The supreme court in a decision rendered last Friday holds that irrigation companies must maintain as well as build bridges over irrigating canals. The Alba Heywood entertainment given at the opera house Saturday evening under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., called out an audience that occupied nearly every seat. The Star restaurant, with J. C. Federhoof as proprietor and G. S. Huffman as manager, will open for business to-morrow morning. Dr. Hannah, the osteopath, has about concluded to return to North Platte and will probably open an office here within the next thirty days. He has been solicited by a number of citizens, who were former patients, to return and he will probably accede to the requests. When formerly located here the Doctor had an excellent practice, and as the number of people who believe in osteopathy is daily growing, he will undoubtedly build up even a greater practice than he had before. Dr. Hannah is a popular young man we will be pleased to have again become a permanent resident of the city.

I have just received a car load of redwood stock tanks. These are the best and cheapest tank made. Call and get prices.

The county fair held last week was not very largely attended, nevertheless it was a fair. There was a sufficient display of farm products to demonstrate that this is a farming country even though there is frequently a scarcity of moisture during the growing season. Had the president of the society received the proper assistance from the stockholders, the fair would probably have been a greater success.
