The Strike Condition.

The strike situation at this point during the past few days has undergone material changes, and as a result the strikers are somewhat ahead. Last Sunday morning sixteen men were imported from the east and at once set to work in the shops. During that day the nine boilermaker helpers concluded that they would not work with the imported men, and laying down their tools walked out. Last evening the machinists' helpers, to the number of twelve or thirteen, walked out, they too refusing to work with the foreign men. Two round-house employees quit this forenoon, and it is said others will go out today or tomorrow. It is also reported that the blacksmiths have determined to walk-out and that this action will be taken within the next forty-eight hours. The importation of "scab" labor is the cause of the workmen throwing up their jobs. The first demonstration since the commencement of the strike occurred last night. A number of the men were, as usual, at the depot when train No. 3 came in, and as the train stopped seven men got off one of the rear cars. These men were marched up along the train in charge of the chief detective in charge at this point. Supposing that these men were imported mechanics, the strikers indulged in considerable hooting and yelling, but when convinced that the men were guards and not mechanics, the demonstration ceased. The men who are out are growing more firm each day in the conviction that the stand they have taken is just, and no influence that the company can use will induce them to return to work until the company recedes from its proposition to adopt the piece-work system. As the officials say they will not do this, it looks very much as though the prediction made by President O'Connell, of the machinists' union, that the fight will be long drawn out, will prove true. The local men, however, basing their views on the daily reports they receive from all over the system, declare they are gaining ground each day, that the fight cannot long continue and that the company will accede to the demands of the union.

It is currently reported today and not denied by the local officials that on Friday of last week President Burt issued an order to close the North Platte shops, dismantle the machinery and remove it to Grand Island and Sidney, but at the request of Mr. McKeen the order has been held in abeyance for a few days in the hope that the difficulty at this point might in some manner be settled. The strikers say this report is a bluff pure and simple.

Supt. Baxter, who has been spending most of his time in town during the past week, told one of strikers this morning that he considered that the company had the men beat. He said the company had decided to adopt the piecework system, and intimated that it would do so regardless of cost. In speaking of the defections which are occurring in the non-union ranks the Bee of today says that nine non-union men at Omaha and three at Council Bluffs quit work Sunday and yesterday.

An official at Cheyenne in writing to a North Platte resident says that the company has all the machinists it needs at that point, that they have brought in from fifteen to twenty a day and could get twice as many as needed.

Sam Grace, of this city, who is in Omaha as a member of the executive committee and at present directing the strike, made the following statement to a Bee reporter yesterday: "Within the next thirty days I look for some final development. But I am not surprised or disappointed that it has not come thus far, for it generally takes this long for a strike of similar proportions to really assume shape and give the opposing sides time to array their forces. But if a settlement is not brought about within the next thirty days, then I look for a stubborn, prolonged battle."

Today's papers state that the boilermakers and helpers on the Great Northern went to work yesterday. The boilermakers asked for an increase of sixty-five cents a day and received fifteen making the pay $3 25 a day. The helpers asked for an increase of one dollar per day and were granted an advance of ten cents.

The Union Pacifics, however, will be in shape for these contests, and promise the fastest games yet seen on the local diamond.

Andrew Carnegie on Education. Andrew Carnegie's new book, "The Empire of Business," contains this sentiment: "In my own experience I can say that I have known few young men intended for business who were not injured by a college education. Men have wasted their precious years trying to extract education from an ignorant past, whose chief province is to teach us not what to adopt, but what to avoid."

The Method, Not the Money. And now comes John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and tells us that "riches is no bar to heaven." Probably not, in themselves, but it is the thing a man does in trying to get riches that lessens his chances for heaven.
