SUBSCRIPTION RATES: IN ADVANCE, $1.00 PER ANNUM; IF NOT PAID IN ADVANCE, $1.50 PER ANNUM.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1891.

THE members of the Republican central committee of the Thirteenth District are requested to meet in North Platte on Thursday, September 17th, 1891.

CHAIRMAN.

You may carry the alliance into politics but you will not have any alliance to carry out.

T. L. WARRINGTON, of Lexington, will contest with Judge Haner for the Republican nomination for judge in the Twelfth district.

As Jim Ray used to say, while editor, "Sish, boys! there's a hen on." The independents are beginning to think that hen is a gander.

THE independent candidates in this county seem to think that if they "press the button" the farmers will do the rest. In this they will be mistaken.

PEOPLE never sympathize with those whom they cannot understand—which explains why the independent "ring" nominees "are not in it" with the voters.

As the campaign is now on, THE TRIBUNE must admit that it is not overladen with respect for those men who have forsaken their party and compromised their principles for the sake of office, and will not hesitate to tell the people such truths as it may learn relative to them. THE TRIBUNE batteries will not be loaded with mean personalities, but rather with facts calculated to show up the several candidates in the proper light.

It is a source of much worry to the "reform" ring that many of the independents of Lincoln county are becoming so independent as to insist on their right to do their own thinking instead of having it done for them by a few cheap dictators. If this is to be a campaign of intelligence—a campaign in which the farmers will read and then use their best judgment when casting their ballots—victory for the Republican party is assured.

THE Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser has discovered that "Jerry Simpson's" great aim seems to be to break down the democratic party. THE TRIBUNE suggests that Mr. Neville take immediate steps to identify himself with the alliance party of Nebraska that democracy and alliance mean one and the same thing—Simmons twins, as it were. It's strange, though, how great minds differ in the "reform" party.

It is stated that Wm. Beatty is advising the farmers not to read the papers, but to do just as he and the other alliance leaders tell them to do. This is an indication that he believes that if the farmers remain ignorant as to what is going on politically their votes will be more easily controlled. But, unlike Mr. Beatty, the farmers do and will continue to read the papers and the more they read the more they are convinced that there are many things within the political alliance which are exceedingly rotten.

LINCOLN COUNTY republicans propose to exhibit upon the independent "ring" reformers (2) that when it comes to making a campaign interesting they will be "in it" from early morn to dewy eve and from early candle lighting till Old Sol turns on the glimmer in the rosy morn. Without stooping to personalities but with a firm conviction of being in the right, and with the old starry flag above them, there will be no flies on the Republicans of Lincoln county this fall.

THE Paxton Pilot says it will support Wm. Neville because it believes in hearing with the independent movement. Yes, Mr. Wilson, his heart is with the movement because he sees in it a possible chance to be elected judge of this district, but so far as his sympathy for the order is concerned, it is well it would take a glass of high magnifying power to discover any trace. He has his heart set on the judgeship and if he is not elected on it will find him just as true a democrat as ever. As to Neville being an "old veteran soldier," THE TRIBUNE does not believe he will advise his friends to put forward his "war record" as a vote catcher.

ELSEWHERE we publish resolutions of denunciation passed by Little Medicine Alliance No. 934, the members of which discovered without the use of any great power of discernment that the recent alliance convention was controlled at will by the North Platte ring. The members of Alliance No. 934 are not the only alliance voters who know that dictators Stevens, Stockton, Beatty and one or two others run the convention to suit their aims and purposes, but unfortunately they lack the courage to denounce the men who are seeking their votes for the sole purpose of self aggrandizement. We commend the members of Little Medicine Alliance for the bold stand they have taken against the self-constituted leaders of their party in Lincoln county, knowing that Stevens, Beatty and Stockton are nothing less than office seekers, and are in the alliance for the money they can secure from the offices for which they are candidates should they be so fortunate as to receive a majority of the votes cast.

THE man who will compromise his political principles for political gain is not deserving of reward, but rather condemnation. Point us out an alliance leader and we will show you a man who seeks office or prestige through that organization. Name a single exception, if you please.

It might be well for the calamity strikers to note the fact that hundreds of farmers in Lincoln county will pay off their mortgage indebtedness with their wheat crop alone, and many of them will have enough cash left to replace their sod houses with good substantial frame buildings.

NEW YORK has a law limiting the amount charged for a sleeping birth to eighty cents. A similar statute would be a good thing in all the states. The palace car combine has reaped a rich harvest, and ought to be decent now and give common people a chance. If they refuse to establish fair living rates they should be compelled to do so by the strong arm of the law.

BOTH of the old parties are fortunate in getting rid of such disgruntled office grabbers as state—almost every county in the state—office chasers like Snelling, Stevens, Dick, Stockton, Beatty, Rider, etc., fit companions for these other worst office seekers, Powers, Leese and Edgerton who are guiding the alliance flat boat. Public disapproval is the rock upon which the alliance boat will soon be broken.

THE president of the Kansas state alliance gives expression to some wholesome truths when he declared last week that it is time for the people's party to stop talking about calamity and advocating schemes of repudiation. He says that he has come to this conclusion because of the large number of letters he has received upon the subject from people in the east who desire to know if the new party is really intended to adjust the relations of debtor and creditor by a process of direct confiscation. There is no room for wonder that people at a distance ask such questions.

The alliance orators represent that the farmers of the western states are overwhelmed by a sea of trouble from which there is no chance of escape by ordinary means. The stories that they tell about the alleged misery of these poor tillers of the soil are of the most vivid and painful odor. It is necessary for us to represent that general calamity prevails in order to justify the rash and ridiculous means by which they propose to improve the situation. The political alliance founded upon the idea that agriculture has come to be only a source of continual wretchedness and danger of starvation. It has no excuse for being, except the theory that the farmers as a class are hopelessly hungry, ragged, and bled in tears. Take away this prop, and it has nothing left to sustain it.

THE independent party in Nebraska claim to be in favor of a strong centralized government, that is, government control of railroads, telegraphs, banks or all issues of money, unlimited coinage of the silver of the world, fiat issue of paper currency, management of the government and too little conceded to the states, respectively, yet, citizen Neville, an ex-Cleveland democrat at that, fresh from his grasp upon democratic pap, has the gall to say to the alliance delegates of Lincoln county—who he evidently thought never read or reason—that there is no real difference between the alliance and democracy. It depends on how you look at it entirely. If you flop from democracy for the sake of office, then there is little or no difference, as the office seekers in the alliance have a common bond of sympathy—spoils of office—but, if you speak of sentiment and principle then there is an inseparable gulf dividing alliance and democrats. Neville's tendency to perpetrate jokes is far stronger than his logic.

These were brave words of Major McKinley, on Wednesday, at the reunion of the veterans of Wood county, Ohio. "The Union was worthy saving," he said. It costs a great deal to do it. No man, north or south, regrets what it cost to preserve the best government on earth. We little appreciate the great cost of that great war. The union was worth the cost." The Major, we think, should have qualified this statement. There are men, north and south, who regret what it costs to save the union. They are men who made no sacrifices, unless compulsory, for the national cause; who sneered at the armies in the field and now sneer at the survivors. They are men who think that the soldier gave the country a receipt in full when he signed the final pay roll, and that the disabled veteran applying for aid should be treated like an importunate pauper.—New York Press.

When you desire a pleasant physic, one that will cleanse your system and give you the clear headedness and buoyancy of youth, try St. Patrick's Pills. They are the most pleasant cathartic and liver pills in use, and after having once tried them, we are confident that you will never be satisfied with any other kind. 25 cents per box. For sale by A. Resolutions of Denunciation.

At a meeting held at Ash Grove school house by Little Medicine Alliance No. 934, on Saturday, Aug. 22d, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Independent convention held at North Platte August 18th, 1891, we believe to have been run and manipulated in the interests of a few old broken-down politicians of the old parties and that the nominations there made were principally given to favored ones, and that the delegates which were sent to the state convention at Hastings consisted mainly of lawyers and their paid tools, and

WHEREAS, We believe the nominations to have been made before the convention convened, and believing some of the candidates to be men who are not in sympathy with us and not caring to be made tools to support that which we have labored so faithfully to defend ourselves against, and believing that independence accords to all free and equal rights and special privileges to none, and believing in a government of the people, for the people and by the people, and

WHEREAS, Many of the delegates sent were not recognized by said convention, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we denounce the proceedings of said convention as unfair and unjust and not in accordance with the principles of the independent movement;

RESOLVED, That we ask the several alliances throughout the county to consider this matter and vote at the coming election intelligently and for those only whom their judgment may dictate as being honest and capable of carrying out our principles;

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the several papers of the county for publication; also that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the meeting.

FOR ALLIANCE REPUBLICANS.

THE TRIBUNE commends the clipping printed below from the Chicago Times, the leading democratic paper of the north-west to the alliance republicans of Lincoln county. Do you want to be a party to bringing about such a condition of things? Its admissions are in keeping with what THE TRIBUNE has often said, and coming as it does from the leading democratic paper it carries with it the weight of an official statement from the ablest organ of the southern wing of democracy in the north. Under the heading of "Democratic Allies" the Times of August 23d says:

"The farmers' alliance, or the people's party, may make some impression upon the next presidential campaign. In the south they are democrats, in the north republicans in the main. While the color line endures they are not likely to meet in the north they may muster in sufficient strength to give various states to the democratic party, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, etc. Let the supposition be indulged that they can carry one or more of these states, there would be no loss to the democratic party. If the election should be so close that the farmers' alliance having carried the certain states, there would be no positive majority for any candidate in the electoral college, the choice of a president would then devolve by states. In such event the republican candidate would be advised to withdraw. The democracy has nothing to fear from the farmer's activity in politics. The galled jeds in the republican party. Though we believe the farmer is a democratic ally."

An exchange that knows the alliance candidate for supreme judge commends as follows upon the nomination: "Edgerton seems to want office very badly and is not particular what party gives it to him. First he sought office from the republicans, second from the union labor party and now he is making his second trial as an alliance nominee. He is a very ordinary lawyer, far inferior to any man who has ever graced the supreme bench of Nebraska."

A CURE FOR CHRONIC DIARRHOEA.—Mrs. E. Gleason, of Salem, Dent Co., Mo., writes as follows: "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured me of chronic diarrhoea after years of standing when it seemed I could live no longer. I was growing so weak. I had tried several doctors in this state and several in Iowa, but they could do nothing for me. I was finally induced to try a bottle of your medicine. After using three bottles of it I was entirely cured. I cannot say enough in its praise. I wish that every family knew the worth of it as I do, and I am sure they would never do without it." For sale by A. F. Streit Druggist.

Paul Van Der Voort, who was a member of the Douglas county Independent convention, told his hearers that he would visit every county in the state during the coming campaign. This will doubtless be for the purpose of telling how, as a telegraph lobbyist at Lincoln last winter, he paced the corridors of the capitol and "saw a noble band of toilers from the field and farm" and succeeded in smothering the bills for telegraph reformation. Perhaps if the walls of the committee rooms and corridors could speak they could assist this new disciple Paul, in his forensic work of giving details of the smothering process and how he "saw" the fellows.—Ex.

Those who are interested in the merits of the various cough medicines should read the statement of Mr. S. B. Walker, a prominent citizen and druggist, at Calamus, Iowa. It is as follows: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for eight years, and it has given universal satisfaction to my customers. I use no other in my family, and have never called a doctor for any throat or lung trouble. We feel that we could not keep homes without it." 50 cent bottles for sale by A. F. Streit Druggist.

THE Memphis Commercial (Bourbon democrat) comes out flat footed against "McKinley, protection and the entire pension business," and has a solid south at its back.

Secretary Proctor enjoyed his first visit to the country west of the Mississippi so well that he will make another tour of western forts in September.

"Citizen" Replies.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: I think that no one has ever tried to crawl through a smaller hole than the Era editor got stuck in last week in trying to wiggle would-be county treasurer Stevens through in the matter of county treasurers having all interest received on deposits over to the county. It was so glaring that every one, even those into whose eyes Stevens had been pouring sand, could easily detect it. I give the proviso of section 10 of the law, page 354 of session laws of 1891, in full that there may be no dodging it. The proviso to section 10 is as follows: "Provided, That this act shall not apply and be in force until the expiration of the present term of the state treasurer, and the present term of the SEVERAL COUNTY TREASURERS OF THE STATE."

The present term of the present state treasurer expires in January 1893, while the present term of the county treasurers expire January 1892. The provisions applying to the state treasurer are similar to those applying to county treasurers, only the first applies to the state treasurer as to the state funds and the latter to the county treasurer concerning county funds. In other words, the state treasurer that violates this law after January 1892, is a felon in the eyes of the law, and the county county treasurer who violates this law after January 1892 is a felon under the law. Stevens knows this to be the law. The Era man knows it to be the construction. It won't do for Stevens to seek to fool the people by such demagoguism. You are a sleek, smiling, crafty, sort of a Macomber, but let me call your attention to an immortal sentiment of the great and good Lincoln, as follows: "Any man can fool a part of the people part of the time, but no man can fool all the people all the time."

THE KANSAS REPUBLICANS.—The Kansas convention of Republicanism, the League was well attended, and was wise in its adoption of resolutions. It refrained from the premature labor of nominating a president for 1892, and, dealing with the past and present, approved what it justly termed "the strong, able, and successful administration of President Harrison." And, passing to the republican coadjutors of the president, added: "We recognize in the action of the members of his cabinet and the republican members of congress, such a wise, conservative, and patriotic policy as will insure prosperity to our country and promote the interests of all our people."

No state is better qualified to speak of prosperity than Kansas, which now has farm products of the value of about $100,000,000 in excess of its home demand. Reciprocity is enlarging the foreign markets for these, and protection is both increasing the home market for what the Kansas farmers have to sell and preventing Canada and Manitoba from competing with them for possession of it.

The convention of republican leagues very properly denounced the demagogues who are striving to impair the credit and to prevent the growth of Kansas by circulating false reports as to the poverty of the people, and by seeking to introduce them to republican rule, and to purchase or to improve their farms, and to the payment of which the profits of their farms are fully adequate. Half a dozen Peppers and Sockless Simpsons can do more to damage Kansas in one year than the labor of its people have done toward improving it in six years.

Kansas is a progressive state, and republicans have made it what it is; and it is a state to be proud of, not a region to be traduced and slandered.—Inter Ocean.

J. W. Edgerton, the Alliance candidate for supreme judge, has been a chronic office seeker for years. He was the candidate of the Union Labor party for the same office in 1886. In 1888 he ran on the same ticket for Congress, and in 1890, he was a candidate on the Alliance ticket. He is a persistent office seeker, and gets badly left every time. He will fail again this year.—Ex.

CLEANSSES THE WHOLE SYSTEM.—During the last half a century there has been a wonderful development in what is known as sanitary science. It is a science that looks to the prevention of diseases in communities through the medium of cleanliness, and it commends itself most urgently to the common sense of the people. Meanwhile, it should be borne in mind that the human system stands in need of sanitation, and requires even more care than the municipal body. It is precisely here that S. S. S. takes up the work of the sanitary scientists. It cleanses the whole system, purifies the blood, disinfests the channels through which it flows, and destroys the germs of disease. It is a harmless medicine, and yet a most powerful one. It is nature's tonic remedy.

Alliance men in the south are not all peaceable. Dr. McAllister charged Dr. McCune with official corruption specifying an occasion when he sold out Pat Calhoun for $2,000 and referred to the Texas alliance exchange which he robbed of $30,000. Dr. McCune is the editor of the alliance organ at Washington and he was able not only to escape conviction by his associates but succeeded in having his accuser kicked out of the alliance. Dr. McAllister then resorted to violence, and there is now an alliance editor in Mississippi with a bandaged head. The brethren may yet settle their difficulty with pistols. There is really more excitement in the democratic alliance of the south than in the independent order of the north.—Bee.
