While riding his bicycle through the court house yard Tuesday evening about dusk Everett Fink came in contact with a twine which had been stretched across the walk from tree to tree. The twine caught him on the neck cutting a shallow gash about three inches long. Certain boys have been guilty of stretching cords across walks in different parts of town and the police officers are pretty well satisfied that they have sufficient evidence against them to warrant their arrest. This work of the boys is most despicable and if continued will result in serious injury to some one.

FINE CALF SKIN SHOES.

The calf skin used in making these Shoes is soft and as easy to the foot as kid skin. It takes, and holds well, a fine, bright, polish. Shoes made from it are splendid for general use in damp or cold weather, as they afford the greatest amount of protection to the feet without the wearing of rubbers, and are not clumsy or unsightly in appearance. The newest styles in the calf skin Shoes, constructed in the latest improved way, are here at

The Methodist Conference.
The Methodist conference of the West Nebraska district was formally opened yesterday morning and the attendance, which is fully up to the average, augers well for a successful conference.

At the church Wednesday evening a reception was held, the program consisting of addresses of welcome by B. L. Robinson and J. G. Beeler and a response by Bishop Warren, the presiding officer. Messrs. Robinson and Beeler made very appropriate remarks, especially the former, whose talk was as neat and timely as one would wish to hear. The response by the Bishop was interspersed with humor and elicited many smiles. Bishop Warren is a ready and eloquent speaker and has the faculty of making each auditor feel that he is talking direct to each one. During the evening several selections were rendered by the choir and a male quartette, and the program closed with a brief informal talk by Rev. Wimberly in which he proved himself quite a punster with his play of names of the Bishop and the clergy. Following the program some little time was devoted to social intercourse and in getting acquainted with the visiting clergy.

Yesterday morning following the devotional exercises, the call of presiding elders was made, and these rendered their reports for the past year. These reports showed a satisfactory condition of work in the conference district, and that Methodism was moving grandly on in Western Nebraska. The afternoon was devoted principally to foreign missionary society work, and last evening to church extension work, the latter including an address by Dr. Spencer of Kansas City, editor of one of the Methodist church periodicals.

Evangeline.

Longfellow's beautiful story of Evangeline will be presented at the opera house in pantomime on Saturday evening, Oct. 19th, by Mr. Kendall, who has presented the play hundreds of times during the past seven years. The poem is read by Mr. Kendall and the situations are depicted by one hundred persons—principally children—in costumes of the primeval Acadians. The performance as given by Mr. Kendall is said to be very beautiful. The costumes worn and the scenery used is owned and carried by Mr. Kendall and are very handsome.

The entertainment will be given under the auspices of the ladies' guild of the Episcopal church.

Samelson not killed.

In the list of those killed in the ambush of Company C, Ninth Infantry, at Samar, Philippine Islands, the name of Charley Samelson does not appear and it is therefore safe to presume that he is still among the living.

Mrs. Lottie Daniels and a fellow named Pintch came down from Denver Friday. They were both dressed in bicycle costumes and attracted more or less attention. Wednesday Mrs. Pintch arrived in town and it was then learned that Pintch and Mrs. Daniels had eloped. The meeting of Pintch and his wife was a stormy one, but a truce was patched up. Mrs. Daniels returned to Denver Wednesday night. Pintch is the father of four children and it is understood Mrs. Daniels is the mother of several children.
