HOUSE PASSES THE SENATE CUBAN RESOLUTIONS.

Rive, and Harbor Bill Passed Under Suspension of the Rules by an Overwhelming Majority-Gorman and Allen Critidise the Administration.

WASHINGTON, April 7 .- The house Monday accepted the conference report on the Cuban resolutions by a vote of yeas, 244; nays, 27; and passed the river and harbor appropriations bill under suspension of the rules after a lively debate of 40 minutes by a vote of yeas, 216; nays, 40. The report on the Cuban resolutions had been debated Friday and Cambel again found himself en tete-a-tete Saturday, and the vote was taken im- with his host. There had been people mediately after the reading of the jour- in to dinner at the house in Park lane, nal. Eighteen Republicans and nine Democrats voted against the report. Allen on alleged irregularities resulting from the civil service system. Mr. Allen repeated sensational charges as to large money contributions said to have been made in the interest of Cleveland and Harrison. The charge that Mr. Wanamaker contributed $400,000 toward Mr. Harrison's election led to an emphatic denial from Mr. Hawley. Mr. Allen alluded to the president as "his majesty," and as the chief mug wump of the country. The vote on the postoffice bill will be taken today.

You see, I live in a sort of semigreenhouse myself."

There was a minute's panse, during which Theodore Shelf shifted about as though his chair was uneven rock beneath him. Then he jorked out his tale sentence companion between each period. "You know, I'm a shipowner in a large way of business?"

Cambel nodded.

"Ships are occasionally lost at seasteamers, even new steamers, straight off the builders' slip and well found in every particular."

"We're Arcades ambo, rascals both, only we're different varieties of rascal. I know you pretty thoroughly, and if you don't know me as well possibly you will before we've done with one another.

"And now, if it please you, we'll go into the minuter details of this piece of villainy and sketch out definitely how we are to steal this half a million in specie and this valuable steamer without committing more murder than is absolutely essential to success."

CHAPTER V.

THE TEMPTING OF CAPYAIN OWEN KETTLE. "If one might judge from the lacquered majesty of your office appointments," said Patrick Cambel, taking one of the big chairs in Shelf's inner sanotum, "your firm is doing a roaring fine business." Mr. Theodore Shelf seated himself before his desk and began sorting out some papers. "The turnover," he said evasively, "is enormous. Our operations are most extensive."

"Extensive and peculiar," commented Cambel.
