Street commissioner Davis is having some needed work in the alleys done and several of them which have "smelled to high heaven" will now be somewhat less odoriferous. During this intensely hot weather it is absolutely necessary for the well being of every one that the alleys be kept free from decaying vegetable matter. A little care exercised in this matter will forestall a large amount of illness.

PROGRESS AND POVERTY....

Is the name of a great work of a very great recently dead social reformer, only the progress which we refer to is that achieved by the onward and upward strides made by the art of fine tailoring through THE STAR'S BLUE LABEL CLOTHING, which aforesaid efforts have made it possible for men to discard the plea of poverty as a reason for not wearing better clothes, for The Star's clothes, though as good as the best of merchant tailors' productions, cost but little.

Wednesday afternoon an Eastern Star social was held at the home of Mrs. H. M. Grimes. Owing to a misunderstanding as to the time of holding the social it was not as largely attended as it otherwise would have been, but those who were fortunate enough to be there now have the memory of a very happy afternoon. The refreshments were somewhat unique but owing to the fact that the day was very sultry they were highly appreciated by the ladies. When the guests departed each one was presented with a very charming souvenir of the nature of a pleasing memento of the pine forests.

Chamberlain-Sullivan Wedding

At eight o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Patrick's church Mr. Gus Chamberlain and Miss Ella Sullivan were united in marriage by Rev. Thos. Haley.

The bridal party marched from the church door to the altar rail to the strains of a very beautiful wedding march. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Edna Sullivan, and the groom was attended by Mr. Henry Sullivan. The bride was gowned in an exquisite costume of white silk and carried white roses. The maid of honor wore a very dainty organdie gown. Just at the close of the ceremony Miss Anna Rebhausen sang the charming ballad "O Promise Me." High mass was celebrated after the wedding ceremony was performed. A reception which was attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom, was held at the home of the bride's parents in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain left on the night train for Omaha where they will spend a few days. Upon their return they will at once commence house keeping in a very pleasant home on west Sixth street.

The bride has spent all of her life in North Platte and is well and favorably known. She is possessed of many charming characteristics and has scores of friends. The groom has grown from youth to manhood in North Platte and is a young man of sterling worth. At present he is in the employ of the Union Pacific as a freight brakeman.
