farm land prices in this state average among the highest in the union." "Conditions are much the same in Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and part of Nebraska, where land hunger on the part of the war veterans is shown by 45,620 inquiries received. Of these 26,900 made application for work in order to secure a home."

The reclamation service, Secretary Fall said, during the past two years has been able to offer former soldiers only 490 farms, although 50,000 inquiries were received and 7,480 service men applied for farms.

More than five million stars, of which 129,979 will be gold, the others blue, will stud the dome of the gigantic assembly hall in the national Victory Memorial building now in process of erection at Washington. It is expected to be completed for the inaugural ceremonies in 1925.

The dome will really be an American service flag, bespangled with stars in geographical groups; a gold star for every one who died in the country's service in the world war, a blue star for the others who served in the army, navy and marine corps.

That each star may be identified by initials or full name so future visitors will be able with the aid of a telescope on the floor below and guided by a grouping diagram, to locate a particular star, are details of the plans of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, president of the George Washington Memorial association and the guiding spirit of the undertaking.

Total men and women who served in army, navy and marine corps, 5,061,832.

Total deaths from all causes in world war in above services, 129,979. The number of men from Nebraska who lost their lives in the world war is: Army, 1,512; Navy, 84; Marine corps, 32; total, 1,628.

Like Any Other Store We Give Service

There isn't any kind of store that can succeed if it fails in courtesy, truthfulness or service to the customers.

In that, we're like the butcher, the baker and all the rest, who have to apply common sense principles of business, over and over again every day.

We're glad to be able to tell you that your battery is in A-1 shape, even if it doesn't happen to be a Willard. But here at Battery headquarters, we don't hesitate about breaking the news if it isn't in condition—or to recommend repairs or the purchase of a new battery if that's the economical thing to do.
